PLANE CRASHES TAKE HEAVY TOLL

CAP National Commander Is Wreck Victim

Crackup Of Army C-45 Kills Three

CLEVELAND, Feb. 16—(AP)—Col. Earle L. Johnson, national commander of the Civil Air Patrol, was killed today when a twin-engined Army C-45 plane which he was piloting crashed at suburban North Royalton a few seconds after taking off from Cleveland airport, Army officials reported.

Staff Sgt. Kenneth Wood, Williamsport, Pa., Col. Johnson's crew chief, and Marine Pvt. Edward J. Malovic, 17, Cleveland, who was hitch-hiking a ride back to his base at Cherry Point, N. C., also were killed in the crash.

Col. Johnson, who returned to active Army service to direct the CAP in 1942, was piloting the plane on a return trip to Bolling Field when witnesses reported hearing the explosion of one of the craft's engines at a height of more than 2,000 feet.

Bodies Thrown Clear

The plane crashed in an open field shortly before 1 p. m., and wreckage of the Army cargo craft was strewn over the site as the bodies of the pilot and passengers were thrown from the demolished airplane, Army officials said.

A resident of Cleveland, the 52-year-old CAP national commander formerly served as Ohio State Director of Aeronautics under ex-Gov. John W. Bricker. A former member of the Ohio Legislature, Col. Johnson was awarded the Legion of Merit medal for his wartime direction of the CAP.

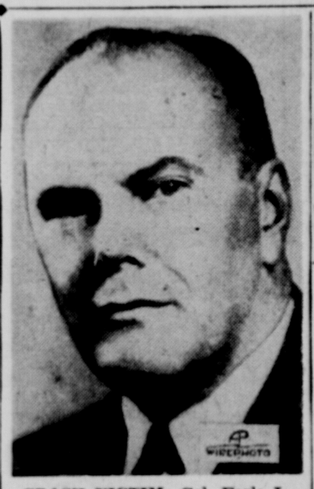
Promoted to colonel in 1944, he established CAP headquarters in New York and Washington. Born at Great Barrington, Mass., in 1895, he graduated from Ohio State University and was a member of the Ohio Assembly representing Lake County for three terms.

Engine Explodes In Air

A trustee of Lake Erie (O.) College for women, Col Johnson formerly was a vice president of the Leisy Brewing Company of Cleveland and was a real estate operator in Painesville, O., for several years.

A few seconds after the plane left Cleveland airport, one of the craft's engines exploded in the air and the plane burst into flames before crashing in a field shortly before 1 p. m.

Army officials reported Col. Johnson had piloted the plane for more than 600 hours since the craft was built, and added that the Army had started a full investigation into causes of the crash.



CRASH VICTIM—Col. Earle L. Johnson (above), national commander of the Civil Air Patrol, was killed yesterday in the crash of a twin-engined Army plane near Cleveland airport. Two others died in the crash.

Printer Admits He Killed Employer

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16—(AP)—Police arrested Otto Parzyjegla, 38-year-old linotype operator, and said he confessed the mutilation slaying yesterday of his employer, Alfred Haij, 74, publisher of a Swedish newspaper, the California Veckoblad.

Detective Lt. Robert Lohrman reported that Parzyjegla, in a signed statement, admitted that he beat to death the elderly publisher with a metal bar and hacked up the body with a paper cutter blade, following an argument over the condition of a linotype machine.

Homicidal detail officers were questioning Parzyjegla concerning the recent slayings of Elizabeth (Black Dahlia) Short and Mrs. Jeanne T. French. Capt. Jack Donahoe, investigation leader in the Short and French cases, said that one of the anonymous notes which police had received on the Black Dahlia "obviously had been prepared in a print shop."

Lohrman quoted Parzyjegla, who is married and father of a five-month-old baby, as saying in his confession: "He called me a dirty German. I'm a Pole."

A. L. Haij, son of the victim, told officers there had been trouble for several weeks between the publisher and his employe.

Sens. McMahon, Kilgore And Hill Back Lilienthal

Organizations Join Fight For Nominee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — Three Democratic senators announced their support of David E. Lilienthal for chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission today while Republican leaders listed a dozen uncommitted in their ranks who may hold the final fate of the appointment.

The three who came out publicly for Lilienthal and other commission nominees were Sens. Kilgore (D-WVa), Hill (D-Ala) and McMahon (D-Conn). The latter, a member of the Senate Atomic Committee considering the nominations, already had indicated he would support them.

Tonight representatives of 21 national organizations joined the fight for Lilienthal in a statement made public by Rev. A. Powell Davies, Washington Unitarian minister.

The statement said all the organizations have endorsed the principles of the Acheson-Lilienthal report on international atomic controls, which is the basis of American proposals in that field. It described the signers as "deeply concerned by the recent attacks on these principles" in connection with the hearings on the Lilienthal nomination.

Letter To Vandenberg

Davies also made public a personal letter to Sen. Vandenberg asserting that except for the "personal fight" of Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), most of the attack on Lilienthal comes from "the same people who have consistently opposed every international move the United States has made."

The organizational statement bore the following names:

Division of Social Education and Action, Board of Christian Education, Presbyterian Church, USA; Rev. Paul Poling.

United Council of Church Women; Mrs. Harper A. Sibley, president.

Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; Dr. Samuel M. Cavert, executive secretary.

American Association for the United Nations; Clark Eichelberger, director.

Federation of American Scientists; W. A. Higinbotham, executive secretary.

American United for World Government; Raymond Swing, chairman of the board.

National Council of Jewish Women; Mrs. Joseph M. Welt, president.

National Farmers Union; James G. Patton, president.

Knowland May Derail Income Tax Cut Plan

Debt Payment Prior To Any Slash Urged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—(AP)—A huge question mark was raised ahead of the GOP 20 per cent tax slashing program today as Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) announced he will offer a resolution requiring a $3,000,000,000 payment on the debt before any taxes are cut.

Simultaneously, however, Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the House Ways and Means Committee, went on the radio to voice confidence the tax-framing group will approve this week his House Bill No. 1 for a 20 per cent cut "across the board."

Indications appeared that the Senate, on Wednesday, will vote to limit to $4,500,000,000 the slash in President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1, overturning the $6,000,000,000 cut voted Friday by the 102-member House-Senate Budgetary Committee.

Knowland offered the $3,000,000,000 debt payment proposal to the Budgetary Committee, losing by a narrow 39 to 34 vote. He voiced confidence the Senate would approve it.

There seems little doubt the House will go along with the Budgetary Committee's recommendation for a $31,500,000,000 ceiling, despite the opposition of 19 Democratic committee members who issued a minority report yesterday in protest.

But in the Senate, a proposal for a $4,500,000,000 slash, sponsored by Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Finance Committee, appears to be gaining favor. The chief Senate objection to the higher figure is directed toward its estimated $1,750,000,000 reduction in Army and Navy appropriations.

Failure of the two chambers to agree on the amount of the White House figure should be pruned would send the matter to a conference committee for settlement.

Strategy Sessions Scheduled

In the Senate, the Republican Policy Committee will meet tomorrow to discuss the problem. Democratic Senate policy-makers also called a meeting to discuss strategy.

In the House, Democratic opponents of the proposed slash worried lest the dominantly-Republican Rules Committee send the budgetary resolution to the floor under a rule preventing amendments and limiting debate to a single day.

With this in mind, they will watch closely a third conference tomorrow. This will bring Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the House Appropriations Committee, together with Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and Chairman Allen (R-Ill), of the Rules Committee, to discuss conditions under which the resolution will be sent to the floor.

Speedy Disposal Of Surplus Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16, (AP) — War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn, confident he has found a successful sales formula, today forecast surplus disposals of more than $1,000,000,000 a month for the next six months.

His estimate is in terms of original cost to the government. Proceeds run about 24 cents on the dollar.

"If we drop below that, everybody in the agency will get kicked in the pants — we've finally got the organization, system and sales program, and it's working," he told an interviewer. He predicted also:

That his agency can go out of business by the end of 1948 if Congress decides promptly on the peacetime size of the armed forces, permitting the Army and Navy to release their unneeded goods. Property which cost $16,000,000,000 to $21,000,000,000 still must be sold but the full amount will not be known until the services can determine what they will not need.

That WAA can make good its end of Rep. Taber's plan to balance the budget for the current fiscal year ending June 30 by ringing up $1,000,000,000 in receipts for the Treasury by then. Taber, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said such a record could put the government in the black if spending is pared.

Sitdown Strike Over, Miners Return Today

LANSFORD, Pa., Feb. 16, (AP) — Anthracite operations in Pennsylvania's Panther Valley will resume tomorrow following the end of a three-day sitdown strike by 13 miners.

The unkept, bedraggled coal diggers walked out of the Lansford colliery of Lehigh Navigation Coal Company yesterday claiming a victory in the dispute which caused them to go on strike 800 feet underground.

Six thousand miners refused to work in a sympathy move.

L. I. TRAIN WRECK—Twisted cars and the locomotive lie across the tracks of the Long Island Railroad at Kings Park, N. Y., following derailment of the train yesterday. Fifty-five passengers were injured as four of the cars and the locomotive left the rails but only eight required hospitalization. The tracks were torn up for a distance of 400 feet.

U. S. Must Send Goods To Russia To Keep "Faith"

Lend-Lease Pacts Believed Binding

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — State Department officials, it was learned today, have informed sentors the United States must ship Russia some $25,000,000 worth of goods ordered originally under lend-lease or violate "agreements made in good faith."

At the same time Chester Lane, lend-lease administrator under the State Department, vigorously denied that officials used "subterfuge" to get around a deadline of last December 31 fixed by Congress on such lend-lease shipments.

Settlement Requests Ignored

The State Department's view was made public by Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Senate Appropriations Committee. It had heard Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren testify that the shipments to Russia, as well as China, Brazil, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Australia, were prohibited by Congress.

During the squabble, senators learned from Lane that Russia had ignored four consecutive requests for a final settlement of some $11,600,000,000 of wartime lend-lease aid. All other nations who received aid have negotiated settlements.

Binding, Lane Declares

In answer to critical queries of senators about the agreed shipments beyond the congressional deadline, Lane said there is "no question in my mind that they are binding on our government."

He noted that the agreements were made before Japan surrendered and before Congress reduced lend-lease or fixed the December 31 deadline after which this country was to pay no further shipping costs.

Lane said Warren had ruled that funds could be so used "by virtue of the international agreements therefore entered into."

He reported the "bulk of material" is ready for shipment, including "all of the refinery equipment for the USSR."

Five GIs Accused Of Killing Five Japs With Firewood Clubs

TOKYO, Monday, Feb. 17 (AP) — United States Army authorities, announcing detention of five American soldiers on murder charges, said today that clubs of firewood had been used to kill five Japanese and injure 20 in the town of Hachioji, 14 miles west of Toyko, on January 31.

An earlier Air Forces statement said the five men held were accused of "shooting up" the town. Japanese police, however, said no shots were fired and that a group of American soldiers had roamed the area in a jeep, stopping to attack passing Japanese with three-foot sticks of firewood. This version proved correct, the Army said. The five men held were captured 10 days later.

Truman Returns From Grandview

WASHINGTON, Feb 16 (AP) — President Truman landed at National Airport tonight, returning from the bedside of his injured mother in Grandview, Mo.

The President, visibly pleased over his mother's progress toward recovery, said he left her in good spirits and in no pain.

The injury has been quite a shock to her, Mr. Truman said, but he added that she is no crybaby.

He arranged before he left to get frequent telephone reports on her progress.

The mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 94, suffered a fratured hip Thursday night, her third such injury.

The President flew to Grandview early yesterday to see her.

Mr. Truman spent the last few hours before his departure from Grandview at the berside of his mother whose doctors say she will recover because of her strong will to do so.

Then, visibly relieved, he looked forward to celebration tomorrow of Margaret's 23rd birthday at the White House, where he told reporters, the principal observance would be eating a cake "with two candles on it."

Jewish Refugee Vessel Escorted To Haifa Harbor

British Tars Board Ship; Fight Reported

JERUSALEM, Feb. 16—(AP)—A refugee vessel carrying 790 would-be immigrants to Palestine entered Haifa harbor today—but under escort of three British destroyers. Its passengers, all lacking immigration certificates, are to be transferred to detention camps of Cyprus under British army supervision.

The ship was the San Miguel, but its passengers renamed it the "Heruth"—the Hebrew word for freedom. Its arrival and the announcement that two brigades of the British Sixth Airborne Division had been ordered to conduct trans-shipment of its passengers to Cyprus stirred Jewish leaders to call a one-hour general strike for tomorrow morning in protest and to plan court action.

Battle Reported

An army officer at Haifa said the San Miguel had been boarded by the British navy off Palestine with "little resistence," but reports of a battle between the passengers and British navymen circulated after four Jews believed to have been taken off the vessel were admitted to the Athlit detention camp hospital for treatment of bullet wounds. One of the patients was a woman and another a 14-year-old girl.

The ship, which was reported manned by an American crew and officers and sponsored by an American Jewish group, was sighted last night 27 miles southwest of Tel Aviv. It was the second in a little more than a week to attempt to run the British immigration blockade on the Palestine coast.

Crufew Is Imposed

A curfew was placed on the Haifa port area, as was done prior to the transfer of 650 Jews from the schooner La Negev on February 8.

Jewish leadership called a one-hour general strike for tomorrow morning and a 10-minute traffic stoppage in all Jewish communities in Palestine to protest against the assumed deportation of the illegal immigrants.

A usually reliable source said that an appeal for a writ of habeas corpus would be addressed to the Palestine high court by several Jewish lawyers tomorrow to prevent the immediate transshipment of the immigrants to Cyprus. He said the names of all the 790 Jews abroad the ship apprehended today would be attached to the appeal.

Chinese Exchange Set At 12,000 To 1

NANKING, Feb. 16 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, declaring that China's survival as a nation was at stake, late today fixed the Chinese dollar at 12,000 to $1, ordered home all private fortunes abroad, and set wage-price ceilings in a drastic omnibus decree.

Other high points of the desperate measures to meet the country's economic crisis included:

Decision by the government to get out of industry, completely reversing the previous policy;

Prohibition of all dealings in and circulation of gold and foreign currency;

A flat ban on strikes and lockouts;

Stern governmental economy; coupled with new teeth for tax collection;

A half-billion-dollar import program;

A campaign against hoarders and speculators.

Gov. Lane To Present Tax, Spending Message Tonight

May Line Maryland Up With Sales Levy States

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 16 (AP) — Gov. Lane is scheduled to present tomorrow night a double-barreled message on money and the need therefor, thereby probably lining Maryland up with other states which have turned to sales taxes to keep solvent.

The message will include the majority report of the Board of Revenue estimates and its advisory committee, which recommended a two per cent sales levy, and the Governor's views on why the money is needed and where it should be spent.

Indirect taxes are not new in the Free State but overall collections on retail sales (with some exemptions) comprise the accepted view of the administration that it is the only logical way to get the millions of dollars necessary to keep the budget in balance and take care of the expanding demands of local subdivisions, schools and other agencies.

It is estimated that the sales tax would raise $18,400,000 a year after it is put into effect next July 1.

The board, in addition, proposed an increase in personal income and corporate income taxes, collectable January 1, 1949, for the calendar year 1948.

The raise to 2.75 per cent from two per cent on personal taxes and four per cent from 1.5 per cent on corporate levies is to bring in an estimated $7,500,000 annually.

Lane has said that at least $29,000,000 is needed in the next two years in extra money, but it has been estimated unofficially the total would be nearer $49,000,000.

The additional revenue is expected to care for provisions of the Sherbow report calling for distribution of state money to cities and counties, figured by Lane likely to cost $15,000,000 a year, pay back some $5,200,000 "borrowed" from the postwar construction fund to balance the current budget, restore at least $3,000,000 of the $9,000,000 surplus also being used for budget balancing, and restore $5,700,000 which Lane cut from requested appropriations for the budget.

Besides all that, there are educational needs, which were pointed up in the Marbury report.

The State Board of Education has fixed these needs at around $35,000,000. The budget now calls for an increase of $5,000,000 for schools and the Sherbow report has recommended an additional $5,000,000, but other programs have yet to be worked out.

Majority Of Senate Labor Group Opposed To Ban On Closed Shop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — A majority of the Senate Labor Committee opposes pending legislation to outlaw the closed shop and industrywide bargaining, a survey showed today as union leaders prepared to ask Congress to junk the controversial proposals.

The only member of the 13-man Senate group clearly on record in favor of the bans is the author of the legislation, Sen. Ball (R-Minn).

An informal check disclosed that now—after three weeks of hearings at which many industry officials supported Ball's bills—at least eight of the committee senators are against any outright ban on the closed shop. Seven want no law prohibiting big-scale bargaining.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio said he has not made up his mind on either issue. But he recently told an industry witness that either unions must be "democratized" or the closed shop must go.

Against outlawing the closed shop are the five Democratic committee members and three of the seven Republicans. The five Democrats and two of the Republicans are against a ban on industry-wide bargaining.

These two proposals also were listed in the doubtful class in the House Labor Committee by Rep. Landis (R-Ind), ranking Republican member who termed nine other labor law changes "a cinch" for approval.

Under the closed shop, workers must join a union to get a job. Ball's bill on bargaining would restrict employer-union negotiations to individual companies, or to firms within a limited area.

Both of Ball's measures are sure to draw the fire of top union officials scheduled to testify before the committee beginning Tuesday.

U. S. Seeking Jap Islands Trusteeship

Request Will Reach U. N. Secretary Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — The United States government today asked the United Nations to designate the chains of Japanese-mandate islands in the Pacific as a "strategic area" under American administration.

The official request, informed sources said, will reach the desk of Secretary-General Trygve Lie tomorrow and then will be circulated to Security Council delegates. Due to council occupation with the pressing problem of atomic energy, the American proposal may not reach the floor for several weeks.

The United States asks that the whole area, including most of the Marshalls, the Marianas and the Carolines, be placed under United Nations trusteeship with the United States as administrator.

623 Islands

The 623 islands, extending north from the equator about 1,200 miles and for about 2,500 miles from east to west, have a total land area of only 829 square miles. Their total population is about 85,000.

With the exception of Guam in the Marianas, an American possession received from Spain, these islands formerly were German possessions, but were mandated by the League of Nations to Japan.

If approved the agreement would give the United States, as administering authority, virtually the same rights as would come under outright annexation.

Indications were that the plan would meet immediate opposition in the council from Russia, Great Britain, Australia and perhaps others.

Moscow, London, Canberra were reported to have advised the State Department that they were opposed to acceptance of any agreement until the peace treaty with Japan was signed.

No Objection To U. S. Occupation

None was said to have raised any objection to continued United States occupation of the islands, nor to have opposed any particular part of the agreement.

As to legal argument, the United States contends that title to the mandates did not rest with Japan with the league. It adds that Tokyo broke the terms of the mandate agreement and was no longer in a position to exercise authority.

No detailed explanation was available on the position taken by Russia which previously urged that all former league mandates be placed under the United Nations system as soon as possible.

CIO To Consider AFL's Invitation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, said today he "most likely" will submit the AFL's merger invitation to a meeting of his nine vice-presidents here on Tuesday.

Interviewed by telephone at Pittsburgh, he declined to commit himself in advance on the prospects for concrete action toward bringing the two rival labor groups together.

But other CIO officials here reported a committee is likely to be named to confer with one already named by the AFL.

The merger proposal was renewed in Miami two weeks ago by AFL President William Green. He had a letter from Murray advocating full-scale cooperation of the two big labor organizations and such groups as the railroad brotherhoods in fighting anti-union legislation.

Green and his executive council replied that only organic unity would be the answer. By that, they meant the CIO should join forces with the AFL, of which it was an offshoot, and real harmony would prevail.

Flight Is Postponed

HONOLULU, Feb. 16 (AP)—Unfavorable weather again forced postponement today of the Army's projected P-82 fighter plane flight from Honolulu to New York. Indications were that the attempt would not be made before Tuesday.

53 Lose Lives In Colombian Air Disaster

7 Americans Perish As Ship Hits Cliff

BOGOTA, Colombia, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police search parties penetrated a deep ravine today and found the 53 charred, mangled bodies of the passengers and crew members of a Colombian Avianca airliner who perished yesterday in commercial aviation's greatest disaster.

The four-engined DC-4 crashed into the sheer side of 9,000-foot El Tablazo cliff, 30 miles northwest of Bogota, yesterday afternoon on a 500-mile flight from Barranquilla to Bogota, killing 49 passengers, including at least five Americans, and four crew members, two of whom were United States citizens.

The policemen, roped together to make the difficult descent to the bottom of the ravine which lies at the base of El Tablazo, said they found bodies and wreckage of the giant airliner scattered all along the bottom of the grim chasm.

Removal Of Bodies Begins

Removal of the bodies began almost immediately. Policeman Jose Rubio located the first body, summoned the district coroner to enter the ravine, wrapped it in a tarpaulin and had it hoisted to aides at the top of the gulch.

Other bodies then were removed in the same manner. Because of the difficulty of the task, the policemen estimated it would be tomorrow before all bodies had been removed.

The plane struck almost at the pinnacle of El Tablazo, exploded and fell 1,000 feet. Great sections of the Douglas plane were scattered widely over the area. Although some wreckage was found with the bodies in the chasm, other pieces were blasted so far away that planes were used to search for them.

Carlos Henao Blanco, one of the first persons to reach the scene of the crash, which lies 10 miles from the nearest village, Subachoque, said:

"We could see a tire of the plane and some burned clothing. There were three women's shoes and some children's shoes. To the left, in a ravine, we could see one engine. Far away we saw a part of the fuselage, about 200 meters (approximately 650 feet) below. It was impossible to go down unless with ropes. There was a strong smell of charred flesh."

Americans Are Identified

The company said pilot Kenneth Newton Poe and Co-Pilot Roy Kaye were citizens of the United States. The other two crew members were Colombians.

The American passengers were identified as:

Beno Slesin, New York City, a motion picture distributor for United Artists.

W. L. Wohn, a retired United States Army colonel who served with the Air Transport Command in the Caribbean area during the war and later became chief of the construction department of tropical Oil Company.

H. A. Burton, St. Charles, Mo., coordinator of North American personnel of tropical Oil Company.

Carl Hubman, an official of Texas Petroleum Company.

J. K. Huffendick, also an official of Texas Petroleum.

The dead: Sidney Evans, 72, owner of the building, trapped in his bed; Mrs. Dorothy G. Lorenzen, 26, who died en route to a hospital; Mrs. Golda Harney, 60, and Mr. and Mrs. George Peasler, about 50.

Secret Service Puzzled As Elusive Counterfeiter Stops Shelling Out

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Mr. Buck Passer, a close-fisted counterfeiter the Secret Service rates as Public Pest No. 1, doesn't seem to be shelling out any more—and officials are puzzled.

The trickle of phony $1 bills he's been passing steadily for about eight years at a $15-a-week clip shows signs of having dried up, Secret Service agents told a reporter today.

The Secret Service considers it too early to cheer over Mr. Buck Passer's quitting for good, but it's happy, with fingers crossed, that no evidence of his operations has been apparent for a couple of months.

Buck Passer isn't his real name, of course—if the service ever had been able to learn it, he would have been using a prison number instead of a name long ago, because he's the service's most embarrassing uncaught quarry.

Whoever he is, agents said, he can credit his success to this: He's never been too greedy, never splurged.

Counterfeit money passers usually spread it around—lots of it, and often in big bills.

But Mr. Buck Passer never has cut a wide enough swath to leave a tracer trail. As one Secret Service official put it, wistfully:

"We used to be in hopes that for Christmas or something he would go out and spend $50 or $100 in one week. If he would only pass that much in one week, we were sure we would be able to catch him."

That never happened.

A trustee of Lake Erie (O.) College for women, Col Johnson formerly was a vice president of the Leisy Brewing Company of Cleveland and was a real estate operator in Painesville, O., for several years.

A few seconds after the plane left Cleveland airport, one of the craft's engines exploded in the air and the plane burst into flames before crashing in a field shortly before 1 p. m.

Army officials reported Col Johnson had piloted the plane for more than 600 hours since the craft was built, and added that the Army had started a full investigation into causes of the crash.

The three who came out publicly for Lilienthal and other commission nominees were Sens. Kilgore (D-WVa), Hill (D-Ala) and McMahon (D-Conn). The latter, a member of the Senate Atomic Committee considering the nominations, already had indicated he would support them.

Tonight representatives of 21 national organizations joined the fight for Lilienthal in a statement made public by Rev. A. Powell Davies, Washington Unitarian minister.

The statement said all the organizations have endorsed the principles of the Acheson-Lilienthal report on international atomic controls, which is the basis of American proposals in that field. It described the signers as "deeply concerned by the recent attacks on these principles" in connection with the hearings on the Lilienthal nomination.

Letter To Vandenberg

Davies also made public a personal letter to Sen. Vandenberg asserting that except for the "personal fight" of Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), most of the attack on Lilienthal comes from "the same people who have consistently opposed every international move the United States has made."

The organizational statement bore the following names:

United Council of Church Women; Mrs. Harper A. Sibley, president.

American Association for the United Nations; Clark Eichelberger, director.

Knowland May Derail Income Tax Cut Plan

Debt Payment Prior To Any Slash Urged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—(AP)—A huge question mark was raised ahead of the GOP 20 per cent tax slashing program today as Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) announced he will offer a resolution requiring a $3,000,000,000 payment on the debt before any taxes are cut.

Simultaneously, however, Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the House Ways and Means Committee, went on the radio to voice confidence the tax-framing group will approve this week his House Bill No. 1 for a 20 per cent cut "across the board."

Indications appeared that the Senate, on Wednesday, will vote to limit to $4,500,000,000 the slash in President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the year starting July 1, overturning the $6,000,000,000 cut voted Friday by the 102-member House-Senate Budgetary Committee.

Knowland offered the $3,000,000,000 debt payment proposal to the Budgetary Committee, losing by a narrow 39 to 34 vote. He voiced confidence the Senate would approve it.

There seems little doubt the House will go along with the Budgetary Committee's recommendation for a $31,500,000,000 ceiling, despite the opposition of 19 Democratic committee members who issued a minority report yesterday in protest.

But in the Senate, a proposal for a $4,500,000,000 slash, sponsored by Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Finance Committee, appears to be gaining favor. The chief Senate objection to the higher figure is directed toward its estimated $1,750,000,000 reduction in Army and Navy appropriations.

Failure of the two chambers to agree on the amount of the White House figure should be pruned would send the matter to a conference committee for settlement.

Strategy Sessions Scheduled

In the Senate, the Republican Policy Committee will meet tomorrow to discuss the problem. Democratic Senate policy-makers also called a meeting to discuss strategy.

In the House, Democratic opponents of the proposed slash worried lest the dominantly-Republican Rules Committee send the budgetary resolution to the floor under a rule preventing amendments and limiting debate to a single day.

With this in mind, they will watch closely a third conference tomorrow. This will bring Chairman Taber (R-NY), of the House Appropriations Committee, together with Speaker Martin (R-Mass) and Chairman Allen (R-Ill), of the Rules Committee, to discuss conditions under which the resolution will be sent to the floor.

Speedy Disposal Of Surplus Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16, (AP) — War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn, confident he has found a successful sales formula, today forecast surplus disposals of more than $1,000,000,000 a month for the next six months.

His estimate is in terms of original cost to the government. Proceeds run about 24 cents on the dollar.

"If we drop below that, everybody in the agency will get kicked in the pants — we've finally got the organization, system and sales program, and it's working," he told an interviewer. He predicted also:

That his agency can go out of business by the end of 1948 if Congress decides promptly on the peacetime size of the armed forces, permitting the Army and Navy to release their unneeded goods. Property which cost $16,000,000,000 to $21,000,000,000 still must be sold but the full amount will not be known until the services can determine what they will not need.

That WAA can make good its end of Rep. Taber's plan to balance the budget for the current fiscal year ending June 30 by ringing up $1,000,000,000 in receipts for the Treasury by then. Taber, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said such a record could put the government in the black if spending is pared.

Sitdown Strike Over, Miners Return Today

LANSFORD, Pa., Feb. 16, (AP) — Anthracite operations in Pennsylvania's Panther Valley will resume tomorrow following the end of a three-day sitdown strike by 13 miners.

The unkept, bedraggled coal diggers walked out of the Lansford colliery of Lehigh Navigation Coal Company yesterday claiming a victory in the dispute which caused them to go on strike 800 feet underground.

Six thousand miners refused to work in a sympathy move.

Majority Of Senate Labor Group Opposed To Ban On Closed Shop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — A majority of the Senate Labor Committee opposes pending legislation to outlaw the closed shop and industrywide bargaining, a survey showed today as union leaders prepared to ask Congress to junk the controversial proposals.

The only member of the 13-man Senate group clearly on record in favor of the bans is the author of the legislation, Sen. Ball (R-Minn).

An informal check disclosed that now—after three weeks of hearings at which many industry officials supported Ball's bills—at least eight of the committee senators are against any outright ban on the closed shop. Seven want no law prohibiting big-scale bargaining.

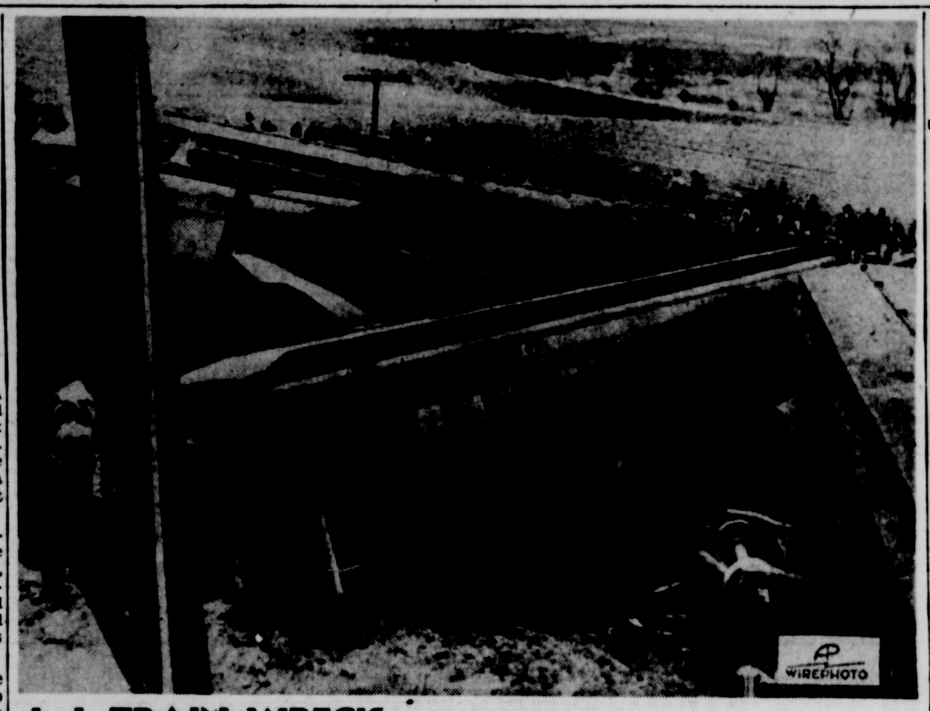
Chairman Taft (R-Ohio said he has not made up his mind on either issue. But he recently told an industry witness that either unions must be "democratized" or the closed shop must go.

Against outlawing the closed shop are the five Democratic committee members and three of the seven Republicans. The five Democrats and two of the Republicans are against a ban on industry-wide bargaining.

These two proposals also were listed in the doubtful class in the House Labor Committee by Rep. Landis (R-Ind), ranking Republican member who termed nine other labor law changes "a cinch" for approval.

Under the closed shop, workers must join a union to get a job. Ball's bill on bargaining would restrict employer-union negotiations to individual companies, or to firms within a limited area.

Both of Ball's measures are sure to draw the fire of top union officials scheduled to testify before the committee beginning Tuesday.



L. I. TRAIN WRECK—Twisted cars and the locomotive lie across the tracks of the Long Island Railroad at Kings Park, N. Y., following derailment of the train yesterday. Fifty-five passengers were injured as four of the cars and the locomotive left the rails but only eight required hospitalization. The tracks were torn up for a distance of 400 feet.

U. S. Must Send Goods To Russia To Keep "Faith"

Lend-Lease Pacts Believed Binding

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — State Department officials, it was learned today, have informed sentors the United States must ship Russia some $25,000,000 worth of goods ordered originally under lend-lease or violate "agreements made in good faith."

At the same time Chester Lane, lend-lease administrator under the State Department, vigorously denied that officials used "subterfuge" to get around a deadline of last December 31 fixed by Congress on such lend-lease shipments.

Settlement Requests Ignored

The State Department's view was made public by Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Senate Appropriations Committee. It had heard Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren testify that the shipments to Russia, as well as China, Brazil, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Australia, were prohibited by Congress.

During the squabble, senators learned from Lane that Russia had ignored four consecutive requests for a final settlement of some $11,600,000,000 of wartime lend-lease aid. All other nations who received aid have negotiated settlements.

Binding, Lane Declares

In answer to critical queries of senators about the agreed shipments beyond the congressional deadline, Lane said there is "no question in my mind that they are binding on our government."

He noted that the agreements were made before Japan surrendered and before Congress reduced lend-lease or fixed the December 31 deadline after which this country was to pay no further shipping costs.

Lane said Warren had ruled that funds could be so used "by virtue of the international agreements therefore entered into."

He reported the "bulk of material" is ready for shipment, including "all of the refinery equipment for the USSR."

Five GIs Accused Of Killing Five Japs With Firewood Clubs

TOKYO, Monday, Feb. 17 (AP) — United States Army authorities, announcing detention of five American soldiers on murder charges, said today that clubs of firewood had been used to kill five Japanese and injure 20 in the town of Hachioji, 14 miles west of Toyko, on January 31.

An earlier Air Forces statement said the five men held were accused of "shooting up" the town. Japanese police, however, said no shots were fired and that a group of American soldiers had roamed the area in a jeep, stopping to attack passing Japanese with three-foot sticks of firewood. This version proved correct, the Army said. The five men held were captured 10 days later.

Truman Returns From Grandview

WASHINGTON, Feb 16 (AP) — President Truman landed at National Airport tonight, returning from the bedside of his injured mother in Grandview, Mo.

The President, visibly pleased over his mother's progress toward recovery, said he left her in good spirits and in no pain.

The injury has been quite a shock to her, Mr. Truman said, but he added that she is no crybaby.

He arranged before he left to get frequent telephone reports on her progress.

The mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 94, suffered a fratured hip Thursday night, her third such injury.

The President flew to Grandview early yesterday to see her.

Mr. Truman spent the last few hours before his departure from Grandview at the berside of his mother whose doctors say she will recover because of her strong will to do so.

Then, visibly relieved, he looked forward to celebration tomorrow of Margaret's 23rd birthday at the White House, where he told reporters, the principal observance would be eating a cake "with two candles on it."

Gov. Lane To Present Tax, Spending Message Tonight

May Line Maryland Up With Sales Levy States

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 16 (AP) — Gov. Lane is scheduled to present tomorrow night a double-barreled message on money and the need therefor, thereby probably lining Maryland up with other states which have turned to sales taxes to keep solvent.

The message will include the majority report of the Board of Revenue estimates and its advisory committee, which recommended a two per cent sales levy, and the Governor's views on why the money is needed and where it should be spent.

Indirect taxes are not new in the Free State but overall collections on retail sales (with some exemptions) comprise the accepted view of the administration that it is the only logical way to get the millions of dollars necessary to keep the budget in balance and take care of the expanding demands of local subdivisions, schools and other agencies.

It is estimated that the sales tax would raise $18,400,000 a year after it is put into effect next July 1.

The board, in addition, proposed an increase in personal income and corporate income taxes, collectable January 1, 1949, for the calendar year 1948.

The raise to 2.75 per cent from two per cent on personal taxes and four per cent from 1.5 per cent on corporate levies is to bring in an estimated $7,500,000 annually.

Lane has said that at least $29,000,000 is needed in the next two years in extra money, but it has been estimated unofficially the total would be nearer $49,000,000.

The additional revenue is expected to care for provisions of the Sherbow report calling for distribution of state money to cities and counties, figured by Lane likely to cost $15,000,000 a year, pay back some $5,200,000 "borrowed" from the postwar construction fund to balance the current budget, restore at least $3,000,000 of the $9,000,000 surplus also being used for budget balancing, and restore $5,700,000 which Lane cut from requested appropriations for the budget.

Besides all that, there are educational needs, which were pointed up in the Marbury report.

The State Board of Education has fixed these needs at around $35,000,000. The budget now calls for an increase of $5,000,000 for schools and the Sherbow report has recommended an additional $5,000,000, but other programs have yet to be worked out.

Jewish Refugee Vessel Escorted To Haifa Harbor

British Tars Board Ship; Fight Reported

JERUSALEM, Feb. 16—(AP)—A refugee vessel carrying 790 would-be immigrants to Palestine entered Haifa harbor today—but under escort of three British destroyers. Its passengers, all lacking immigration certificates, are to be transferred to detention camps of Cyprus under British army supervision.

The ship was the San Miguel, but its passengers renamed it the "Heruth"—the Hebrew word for freedom. Its arrival and the announcement that two brigades of the British Sixth Airborne Division had been ordered to conduct trans-shipment of its passengers to Cyprus stirred Jewish leaders to call a one-hour general strike for tomorrow morning in protest and to plan court action.

Battle Reported

An army officer at Haifa said the San Miguel had been boarded by the British navy off Palestine with "little resistence," but reports of a battle between the passengers and British navymen circulated after four Jews believed to have been taken off the vessel were admitted to the Athlit detention camp hospital for treatment of bullet wounds. One of the patients was a woman and another a 14-year-old girl.

The ship, which was reported manned by an American crew and officers and sponsored by an American Jewish group, was sighted last night 27 miles southwest of Tel Aviv. It was the second in a little more than a week to attempt to run the British immigration blockade on the Palestine coast.

Crufew Is Imposed

A curfew was placed on the Haifa port area, as was done prior to the trahsfer of 650 Jews from the schooner La Negev on February 8.

Jewish leadership called a one-hour general strike for tomorrow morning and a 10-minute traffic stoppage in all Jewish communities in Palestine to protest against the assumed deportation of the illegal immigrants.

A usually reliable source said that an appeal for a writ of habeas corpus would be addressed to the Palestine high court by several Jewish lawyers tomorrow to prevent the immediate transshipment of the immigrants to Cyprus. He said the names of all the 790 Jews abroad the ship apprehended today would be attached to the appeal.

Chinese Exchange Set At 12,000 To 1

NANKING, Feb. 16 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, declaring that China's survival as a nation was at stake, late today fixed the Chinese dollar at 12,000 to $1, ordered home all private fortunes abroad, and set wage-price ceilings in a drastic omnibus decree.

Other high points of the desperate measures to meet the country's economic crisis included:

Decision by the government to get out of industry, completely reversing the previous policy;

Prohibition of all dealings in and circulation of gold and foreign currency;

A flat ban on strikes and lockouts;

Stern governmental economy; coupled with new teeth for tax collection;

A half-billion-dollar import program;

A campaign against hoarders and speculators.

U. S. Seeking Jap Islands Trusteeship

Request Will Reach U. N. Secretary Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP) — The United States government today asked the United Nations to designate the chains of Japanese-mandate islands in the Pacific as a "strategic area" under American administration.

The official request, informed sources said, will reach the desk of Secretary-General Trygve Lie tomorrow and then will be circulated to Security Council delegates. Due to council occupation with the pressing problem of atomic energy, the American proposal may not reach the floor for several weeks.

The United States asks that the whole area, including most of the Marshalls, the Marianas and the Carolines, be placed under United Nations trusteeship with the United States as administrator.

623 Islands

The 623 islands, extending north from the equator about 1,200 miles and for about 2,500 miles from east to west, have a total land area of only 829 square miles. Their total population is about 85,000.

With the exception of Guam in the Marianas, an American possession received from Spain, these islands formerly were German possessions, but were mandated by the League of Nations to Japan.

If approved the agreement would give the United States, as administering authority, virtually the same rights as would come under outright annexation.

Indications were that the plan would meet immediate opposition in the council from Russia, Great Britain, Australia and perhaps others.

Moscow, London, Canberra were reported to have advised the State Department that they were opposed to acceptance of any agreement until the peace treaty with Japan was signed.

No Objection To U. S. Occupation

None was said to have raised any objection to continued United States occupation of the islands, nor to have opposed any particular part of the agreement.

As to legal argument, the United States contends that title to the mandates did not rest with Japan with the league. It adds that Tokyo broke the terms of the mandate agreement and was no longer in a position to exercise authority.

No detailed explanation was available on the position taken by Russia which previously urged that all former league mandates be placed under the United Nations system as soon as possible.

CIO To Consider AFL's Invitation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, said today he "most likely" will submit the AFL's merger invitation to a meeting of his nine vice-presidents here on Tuesday.

Interviewed by telephone at Pittsburgh, he declined to commit himself in advance on the prospects for concrete action toward bringing the two rival labor groups together.

But other CIO officials here reported a committee is likely to be named to confer with one already named by the AFL.

The merger proposal was renewed in Miami two weeks ago by AFL President William Green. He had a letter from Murray advocating full-scale cooperation of the two big labor organizations and such groups as the railroad brotherhoods in fighting anti-union legislation.

Green and his executive council replied that only organic unity would be the answer. By that, they meant the CIO should join forces with the AFL, of which it was an offshoot, and real harmony would prevail.

Flight Is Postponed

HONOLULU, Feb. 16 (AP)—Unfavorable weather again forced postponement today of the Army's projected P-82 fighter plane flight from Honolulu to New York. Indications were that the attempt would not be made before Tuesday.

53 Lose Lives In Colombian Air Disaster

7 Americans Perish As Ship Hits Cliff

BOGOTA, Colombia, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police search parties penetrated a deep ravine today and found the 53 charred, mangled bodies of the passengers and crew members of a Colombian Avianca airliner who perished yesterday in commercial aviation's greatest disaster.

The four-engined DC-4 crashed into the sheer side of 9,000-foot El Tablazo cliff, 30 miles northwest of Bogota, yesterday afternoon on a 500-mile flight from Barranquilla to Bogota, killing 49 passengers, including at least five Americans, and four crew members, two of whom were United States citizens.

The policemen, roped together to make the difficult descent to the bottom of the ravine which lies at the base of El Tablazo, said they found bodies and wreckage of the giant airliner scattered all along the bottom of the grim chasm.

Removal Of Bodies Begins

Removal of the bodies began almost immediately. Policeman Jose Rubio located the first body, summoned the district coroner to enter the ravine, wrapped it in a tarpaulin and had it hoisted to aides at the top of the gulch.

Other bodies then were removed in the same manner. Because of the difficulty of the task, the policemen estimated it would be tomorrow before all bodies had been removed.

The plane struck almost at the pinnacle of El Tablazo, exploded and fell 1,000 feet. Great sections of the Douglas plane were scattered widely over the area. Although some wreckage was found with the bodies in the chasm, other pieces were blasted so far away that planes were used to search for them.

Carlos Henao Blanco, one of the first persons to reach the scene of the crash, which lies 10 miles from the nearest village, Subachoque, said:

"We could see a tire of the plane and some burned clothing. There were three women's shoes and some children's shoes. To the left, in a ravine, we could see one engine. Far away we saw a part of the fuselage, about 200 meters (approximately 650 feet) below. It was impossible to go down unless with ropes. There was a strong smell of charred flesh."

Americans Are Identified

The company said pilot Kenneth Newton Poe and Co-Pilot Roy Kaye were citizens of the United States. The other two crew members were Colombians.

The American passengers were identified as:

Beno Slesin, New York City, a motion picture distributor for United Artists.

W. L. Wohn, a retired United States Army colonel who served with the Air Transport Command in the Caribbean area during the war and later became chief of the construction department of tropical Oil Company.

H. A. Burton, St. Charles, Mo., coordinator of North American personnel of tropical Oil Company.

Carl Hubman, an official of Texas Petroleum Company.

J. K. Huffendick, also an official of Texas Petroleum.

Secret Service Puzzled As Elusive Counterfeiter Stops Shelling Out

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Mr. Buck Passer, a close-fisted counterfeiter the Secret Service rates as Public Pest No. 1, doesn't seem to be shelling out any more—and officials are puzzled.

The trickle of phony $1 bills he's been passing steadily for about eight years at a $15-a-week clip shows signs of having dried up, Secret Service agents told a reporter today.

The Secret Service considers it too early to cheer over Mr. Buck Passer's quitting for good, but it's happy, with fingers crossed, that no evidence of his operations has been apparent for a couple of months.

Buck Passer isn't his real name, of course—if the service ever had been able to learn it, he would have been using a prison number instead of a name long ago, because he's the service's most embarrassing uncaught quarry.

Whoever he is, agents said, he can credit his success to this: He's never been too greedy, never splurged.

Counterfeit money passers usually spread it around—lots of it, and often in big bills.

But Mr. Buck Passer never has cut a wide enough swath to leave a tracer trail. As one Secret Service official put it, wistfully:

"We used to be in hopes that for Christmas or something he would go out and spend $50 or $100 in one week. If he would only pass that much in one week, we were sure we would be able to catch him."

That never happened.

Britain Serves Notice It Won't Be Counted Out

Miners Pass Up Sunday Holiday

LONDON, Feb. 16, (AP) — Britain served notice in a variety of ways today that it does not propose to be counted out or to abandon its experiment in socialism because of the staggering setback stemming from the nationwide fuel crisis.

Miners, stevedores and railway crews gave up their Sunday rest to speed an ever-increasing flow of coal to power stations.

As the nation entered the second week of industry-crippling electrical cuts, the Ministry of Fuel still declined to forecast an end to the shortage. But Deputy Minister Sir Guy Nott-Bower said "everybody without exception has done magnificent work."

Air Secretary Philip J. Noel-Baker, speaking at Derby, said "overseas observers" could be certain there would be "no government crisis, no breakdown of British reconstruction."

Noel-Baker spoke less than 24 hours after Prime Minister Attlee, dismissing talk of a coalition government as "utter nonsense," declared the government would continue its socialization program and that "we shall bring the economic and social life of this country to a new level of prosperity."

Both speeches could be read in the light of last week's defense white paper which expressed Britain's intention of keeping her troops where she thinks she needs them. It was noted, too, that in announcing she intended to hand the Palestine problem to the United Nations, Britain made no move to withdraw soldiers from

Veteran Repudiates Statement Of Slaying

FRESNO, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Attorneys for Otho C. Stockdale, 25-year-old railroad fireman and former soldier, said today he had repudiated a statement that he killed a man for whose slaying a soldier is serving life imprisonment.

Stockdale's statement last week to Fresno police that he killed Cpl. Peter De Fuscos, of Uniontown, Pa., at an Army camp near Salina, Kans., had reopened the case in which Pvt. A. B. Ritchie, of Hickory, N. C., was convicted of murder by a court-martial.

Ritchie was condemned to death, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. His application for pardon is pending.

Attorneys J. F. Nagel and Gerald W. Stutsman said today that Stockdale told them he had taken the blame for the slaying in the hope that it would lead to his death and free him from l ife overburdened by alcoholism and confusion.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 16. (AP)—Three Maryland men were injured fatally early today when their automobile left the road, struck a lightpole and then crashed into a tree on University Lane near Riggs Road.

The dead are Ralph Y. Z. Kirk, 21, a jockey who lived near Silver Spring; Walter Ernest Rawlings, 21, of Kensington, said by Takoma Park police to have been the driver of the car, and Thomas Whitelaw Barden, 23, who lived with the Kirk family.

Columbians' President Stands Trial Wednesday

ATLANTA, Feb. 16. (AP)—Emory C. Burke, president of the anti-Jewish, anti-negro Columbians, Inc., will stand trial Wednesday on the same charge of incitement to riot upon which Homer L. Loomis, Jr., secretary of the hate group, yesterday was convicted and sentenced to 12 months imprisonment.

Loomis' sentence was stayed when his father, Homer L. Loomis Sr., New York admiralty lawyer, filed notice of appeal, but he was ordered jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond set by Superior Judge Clarke Edwards, Jr. A hearing on the appeal was scheduled for May 1.

Reuther Lashes Back At UAW Vice President

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Walter P. Reuther, of the CIO United Auto Workers, today lashed back at union vice president R. J. Thomas for what he termed the latter's "false, malicious and irresponsible" charges over handling the Allis-Chalmers strike.

In a letter to the UAW-CIO's estimated 800,000 members, Reuther said the former union president's "irresponsible actions" had a "tragic impact" on the union.

Thomas, designated by the union to direct the strike, had contended that "interference" by Reuther caused the UAW to nearly lose a bargaining election at the Allis-Chalmers plant in West Allis, Wis., several weeks ago. The UAW defeated an independent union 4,122 to 4,018.

Army Private Found Guilty In First Test Of "GI Court-Martial" System

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Army's universal military training experimental unit has conducted its first test of a "GI court-martial" system. Verdict:

The court of seven trainees found another trainee guilty of leaving his guard post and sentenced him to seven days' hard labor.

The War Department made the results of the initial experiment available today in answering questions on the "pilot model" unit at Fort Knox, Ky.

The Army has assembled at Fort Knox a cross-section of 'teen age regular Army recruits to study actual operation of the proposed universal training plan. One of the major problems has been to devise a system of discipline and conduct for an organization which, because it will not be part of the army, will not be subject to military law.

The "trainee court," the nub of the proposed judicial system, is composed of seven trainees from the accused's own company, three of them senior to him and all appointed by the senior member of the company. The latter also appoints a prosecutor and defense counsel from trainee ranks. An officer acts as adviser on military law but has no vote. Sentences passed by the experimental unit trainees will not include confinement. However, a third offense by a trainee of the experimental unit will subject him to a regular army military court-martial.

The private (his identity was not disclosed) tried by the first GI court contended that the urgency of going to the latrine gave him no time to summon the corporal of the guard to place a substitute at his post. The prosecution argued that in doing this he violated general orders for guard duty. The court, in a srecret ballot and by a two-thirds vote, sentenced the private.

Old-time regular Army men commented to a reporter that the action of the GI court surprised them a little. They said that in times other than actual war a similar infraction by a soldier probably would bring nothing more than the angry words of a sergeant and a warning.

Durocher In New York; Won't Talk Of Marriage

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)—Smiling but declining to discuss his recent marriage to Movie Actress Laraine Day, Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodger Baseball team, arrived today by plane from Los Angeles.

Newsmen and photographers greeted the usually loquacious Dodger pilot as he alighted at LaGuardia Field.

"I do not discuss my private affairs," he replied when asked when he expected to see his wife again.

Durocher and Miss Day were married in Mexico shortly after she obtained a divorce from Roy Hendricks in Los Angeles. After the marriage was announced the judge who granted the decree took the divorce under advisement to determine whether California laws had been flouted by the Mexican marriage.

California divorce laws forbid remarriage for a year after the decree is granted.

13,000 Canadian Coal Miners Begin Strike

OTTAWA, Feb. 16—(AP)—Thirteen thousand miners in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick coal fields were on strike tonight, halting half of Canada's coal production.

Britain Serves Notice It Won't Be Counted Out

Miners Pass Up Sunday Holiday

LONDON, Feb. 16, (AP) — Britain served notice in a variety of ways today that it does not propose to be counted out or to abandon its experiment in socialism because of the staggering setback stemming from the nationwide fuel crisis.

Miners, stevedores and railway crews gave up their Sunday rest to speed an ever-increasing flow of coal to power stations.

As the nation entered the second week of industry-crippling electrical cuts, the Ministry of Fuel still declined to forecast an end to the shortage. But Deputy Minister Sir Guy Nott-Bower said "everybody without exception has done magnificent work."

Air Secretary Philip J. Noel-Baker, speaking at Derby, said "overseas observers" could be certain there would be "no government crisis, no breakdown of British reconstruction."

Noel-Baker spoke less than 24 hours after Prime Minister Attlee, dismissing talk of a coalition government as "utter nonsense," declared the government would continue its socialization program and that "we shall bring the economic and social life of this country to a new level of prosperity."

Both speeches could be read in the light of last week's defense white paper which expressed Britain's intention of keeping her troops where she thinks she needs them. It was noted, too, that in announcing she intended to hand the Palestine problem to the United Nations, Britain made no move to withdraw soldiers from

Veteran Repudiates Statement Of Slaying

FRESNO, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Attorneys for Otho C. Stockdale, 25-year-old railroad fireman and former soldier, said today he had repudiated a statement that he killed a man for whose slaying a soldier is serving life imprisonment.

Stockdale's statement last week to Fresno police that he killed Cpl. Peter De Puscoa, of Uniontown, Pa., at an Army camp near Salina, Kans., had reopened the case in which Pvt. A. B. Ritchie, of Hickory, N. C., was convicted of murder by a court-martial.

Ritchie was condemned to death, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. His application for pardon is pending.

Attorneys J. P. Nagel and Gerald W. Stutsman said today that Stockdale told them he had taken the blame for the slaying in the hope that it would lead to his death and free him from l ife overburdened by alcoholism and confusion.

Reuther Lashes Back At UAW Vice President

DETROIT, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Walter P. Reuther, of the CIO United Auto Workers, today lashed back at union vice president R. J. Thomas for what he termed the latter's "false, malicious and irresponsible" charges over handling the Allis-Chalmers strike.

In a letter to the UAW-CIO's estimated 800,000 members, Reuther said the former union president's "irresponsible actions" had a "tragic impact" on the union.

Thomas, designated by the union to direct the strike, had contended that "interference" by Reuther caused the UAW to nearly lose a bargaining election at the Allis-Chalmers plant in West Allis, Wis., several weeks ago. The UAW defeated an independent union 4,122 to 4,015.

Army Private Found Guilty In First Test Of "GI Court-Martial" System

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Army's universal military training experimental unit has conducted its first test of a "GI court-martial" system. Verdict:

The court of seven trainees found another trainee guilty of leaving his guard post and sentenced him to seven days' hard labor.

The War Department made the results of the initial experiment available today in answering questions on the "pilot model" unit at Fort Knox, Ky.

The Army has assembled at Fort Knox a cross-section of 'teen age regular Army recruits to study actual operation of the proposed universal training plan. One of the major problems has been to devise a system of discipline and conduct for an organization which, because it will not be part of the army, will not be subject to military law.

The "traineee court," the nub of the proposed judicial system, is composed of seven trainees from the accused's own company, three of them senior to him and all appointed by the senior member of the company. The latter also appoints a prosecutor and defense counsel from trainee ranks. An officer acts as adviser on military law but has no vote. Sentences passed by the experimental unit trainees will not include confinement. However, a third offense by a trainee of the experimental unit will subject him to a regular army military court-martial.

The private (his identity was not disclosed) tried by the first GI court contended that the urgency of going to the latrine gave him no time to summon the corporal of the guard to place a substitute at his post. The prosecution argued that in doing this he violated general orders for guard duty. The court, in a srecret ballot and by a two-thirds vote, sentenced the private.

Old-time regular Army men commented to a reporter that the action of the GI court surprised them a little. They said that in times other than actual war a similar infraction by a soldier probably would bring nothing more than the angry words of a sergeant and a warning.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girls Who Are Virtual Prisoners In Their Fathers' Homes

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Many young girls, and a surprising number of older women, write to me to complain that their fathers are so tyrannical they have no opportunities for normal friendships and good times. They are forbidden, they say, to go out anywhere, even to an occasional movie, either with any other person or by themselves. In many instances, they are not even allowed to talk to friends on the telephone, and any letters they get are opened and, if the father doesn't approve the contents, are confiscatd so that the girl never knows the letter has arrived.

In effect, these girls are virtual prisoners in their fathers' homes, without rights or privileges.

This, of course, is a horrifying state of affairs wherever it occurs. Where it involves a teen-age girl there is regrettably very little that can be done about the situation until she becomes of age and achieves legal freedom. But where such a "prisoner" is a grown woman, it becomes something else again. Then it is a question of whether or not the woman has the spirit and the independence to take matters into her own hands and do something about them.

Sometimes, of course, the lifelong tyranny of a man over his family succeeds in so intimidating his wife and children that by the time the latter are grown they are completely cowed. Any initiative with which they might have been born has been bullied out of them, and so they shuffle along listlessly through life in the pattern to which fear has conditioned them, almost too apathetic even to care any more.

That is, the girl children do. It is rare to find a boy who will tolrate such unreasonable and unhealthy paternal domination after he has become old enough to assert himself. Most of them will leave home and turn to their own resources and ingenuity for a living rather than continue to put up with such a state of affairs. And most of them, as a rule, make out very well.

And so, I think, many of the young women who have this type of problem to cope with would do well to take their cue from the boys. I can see no reason whatever, and have said so many times, for a young woman in her late twenties, and still less in her thirties, to remain cowering under a brutal father's control. And I use the word "brutal" advisedly, since mental and emotional cruelty is as much in that category as physical mistreatment.

Some of the young women who have written me of such situations seem to fear they will be lacking in their filial duty if they leave home. And I say that no son or daughter owes any parent any more consideration or respect than the parent has shown toward them. There is no cause for any feeling of guilt where a parent's own conduct has driven his child from home. If he should be ill, or otherwise in need of help at any later date, undoubtedly that instinctive family tie, which somehow holds most of us through thick and thin, would make the child, however alienated, feel constrained to come to his aid. But he should never under any circumstances surrender his independence, or allow himslf to come under the parent's domination again, while carrying out what he conceives to be his duty.

Again, not a few of these home-style "prisoners" have told me that they fear their fathers would hold their mothers responsible if they left home, and would make life more miserable than ever for these wives. While it is easy to understand how a daughter who loves her mother would hesitate to precipitate any such reprisal, yet I do not think even this should keep her from going out to live her own life, if she is unable to do so in any other way. In most cases, I believe, the situation at home would adjust itself.

However a father might rage and rant, if a daughter who had always meekly heeded his every word suddenly left home, it is my belief that her self-assertion would win from him, almost in spite of himself, a respect that her submission never did, and that it might in the course of time even bring about better relations between the two of them.

Lastly, many abused daughters are timid about making the break because they have never had any training to support themselves. But there are types of jobs that are available to unskilled workers, and an unskilled worker can turn herself into a skilled one in a short time if she has any aptitude. And even if she could do no better, in the beginning, than find a place as a domestic worker, she would certainly be a freer agent in a home she could leave at will than in the paternal jail to which her father holds the keys.

I'D LAUGH

I marvel at the people who vow they'd repeat their present performance if they were to come back to earth again.

I'm sure I wouldn't.

I'm positive that in one respect out of many hundreds I'd change my life entirely.

I'D LAUGH.

Mind you, I have never been a sad sack and quite frequently I've been the life of the party.

But there'd be a special new magic in this laugh and if I had to choose just one gift above all others, I'd choose this laugh.

I'd laugh so every sad eyed little child would chuckle with me.

I'd laugh so every shamed man would take new hope and grip his self respect again.

I'd laugh so every desperate woman would see herself as winsome as she was at 17.

I'd laugh so that every lonely, clumsy youngster would feel graceful and befriended.

I'd laugh so even mongrel pups and dogs would smile with me.

I'd laugh so that all the echoes of my laughter would warm every sordid spot and heal each aching heart.

For I have found in this sad world there's only one thing fully worth doing and that is laughter.

Not sneering laughter nor that sour cackle that comes from a feeling of superiority.

But deep and kindly laughter—

Laughter over such little things as blowing leaves and buffeting wind—

As scampering pups and nesting birds—

Or some fine batch of biscuits which my neighbor has just made—

Or a good garden bench—

Or all the trivial little things that reach to us as they would reach to sunshine.

There's so much sorrow in this weary world—so many tear stained faces and little empty hands that we could help with laughter. I think the very soil would grow more rich and warm that shared a loving laugh.

I know that God would come more near to us if we would laugh more often in His kindly face.

He fitted us for laughter.

Why do we so seldom laugh?

Sometimes, when you lift your telephone receiver to make a call, you may have to wait a little longer than usual for the operator to answer.

When this delay occurs, it means more calls are coming through at the time than switchboards can handle promptly.

Today there are more telephones in service and more calls being made per telephone than ever before. On the other hand, new switchboard equipment is still hard to obtain.

Additional facilities for better handling the increased volume of calls are on the way. But most of the needed equipment is very complicated. Much of it must be assembled by hand. So it takes time.

Man And The State Seen Through Russian's Eyes

The United Nations Human Rights Commission has reached a stalemate in its efforts to draft an international bill of rights, which reveals some of the basic conflicts between totalitarianism and representative democracy.

A list of rights and freedoms had been submitted to the commission when V. T. Teliakov of the Soviet Union urged the deletion of all the following:

The rights of personal liberty; prohibition of slavery and compulsory labor; right to petition national governments and the United Nations; non-retroactive penal laws; right of property and prohibition of unlawful expropriation; freedom of movement (migration); and freedom to resist oppression.

Mr. Teliakov explained that these rights and freedoms were either superfluous, beyond the present power of the United Nations to lay down, or impinge on the local laws and customs of the national states.

"Freedom to resist oppression," he exclaimed. "What does it mean? What is the definition of oppression? It requires elaborate discussion." And it does.

A nation without the background of England's Magna Carta, the American Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution may have an entirely different approach than ours to the question of the individual's relations to the state.

"We're working for the community and society, and the community and society are providing materials for existence," Mr. Teliakov said in stating the Soviet viewpoint.

Communism exalts the state, we the individuals. The theories are poles apart. One is the concept of Marx and Lenin, the other that of Madison, Jefferson and Lincoln. By exploring our conflicting viewpoints we may come to understand one another better, but a common approach to many international problems seems far distant.

Government employes in Washington spend 60,000 hours of the taxpayers' time every morning drinking coffee, according to latest statistics. Why doesn't some citizen sue them for return of portal-to-portal pay?

Brotherhood And Its Relation To Democracy

With the opening yesterday of American Brotherhood Week it might be an appropriate time to recall that Americans are convinced that democracy as we know it, with liberty and justice for all, is the most perfect form of political community yet known. We were warned some years ago by totalitarian leaders abroad that democracy might suffice in peace but could not win a war. But democracy has demonstrated its efficiency in war as in peace. No one knows better than ourselves the dangers that dog the steps of democracy, the weaknesses in its structure that need buttressing, but we cherish it and choose it for ourselves and our children.

We are not so blind, moreover, as to be unaware that in the kind of a world in which we are living democracy is not altogether safe. A large part of humanity still lives under some form of autocracy. There are influences in our own land which, unchecked, would undermine democracy. If our democracy is to be preserved we must uphold it with vigilant and sacrificial devotion.

We must be vigilant to detect and resist all who are at work among us to spread distrust among the groups that make up our citizenship. Distrust is a subtle poison. It dissolves the bonds that hold us together as a people. No hostile influence from without can disturb any nation where citizens have learned to trust one another.

Patriotism, loyalty to America and her institutions, is not the exclusive prerogative of any group in our country. However, citizens may differ as to race, religion or national origin, the war from which we have emerged has taught all of us that we all alike love America. To recognize that and freely to acknowledge it is essential to national unity. We must have a patriotism so great that one citizen cannot hate another on the pretext that he is not "a good American."

America is a composite of many racial and religious groups, no one of which can truly claim superior loyalty. Each of these groups has made its own distinctive contribution to the national life. America would be the poorer if any one of these groups should be eliminated. We need them all. That a nation is strong in proportion as differences are suppressed and its people cast in a single mold is a fallacy congenial to totalitarianism. It has no place in democracy. Variety is a source of strength to the nation. Variety, with mutual tolerance, has a vigor that enforced uniformity can never hope to gain.

Our country is founded on faith that man may differ in religious convictions and yet unite in defense of American liberties. That faith has been justified in the history of the republic. Democracy is a term that is obscure until it has been defined. It has become increasingly plain in recent months that in Russia democracy means somtehing quite different from democracy in the United States. By democratic liberties we mean freedom for all, whatever their religious affiliation. The American liberties are guaranteed by the Federal Constitution and by every state to citizens of all faiths equally.

Bound up thus in one life, therefore, every distinctive group in America is interested in the maintenance of liberty, not only liberty for themselves but for every other group. For whatever threatens the liberties of any of our people threatens those of all.

Those who are surprised at the number of extras they are compelled to pay for to get a new car should be grateful there is no cover charge for the top.

Edison's Desk And Others

The desk at which Thomas A. Edison worked for 45 years was sealed when he died in 1931, but it was opened Saturday before a distinguished group of witnesses as part of a week-long observance of the great inventor's 100th birthday anniversary.

Few desks probably will never get any such reverent treatment as that, but in a way many wish they might. They could then hope that somehow, some time, somebody would discover terribly important letters, documents, memorandums, clippings and the like that they have put away carefully in their desks, or on them over the years and never have been able to find again.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

WINTER IS HARD ON INFANTS

WINTER is sometimes hard on infants because colds and intestinal disturbances are common. Such infections should not be overlooked or neglected for now and then they become chronic, influencing health not only in childhood but thruout life.

At this time of the year the abrupt changes in temperature and humidity have little effect on the infant lying secure and warm in his crib or mother's arms. But after passing the six-month birthday, a different situation exists. Growing tots like to go places and, while crawling and walking, are exposed to drafts and cold floors. In addition, they are inclined to put anything and everything into the mouth. As mingling with older children begins, whatever ailment is making the rounds is likely to be contracted.

Should the tike begin to sneeze, cough, or exhibit a nasal discharge, any one can make a diagnosis of a cold. Frquently, however, these symptoms are lacking when the throat or tonsils are inflamed. The baby cannot tell of his distress and instead is fretful and does not care to eat; vomiting and a fairly high temperature may be noted. Only by a thorough examination will the true cause be found.

As a rule, infections of this type last only a few days, responding to bed rest, salicylates, or one of the sulfonamides. If this were all there is to a cold, physicians would probably stop talking [and writing] about the malady but infants are prone to develop further difficulties which prolong the illness, making it more serious. Spread of the organisms to the sinuses is annoying and may pave the way for trouble in the nose for some years to come.

Ear involvment is painful, requires expert management, and occasionally a minor operation. Besides, it creates considerable anxiety for the parents, who wonder if hearing will be affected. Yet impairment seldom occurs if discovered early and treated correctly. Other complications include asthma and pneumonia.

Children less than two years of age are more susceptible to rickets during this season. Inadquate exposure to ultraviolet rays in sunshine is partly to blame since the rays are short and cold weather limits out of door activity. Lack of vitamin D also plays a role. Liver, egg yolk, and certain fish contain the elements naturally. But children of tender years rarely receive their quota in the foods they consume even tho staples like flour, bread, cereals, and milk have been enriched. Hence cod liver oil or vioserol are usually prescribed during the first few weeks of life. To prevent rickets, between 800 and 1,200 units of vitamin D are required daily.

The use of artificial light thru sun lamps also is helpful along this line. Exposure for three minutes every other day is recommended by some authorities. The child should be placed three feet away and the eyes must be protected with suitable glasses. In case the disease has already moved in, daily treatment is advised, increasing the period gradually until it reaches 20 minutes.

SUGAR FOR HEART

F. T. writes: Does dextrose help the heart muscle?

REPLY

Yes, in the same way that this form of sugar helps other tissues. Its effect is most noticeable when the body's supply is depleted thru illness or longstanding debility.

ACNE

A. V. K. writes: Will a mild case of acne be relieved or aggravated by drinking buttermilk daily?

REPLY

It should not influence the condition unfavorably. Since it has a low fat content, and may have a tendency to improve constipation, some relief may be noted. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on acne.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The Byrd expedition down in Little America has just reported sighting in the midst of all that frigid terrain, an oasis of completely barren ground.

Scientists are now busy packing their microscopes and woolen drawers preparing to investigate this strange act of Nature.

A fig for science. I have the facts of this baffling phenomenon.

Back in the 14th century there was a court jester to the King of England named Boffo Grogan. Boffo was the star of the royal banquets, hitting himself in the face with pies and squirting seltzer on the ladies-in-waiting.

One night, however, he introduced a new type of humor. He told a joke: "Did you hear about the King of France? They caught him playing jacks with the Queen . . . He was so embarrassed he broke out in a royal flush."

The King, much as he liked Boffo, was so disgusted with this attempted humor that he banished Boffo from the kingdom, imprisoned at the other end of the world, and not to be freed until he found some way to rectify his behavior.

So Boffo was made a prisoner in his own egg, cooped up in what we today call "Little America."

It wasn't until last week that Boffo thought of a great way to free himself. He thought of a new joke.

It went: "The first queen asked the second queen, 'Who was that knight I saw you with the other day?' And the second queen replied, 'That was no knight . . . that was a Gal-a-had.'"

Quickly the egg was broken and Boffo was whisked away to Jester Heaven.

When Boffo was liberated from his eggy cell, the splash from the yolk is what created that strange, barren land.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—If, one year ago, anyone had told Republican leaders that February 1947 would find them leaping aboard the senatorial bandwagon of aged Kenneth McKellar, the tempestuous solon from Tennessee, they would have laughed in derision.

Nevertheless, that has now happened.

An increasing number of Republican Senators, after gleefully watching McKellar carry on his one-man crusade against David Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, have now decided to make political capital out of a personal feud and have joined him.

Irony is that only a few months ago, many of these same Republicans were grousing about McKellar's sometimes senile Senate leadership, and using him as an illustration of why the nation must junk the allegedly decrepit Democratic party.

In fact, it was only last spring that McKellar's mental lapses were such that he had to leave the Senate for the Naval Hospital. The 77-year-old Tennessean had passed out in a Senate Appropriations Committee hearing, experienced another lapse in the coffee shop of the Mayflower Hotel, and finally had to be inveigled out of the presiding officer's chair in the Senate.

The latter incident was most embarrassing. As president pro tem of the Senate, McKellar was wielding the gavel one afternoon when it became obvious he did not know what he was doing. And when kindly Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle came to his rescue, McKellar remarked: "When does the Senate meet, Les?"

Biffle explained that the Senate was already in session, but McKellar remonstrated, claiming that he knew perfectly well where he was—in his Mayflower Hotel room. Biffle reminded the Senator that his colleagues were debating the British loan, to which McKellar replied: "We passed that yesterday."

Finally, Biffle signaled Senator Abe Murdoch of Utah to prepare to take over the chair, and faked a message to McKellar that President Truman was calling him on the telephone.

Passion For Mediocrity

Senator McKellar's mental lapses at the age of 77 could be forgiven if they climaxed a career notable for statesmanlike achievement. Instead they climaxed 32 Senatorial years of personal feuding, petty patronage-grabbing and pork-barrel politics always so severely criticized by the Republican party at election time, but sometimes—as now—winked at between elections.

For instance, when Republican Senators last year favored a reasonable budget for school lunches, Senator McKellar, Chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee, arbitrarily curtailed the school lunch fund, while simultaneously appropriating money for a new Federal Building in Nashville, Tenn. The Government had not urged construction of this building—since it was bound to divert critical materials from veterans housing. But that made no difference to McKellar. He was running for re-election.

Last year also, when Republicans were preaching economy, McKellar proposed building two dams simultaneously in the Tennessee Valley. TVAdministrator David Lilienthal, whom McKellar now so vigorously attacks, opposed McKellar on this. He claimed the Government could save two million dollars by building the dams, not simultaneously, but consecutively—one after the other. This would permit moving bulldozers, men and machinery from one dam to the second, after the first was completed.

But McKellar, who was up for re-election, wanted a lot of money spent in Tennessee.

Hottest Senatorial Temper

In fact, there is almost nothing in the 32 years since Kenneth McKellar barely squeaked through the Tennessee primaries with a margin of only 2,700 votes that should endear him to Republicans as a leader—except his ability as a troublemaker. Scanning through the newsclips on the gentleman from Tennessee, here, briefly, is his record:

SET FIRE TO HOTEL—Apparently falling asleep in bed, McKellar caused Washington's Portland Hotel to catch fire in 1922. Four alarms were turned in and various solons had to escape in a hurry. This was the only way the Senator got his name in headlines during his early days in Washington.

WILD MOTORIST—Twice in seven months, during 1932, McKellar smashed up himself and other people in auto accidents. He sued and was sued in return, but nobody collected. After that McKellar got somebody else to drive him. When Truman left the Vice-Presidency for the White House, McKellar inherited the sleek and shiny Vice-Presidential limousine, together with chauffer and $15,000 for extra expenses. Since McKellar already had an expense allowance as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, his colleagues hoped he would forego the additional $15,000. But as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, he decided otherwise.

JOB-GRABBER—As a patronage czar McKellar is without peer. Total salary and expense allowances for the Senator and his Government-paid relatives last year was $43,300. Not content, he forced the Government Printing Office to publish "The Boodle Book"—a list of jobs not on Civil Service and therefore susceptible to Congressional wire-pulling.

TEMPER — Known as the most hot tempered man in Congress, McKellar once got into a near fist fight with Robert Horton, then of the Washington News, had a near brush with Congressman Keefe of Wisconsin over Government free mailing privileges, and once unclasped a small knife on the Senate floor as he lunged at the late Senator Copeland of New York.

REVENGE—Nothing is sweeter to the gentleman from Tennessee than to strike back at someone who has opposed him. After Sergeant-at-Arms Chesley Jurney sent a deputy to bring McKellar to the Senate on a roll-call vote, McKellar successfully blocked Jurney's reappointment as Sergeant-at-Arms. When J. Ross Eakin, superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, refused to appoint McKellar henchmen to park jobs, the Senator threatened to cut the appropriations of the Interior Department.

And when Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee fought the Crump machine of Memphis in the 1938 primary, McKellar waited until Pearl Harbor to get his revenge. Browning had a brilliant record in World War I with the rank of captain, and in this war Gen. Cornelius Wickersham was ready to commission him as colonel in American Military Government. Browning was eminently qualified, but three times McKellar intervened with the War Department and blocked the appointment. Browning finally went in at his World War I rank of captain.

It is the same revenge motive which inspired McKellar's present battle against Lilienthal, the man who has consistently blocked McKellar's attempts to make TVA his patronage boodle-bag. And instead of probing the operations of the McKellar-Crump machine, which long has needed a thorough airing, Senate Republicans are jumping on the McKellar anti-Lilienthal bandwagon. No wonder the staunch Republican New York Herald Tribune warns that it was not for this that the American people elected a Republican Congress.

Note — If Senate Republicans wanted to strike legitimate political paydirt they would investigate who got the $100,000 lush insurance commissions from the construction of Camp Polk at Alexandria, La., also who got $75,000 insurance commissions on the Dixie Homes housing project; also who got the insurance commissions on the Memphis PWA sewer project.

Chairman Carroll Reece of the GOP National Committee, long a Tennessee Congressman, could help a lot with such a probe—if he wanted to. But he probably won't.

Inventions Of Revolutionary Character On Drawing Boards

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 16 — The year 1946 was upset by labor troubles and the current year may see a continuation of labor unrest. This is a form of revolution which has been fathering strength for many years. It is not due to John L. Lewis any more than the rise of Fascism was due to Mussolini; or the rise of Nazism was due to Hitler. Mussolini and Hitler were only symbols, and Lewis is nothing more. When any powerful labor leader passes from the scene, someone else will rise to take his place.

Importance of Inventions

Both labor and management have their good points. It would be best for all concerned if compromises could more easily be brought about. Remember that it is our great ability to PRODUCE all kinds of goods in large quantities which has made America. Production won World War I, and would have eventually won World War II. The atomic bomb only hastened the end. But this was only one of many very revolutionary developments coming from World War II.

The bomb was conceived, engineered and produced by scientists. This relatively small group of men may become more important industrially in the next decade than labor and management together. You ask, "How?" Let us consider the Auto Industry—our greatest industry and the largest employer of labor—as merely one illustration. Actually, the modern automobile is one of the least efficient modes of transportation, considering the horse power it consumes.

Revolution in Autos Possible

The earliest electrically-driven automobile was fairly efficient. It was not long successful because, on a given battery charge which was soon exhausted, it could go neither far nor fast. Only one thing held back its continued development and use. That was weight. A storage batterly is made of lead, which has an atomic weight of 82. Lithium is the lightest metal known; Berryllium is the second lightest metal known; both are much lighter than aluminum or magnesium.

I ask in all seriousness if someday it may be possible for our scientists to construct efficient electric storage batteries out of a very light metal. If so, or if anything else is developed to take the place of lead, we may say good-bye to the automobile as we know it today. Gone will be engine, transmission, hydromatic shifts, radiators and many other "gadgets" with which the present-day automobile is encumbered. Manufacturing and assembling processes would be greatly scimplified and reduced. Gasoline as a mode of power might then be ended, simplified and reduced. Gasoline as a mode of power might then be ended.

Why Worry?

Other plans and inventions, which may be even more revolutionary, are on drawing boards. Some scientists have great hopes of using atomic energy industrially and displacing boilers and perhaps engines and/or dynamos. I am not suggesting any atomic miracles.—even its use to change the brains, shape or strength of our descendants through pre-birth treatments. My object is to urge readers not to worry about Labor or Capitol — Communists or Fascists. Rather, pin your faith to the preachers and scientists. The world's living standards will not be raised by politicians in legislative halls, nor by laborites in organized strikes; but by preachers in pulpits and inventors in laboratories.

Both labor and management are needlessly concerned over their troubles today. As I have often said,—strikes will be found futile, but necessary. Labor troubles will always be with us; but they will become less important as religion and science develop hand-in-hand during the years ahead. Therefore, let us not now be too greatly concerned over the industrial and economic conditions which will prevail when our grandchildren grow up!

Remember Diversification

From an investment standpoint, all the above emphasizes the great importance of diversification. Avoid investing too much in any one industry or any one company. Far greater inventions lie ahead of us than any we have yet seen or dreamed of. What companies will first get them cannot now be foretold.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—(CP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) of Michigan has become one of the most powerful men in the Senate. He is its president and also, by virtue of his close association with former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes under the bi-partisan administration of foreign policy, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

However, Vandenberg refuses to concede himself a chance at the GOP presidential nomination in 1948. Moreover, he would decline to be No. 2 man behind either Dewey or Taft. However, some political observers think he would be a formidable "dark horse" if Dewey and Taft should engage in a knockdown, drag-out fight.

Sen. Vandenberg

Even if he does not become president, there are those who think he is a virtual cinch for secretary of state if the GOP wins in '48.

Although he has taken over the burden of directing America's foreign policy, Secretary of State George Marshall still finds time to pay his weekly visit to Gen. John J. Pershing, World War I United States Army leader.

General Marshall, who visited Pershing regularly during the past war, is about the only caller the aged general receives outside of members of his family or his aide.

Pershing, who is confined to Walter Reed hospital in Washington, has been in bad condition for several years and his health is gradually declining.

Chairman Chan Gurney (R) of South Dakota of the Senate armed service committee, is determined to ban party-line politics from shaping of legislation to maintain the nation's military strength.

Gurney takes the view that partisan politics should be pushed aside in his committee, as in the foreign relation committee, because armed strength is an international instrument.

Senator Gurney already has taken steps along this line. He asked the then Secretary of State Byrnes to advise his committee on what hidden dangers lie in the international scene. Now, he has extended the same invitation to Secretary of State Marshall.

Republicans as well as Democrats on the committee applauded the move by their chairman.

For the first time, perhaps in the history of political patronage in Congress, Republican leaders have appointed to the post of "supreme arbiter" a politician with a heart. He is Rep. Leo E. Allen (R) of Illinois, father of five children, who believes that deserving employes should be retained — even Democrats.

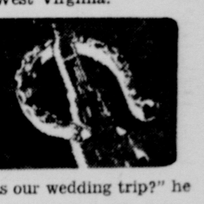
Consequently, among those who will continue are an old man who runs an elevator in the Capitol, a youth working his way through college, and a crippled father. Another employe, sponsored by a Democrat, faced dismissal. He suffered from tuberculosis and was partially incapacitated. Allen recommended that he be retained.

Republican refusal in the Senate to observe time-tried courtesy and custom by giving a "pair" to the Democrats covering an absent minority member angered Democratic leaders. But that was not all.

During the crucial vote on continuation of the Senate war investigating committee, Senator John H. Overton (D) of Louisiana was absent because of illness in his family. Custom provides that Overton could have been "paired" with a Republican voting the other way. But GOP Leader Robert Taft ignored custom; the vote looked too close. The Republicans won by three votes.

Two days later on the question of recreating the small business committee, Minority Secretary Leslie L. Biffle almost dropped his telephone when Taft asked to have a "pair" arranged for himself. Biffle politely reminded Taft of his previous actions and then agreed to Taft's "pair" with Senator Harley M. Kilgore (D) of West Virginia.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose



About ten days ago, Bob Hannegan, Head Mailman and Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, made a speech suggesting Mr. Truman as his party's candidate for the 1948 election. Bob said some pretty fine things about his boss. He referred to him as a "great man," and said the nation "is on the way to peace and prosperity" because of his "sound leadership, courage and foresight."

Billy Rose

Bob was always one for understatement. He might have told us that Truman invented electricity, ghosted Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, and had once run the mile in four minutes. But with admirable restraint, he didn't.

I think Bob ought to let himself go more. Underplaying may be good in an English movie, but it doesn't win elections. Here's a little story about an understatement, and how it got a couple of people in trouble.

Drexel Hughes took unto himself a wife. Her name was Hazel, and her mother boasted she could sew the straightest seam in town.

Now, Drexel was not one of those young sports you see hightailing through town on a motorcycle, squirrel tails hanging from the handlebars and a fast young biddy clinging to the back saddle. No, sir. He was the kind of fellow of whom his teachers said, "No nonsense about Drexel."

The alliance of this fine young couple was as logical as a plate of cold mutton and a glass of port. And just as gay. Mr. Flood, the drinkin'est man in town, sent the pair a pup with fleas, so "there'd be something lively around the house."

The night before the marriage, Drexel attended a bachelor party. Real root beer was served.

Hazel selected the hotel for their honeymoon. It went under the joyous name of Chippendale Manor. It specialized in rocking chairs and guests who had sat for family portraits.

Drexel gave Hazel a little lecture when they got on the train after the ceremony.

"It's important," he told her, "for no one to know we were just married. Otherwise we shall be subjected to the giggling of idiots and their vulgar jokes."

"You're so right," agreed Hazel.

When they got to Chippendale Manor, Hazel cleverly carried in one of her bags. The rocking-chair set didn't give them a second glance. The desk clerk didn't even smile behind his hand when our hero signed the register, "Drexel Hughes and wife."

An old bellhop showed them to their room. "I hope you folks enjoy your honeymoon here," he said.

Drexel was furious. "How did you know this was our wedding trip?" he demanded.

"Guessed it from the new luggage," smiled the bellhop.

Drexel was a man of action. He extracted a five-dollar bill from his wallet. "This is a bribe," he said, briskly. "You are not to tell anybody we are newlyweds. If no one finds out, there's another five in it for you."

Next morning and afternoon went off fine. At breakfast in the main dining room, Drexel propped a newspaper up between them, and never talked to Hazel once. At lunch, he made several loud remarks about her mother. At tennis that afternoon, he didn't let his wife score a single point.

But when they came back to dress for dinner, the newlyweds sensed something had gone wrong. As they passed the veranda, rockers stopped rocking and tongues commenced clucking. When they entered the dining room, not a glass clinked, not a fork touched china, not a jaw moved. A smirking waiter took their order.

Drexel flinched when a bald-headed gentleman two tables removed gave them a knowing wink. At the far end of the room, people put their heads together, and laughed fit to bust.

It was worse after dinner. On the veranda, no one even said good-evening. "They think we want to be alone," said Drexel, miserably. "The bellhop has violated our confidence."

The one person who did talk to the couple only embarrassed them more. The eccentric Mrs. Gerhardy, whose dead husband had made a fortune in the valentine-card business, stopped them. "You're the only interesting people in this cemetery," she chirped. "Vive L'Amour!"

That did it. They fled to their room. Drexel telephoned down and demanded the bellhop be sent up immediately. It took a lot of will power to refrain from shouting when the old man shambled into the room.

"You've betrayed us!" Drexel stormed.

The bellhop shook his head. "I followed your orders, sir," he said.

"You must have given them a hint," wailed Hazel.

"Didn't give no hint at all," the old bellhop insisted. "Never told them you were newlyweds. As a matter of fact, I threw everybody off the track. I told them you weren't even married."

Man And The State Seen Through Russian's Eyes

The United Nations Human Rights Commission has reached a stalemate in its efforts to draft an international bill of rights, which reveals some of the basic conflicts between totalitarianism and representative democracy.

A list of rights and freedoms had been submitted to the commission when V. T. Teliakov of the Soviet Union urged the deletion of all the following:

The rights of personal liberty; prohibition of slavery and compulsory labor; right to petition national governments and the United Nations; non-retroactive penal laws; right of property and prohibition of unlawful expropriation; freedom of movement (migration); and freedom to resist oppression.

Mr. Teliakov explained that these rights and freedoms were either superfluous, beyond the present power of the United Nations to lay down, or impinge on the local laws and customs of the national states.

"Freedom to resist oppression," he exclaimed. "What does it mean? What is the definition of oppression? It requires elaborate discussion." And it does.

A nation without the background of England's Magna Carta, the American Declaration of Independence and the United States Constitution may have an entirely different approach than ours to the question of the individual's relations to the state.

"We're working for the community and society, and the community and society are providing materials for existence," Mr. Teliakov said in stating the Soviet viewpoint.

Communism exalts the state, we the individuals. The theories are poles apart. One is the concept of Marx and Lenin, the other that of Madison, Jefferson and Lincoln. By exploring our conflicting viewpoints we may come to understand one another better, but a common approach to many international problems seems far distant.

Brotherhood And Its Relation To Democracy

With the opening yesterday of American Brotherhood Week it might be an appropriate time to recall that Americans are convinced that democracy as we know it, with liberty and justice for all, is the most perfect form of political community yet known. We were warned some years ago by totalitarian leaders abroad that democracy might suffice in peace but could not win a war. But democracy has demonstrated its efficiency in war as in peace. No one knows better than ourselves the dangers that dog the steps of democracy, the weaknesses in its structure that need buttressing, but we cherish it and choose it for ourselves and our children.

We are not so blind, moreover, as to be unaware that in the kind of a world in which we are living democracy is not altogether safe. A large part of humanity still lives under some form of autocracy. There are influences in our own land which, unchecked, would undermine democracy. If our democracy is to be preserved we must uphold it with vigilant and sacrificial devotion.

We must be vigilant to detect and resist all who are at work among us to spread distrust among the groups that make up our citizenship. Distrust is a subtle poison. It dissolves the bonds that hold us together as a people. No hostile influence from without can disturb any nation where citizens have learned to trust one another.

Patriotism, loyalty to America and her institutions, is not the exclusive prerogative of any group in our country. However, citizens may differ as to race, religion or national origin, the war from which we have emerged has taught all of us that we all alike love America. To recognize that and freely to acknowledge it is essential to national unity. We must have a patriotism so great that one citizen cannot hate another on the pretext that he is not "a good American."

America is a composite of many racial and religious groups, no one of which can truly claim superior loyalty. Each of these groups has made its own distinctive contribution to the national life. America would be the poorer if any one of these groups should be eliminated. We need them all. That a nation is strong in proportion as differences are suppressed and its people cast in a single mold is a fallacy congenial to totalitarianism. It has no place in democracy. Variety is a source of strength to the nation. Variety, with mutual tolerance, has a vigor that enforced uniformity can never hope to gain.

Our country is founded on faith that man may differ in religious convictions and yet unite in defense of American liberties. That faith has been justified in the history of the republic. Democracy is a term that is obscure until it has been defined. It has become increasingly plain in recent months that in Russia democracy means somtehing quite different from democracy in the United States. By democratic liberties we mean freedom for all, whatever their religious affiliation. The American liberties are guaranteed by the Federal Constitution and by every state to citizens of all faiths equally.

Bound up thus in one life, therefore, every distinctive group in America is interested in the maintenance of liberty, not only liberty for themselves but for every other group. For whatever threatens the liberties of any of our people threatens those of all.

Those who are surprised at the number of extras they are compelled to pay for to get a new car should be grateful there is no cover charge for the top.

Edison's Desk And Others

The desk at which Thomas A. Edison worked for 45 years was sealed when he died in 1931, but it was opened Saturday before a distinguished group of witnesses as part of a week-long observance of the great inventor's 100th birthday anniversary.

Few desks probably will never get any such reverent treatment as that, but in a way many wish they might. They could then hope that somehow, some time, somebody would discover terribly important letters, documents, memorandums, clippings and the like that they have put away carefully in their desks, or on them over the years and never have been able to find again.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

WINTER IS HARD ON INFANTS

WINTER is sometimes hard on infants because colds and intestinal disturbances are common. Such infections should not be overlooked or neglected for now and then they become chronic, influencing health not only in childhood but thruout life.

At this time of the year the abrupt changes in temperature and humidity have little effect on the infant lying secure and warm in his crib or mother's arms. But after passing the six-month birthday, a different situation exists. Growing tots like to go places and, while crawling and walking, are exposed to drafts and cold floors. In addition, they are inclined to put anything and everything into the mouth. As mingling with older children begins, whatever ailment is making the rounds is likely to be contracted.

Should the tike begin to sneeze, cough, or exhibit a nasal discharge, any one can make a diagnosis of a cold. Frquently, however, these symptoms are lacking when the throat or tonsils are inflamed. The baby cannot tell of his distress and instead is fretful and does not care to eat; vomiting and a fairly high temperature may be noted. Only by a thorough examination will the true cause be found.

As a rule, infections of this type last only a few days, responding to bed rest, salicylates, or one of the sulfonamides. If this were all there is to a cold, physicians would probably stop talking [and writing] about the malady but infants are prone to develop further difficulties which prolong the illness, making it more serious. Spread of the organisms to the sinuses is annoying and may pave the way for trouble in the nose for some years to come.

Ear involvment is painful, requires expert management, and occasionally a minor operation. Besides, it creates considerable anxiety for the parents, who wonder if hearing will be affected. Yet impairment seldom occurs if discovered early and treated correctly. Other complications include asthma and pneumonia.

Children less than two years of age are more susceptible to rickets during this season. Inadquate exposure to ultraviolet rays in sunshine is partly to blame since the rays are short and cold weather limits out of door activity. Lack of vitamin D also plays a role. Liver, egg yolk, and certain fish contain the elements naturally. But children of tender years rarely receive their quota in the foods they consume even tho staples like flour, bread, cereals, and milk have been enriched. Hence cod liver oil or vioserol are usually prescribed during the first few weeks of life. To prevent rickets, between 800 and 1,200 units of vitamin D are required daily.

The use of artificial light thru sun lamps also is helpful along this line. Exposure for three minutes every other day is recommended by some authorities. The child should be placed three feet away and the eyes must be protected with suitable glasses. In case the disease has already moved in, daily treatment is advised, increasing the period gradually until it reaches 20 minutes.

SUGAR FOR HEART

F. T. writes: Does dextrose help the heart muscle?

REPLY

Yes, in the same way that this form of sugar helps other tissues. Its effect is most noticeable when the body's supply is depleted thru illness or longstanding debility.

ACNE

A. V. K. writes: Will a mild case of acne be relieved or aggravated by drinking buttermilk daily?

REPLY

It should not influence the condition unfavorably. Since it has a low fat content, and may have a tendency to improve constipation, some relief may be noted. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on acne.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The Byrd expedition down in Little America has just reported sighting in the midst of all that frigid terrain, an oasis of completely barren ground.

Scientists are now busy packing their microscopes and woolen drawers preparing to investigate this strange act of Nature.

A fig for science, I have the facts of this baffling phenomenon.

Back in the 14th century there was a court jester to the King of England named Boffo Grogan. Boffo was the star of the royal banquets, hitting himself in the face with pies and squirting seltzer on the ladies-in-waiting.

One night, however, he introduced a new type of humor. He told a joke: "Did you hear about the King of France? They caught him playing jacks with the Queen . . . He was so embarrassed he broke out in a royal flush."

The King, much as he liked Boffo, was so disgusted with this attempted humor that he banished Boffo from the kingdom, imprisoned at the other end of the world, and not to be freed until he found some way to rectify his behavior.

So Boffo was made a prisoner in his own egg, cooped up in what we today call "Little America."

It wasn't until last week that Boffo thought of a great way to free himself. He thought of a new joke.

It went: "The first queen asked the second queen, 'Who was that knight I saw you with the other day?' And the second queen replied, 'That was no knight . . . that was a Gal-a-had.'"

Quickly the egg was broken and Boffo was whisked away to Jester Heaven.

When Boffo was liberated from his eggy cell, the splash from the yolk is what created that strange, barren land.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—If, one year ago, anyone had told Republican leaders that February 1947 would find them leaping aboard the senatorial bandwagon of aged Kenneth McKellar, the tempestuous solon from Tennessee, they would have laughed in derision.

Nevertheless, that has now happened.

An increasing number of Republican Senators, after gleefully watching McKellar carry on his one-man crusade against David Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, have now decided to make political capital out of a personal feud and have joined him.

Irony is that only a few months ago, many of these same Republicans were grousing about McKellar's sometimes senile Senate leadership, and using him as an illustration of why the nation must junk the allegedly decrepit Democratic party.

In fact, it was only last spring that McKellar's mental lapses were such that he had to leave the Senate for the Naval Hospital. The 77-year-old Tennessean had passed out in a Senate Appropriations Committee hearing, experienced another lapse in the coffee shop of the Mayflower Hotel, and finally had to be inveigled out of the presiding officer's chair in the Senate.

The latter incident was most embarrassing. As president pro tem of the Senate, McKellar was weilding the gavel one afternoon when it became obvious he did not know what he was doing. And when kindly Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle came to his rescue, McKellar remarked: "When does the Senate meet, Les?"

Biffle explained that the Senate was already in session, but McKellar remonstrated, claiming that he knew perfectly well where he was—in his Mayflower Hotel room. Biffle reminded the Senator that his colleagues were debating the British loan, to which McKellar replied: "We passed that yesterday."

Finally, Biffle signaled Senator Abe Murdoch of Utah to prepare to take over the chair, and faked a message to McKellar that President Truman was calling him on the telephone.

Passion For Mediocrity

Senator McKellar's mental lapses at the age of 77 could be forgiven if they climaxed a career notable for statesmanlike achievement. Instead they climaxed 32 Senatorial years of personal feuding, petty patronage-grabbing and pork-barrel politics always so severely criticized by the Republican party at election time, but sometimes—as now—winked at between elections.

For instance, when Republican Senators last year favored a reasonable budget for school lunches, Senator McKellar, Chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee, arbitrarily curtailed the school lunch fund, while simultaneously appropriating money for a new Federal Building in Nashville, Tenn. The Government had not urged construction of this building—since it was bound to divert critical materials from veterans housing. But that made no difference to McKellar. He was running for re-election.

Last year also, when Republicans were preaching economy, McKellar proposed building two dams simultaneously in the Tennessee Valley. TVAdministrator David Lilienthal, whom McKellar now so vigorously attacks, opposed McKellar on this. He claimed the Government could save two million dollars by building the dams, not simultaneously, but consecutively—one after the other. This would permit moving bulldozers, men and machinery from one dam to the second, after the first was completed.

But McKellar, who was up for re-election, wanted a lot of money spent in Tennessee.

Hottest Senatorial Temper

In fact, there is almost nothing in the 32 years since Kenneth McKellar barely squeaked through the Tennessee primaries with a margin of only 2,700 votes that should endear him to Republicans as a leader—except his ability as a troublemaker. Scanning through the newsclips on the gentleman from Tennessee, here, briefly, is his record:

SET FIRE TO HOTEL—Apparently falling asleep in bed, McKellar caused Washington's Portland Hotel to catch fire in 1922. Four alarms were turned in and various solons had to escape in a hurry. This was the only way the Senator got his name in headlines during his early days in Washington.

WILD MOTORIST—Twice in seven months, during 1932, McKellar smashed up himself and other people in auto accidents. He sued and was sued in return, but nobody collected. After that McKellar got somebody else to drive him. When Truman left the Vice-Presidency for the White House, McKellar inherited the sleek and shiny Vice-Presidential limousine, together with chauffer and $15,000 for extra expenses. Since McKellar already had an expense allowance as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, his colleagues hoped he would forego the additional $15,000. But as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, he decided otherwise.

JOB-GRABBER—As a patronage czar McKellar is without peer. Total salary and expense allowances for the Senator and his Government-paid relatives last year was $43,300. Not content, he forced the Government Printing Office to publish "The Boodle Book"—a list of jobs not on Civil Service and therefore susceptible to Congressional wire-pulling.

TEMPER — Known as the most hot tempered man in Congress, McKellar once got into a near fist fight with Robert Horton, then of the Washington News, had a near brush with Congressman Keefe of Wisconsin over Government free mailing privileges, and once unclasped a small knife on the Senate floor as he lunged at the late Senator Copeland of New York.

REVENGE—Nothing is sweeter to the gentleman from Tennessee than to strike back at someone who has opposed him. After Sergeant-at-Arms Chesley Jurney sent a deputy to bring McKellar to the Senate on a roll-call vote, McKellar successfully blocked Jurney's reappointment as Sergeant-at-Arms. When J. Ross Eakin, superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, refused to appoint McKellar henchmen to park jobs, the Senator threatened to cut the appropriations of the Interior Department.

And when Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee fought the Crump machine of Memphis in the 1938 primary, McKellar waited until Pearl Harbor to get his revenge. Browning had a brilliant record in World War I with the rank of captain, and in this war Gen. Cornelius Wickersham was ready to commission him as colonel in American Military Government. Browning was eminently qualified, but three times McKellar intervened with the War Department and blocked the appointment. Browning finally went in at his World War I rank of captain.

It is the same revenge motive which inspired McKellar's present battle against Lilienthal, the man who has consistently blocked McKellar's attempts to make TVA his patronage boodle-bag. And instead of probing the operations of the McKellar-Crump machine, which long has needed a thorough airing, Senate Republicans are jumping on the McKellar anti-Lilienthal bandwagon. No wonder the staunch Republican New York Herald Tribune warns that it was not for this that the American people elected a Republican Congress.

Note — If Senate Republicans wanted to strike legitimate political paydirt they would investigate who got the $100,000 lush insurance commissions from the construction of Camp Polk at Alexandria, La., also who got $75,000 insurance commissions on the Dixie Homes housing project; also who got the insurance commissions on the Memphis PWA sewer project.

Chairman Carroll Reece of the GOP National Committee, long a Tennessee Congressman, could help a lot with such a probe—if he wanted to. But he probably won't.

Inventions Of Revolutionary Character On Drawing Boards

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Feb. 16 — The year 1946 was upset by labor troubles and the current year may see a continuation of labor unrest. This is a form of revolution which has been fathering strength for many years. It is not due to John L. Lewis any more than the rise of Fascism was due to Mussolini; or the rise of Nazism was due to Hitler. Mussolini and Hitler were only symbols, and Lewis is nothing more. When any powerful labor leader passes from the scene, someone else will rise to take his place.

Importance of Inventions

Both labor and management have their good points. It would be best for all concerned if compromises could more easily be brought about. Remember that it is our great ability to PRODUCE all kinds of goods in large quantities which has made America. Production won World War I, and would have eventually won World War II. The atomic bomb only hastened the end. But this was only one of many very revolutionary developments coming from World War II.

The bomb was conceived, engineered and produced by scientists. This relatively small group of men may become more important industrially in the next decade than labor and management together. You ask, "How?" Let us consider the Auto Industry—our greatest industry and the largest employer of labor—as merely one illustration. Actually, the modern automobile is one of the least efficient modes of transportation, considering the horse power it consumes.

Revolution in Autos Possible

The earliest electrically-driven automobile was fairly efficient. It was not long successful because, on a given battery charge which was soon exhausted, it could go neither far nor fast. Only one thing held back its continued development and use. That was weight. A storage batterly is made of lead, which has an atomic weight of 82. Lithium is the lightest metal known; Berryllium is the second lightest metal known; both are much lighter than aluminum or magnesium.

I ask in all seriousness if someday it may be possible for our scientists to construct efficient electric storage batteries out of a very light metal. If so, or if anything else is developed to take the place of lead, we may say good-bye to the automobile as we know it today. Gone will be engine, transmission, hydromatic shifts, radiators and many other "gadgets" with which the present-day automobile is encumbered. Manufacturing and assembling processes would be greatly scimplified and reduced. Gasoline as a mode of power might then be ended, simplified and reduced. Gasoline as a mode of power might then be ended.

Why Worry?

Other plans and inventions, which may be even more revolutionary, are on drawing boards. Some scientists have great hopes of using atomic energy industrially and displacing boilers and perhaps engines and/or dynamos. I am not suggesting any atomic miracles.—even its use to change the brains, shape or strength of our descendants through pre-birth treatments. My object is to urge readers not to worry about Labor or Capitol — Communists or Fascists. Rather, pin your faith to the preachers and scientists. The world's living standards will not be raised by politicians in legislative halls, nor by laborites in organized strikes; but by preachers in pulpits and inventors in laboratories.

Both labor and management are needlessly concerned over their troubles today. As I have often said,—strikes will be found futile, but necessary. Labor troubles will always be with us; but they will become less important as religion and science develop hand-in-hand during the years ahead. Therefore, let us not now be too greatly concerned over the industrial and economic conditions which will prevail when our grandchildren grow up!

Remember Diversification

From an investment standpoint, all the above emphasizes the great importance of diversification. Avoid investing too much in any one industry or any one company. Far greater inventions lie ahead of us than any we have yet seen or dreamed of. What companies will first get them cannot now be foretold.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—(CP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) of Michigan has become one of the most powerful men in the Senate. He is its president and also, by virtue of his close association with former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes under the bi-partisan administration of foreign policy, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

However, Vandenberg refuses to concede himself a chance at the GOP presidential nomination in 1948. Moreover, he would decline to be No. 2 man behind either Dewey or Taft. However, some political observers think he would be a formidable "dark horse" if Dewey and Taft should engage in a knockdown, drag-out fight.

Sen. Vandenberg

Even if he does not become president, there are those who think he is a virtual cinch for secretary of state if the GOP wins in '48.

Although he has taken over the burden of directing America's foreign policy, Secretary of State George Marshall still finds time to pay his weekly visit to Gen. John J. Pershing, World War I United States Army leader.

General Marshall, who visited Pershing regularly during the past war, is about the only caller the aged general receives outside of members of his family or his aide.

Pershing, who is confined to Walter Reed hospital in Washington, has been in bad condition for several years and his health is gradually declining.

Chairman Chan Gurney (R) of South Dakota of the Senate armed service committee, is determined to ban party-line politics from shaping of legislation to maintain the nation's military strength.

Gurney takes the view that partisan politics should be pushed aside in his committee, as in the foreign relation committee, because armed strength is an international instrument.

Senator Gurney already has taken steps along this line. He asked the then Secretary of State Byrnes to advise his committee on what hidden dangers lie in the international scene. Now, he has extended the same invitation to Secretary of State Marshall.

Republicans as well as Democrats on the committee applauded the move by their chairman.

For the first time, perhaps in the history of political patronage in Congress, Republican leaders have appointed to the post of "supreme arbiter" a politician with a heart. He is Rep. Leo E. Allen (R) of Illinois, father of five children, who believes that deserving employes should be retained — even Democrats.

Consequently, among those who will continue are an old man who runs an elevator in the Capitol, a youth working his way through college, and a crippled father. Another employe, sponsored by a Democrat, faced dismissal. He suffered from tuberculosis and was partially incapacitated. Allen recommended that he be retained.

Republican refusal in the Senate to observe time-tried courtesy and custom by giving a "pair" to the Democrats covering an absent minority member angered Democratic leaders. But that was not all.

During the crucial vote on continuation of the Senate war investigating committee, Senator John H. Overton (D) of Louisiana was absent because of illness in his family. Custom provides that Overton could have been "paired" with a Republican voting the other way. But GOP Leader Robert Taft ignored custom; the vote looked too close. The Republicans won by three votes.

Two days later on the question of recreating the small business committee, Minority Secretary Leslie L. Biffle almost dropped his telephone when Taft asked to have a "pair" arranged for himself. Biffle politely reminded Taft of his previous actions and then agreed to Taft's "pair" with Senator Harley M. Kilgore (D) of West Virginia.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

About ten days ago, Bob Hannegan, Head Mailman and Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, made a speech suggesting Mr. Truman as his party's candidate for the 1948 election. Bob said some pretty fine things about his boss. He referred to him as a "great man," and said the nation "is on the way to peace and prosperity" because of his "sound leadership, courage and foresight."

Billy Rose

Bob was always one for understatement. He might have told us that Truman invented electricity, ghosted Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, and had once run the mile in four minutes. But with admirable restraint, he didn't.

I think Bob ought to let himself go more. Underplaying may be good in an English movie, but it doesn't win elections. Here's a little story about an understatement, and how it got a couple of people in trouble.

Drexel Hughes took unto himself a wife. Her name was Hazel, and her mother boasted she could sew the straightest seam in town.

Now, Drexel was not one of those young sports you see hightailing through town on a motorcycle, squirrel tails hanging from the handlebars and a fast young biddy clinging to the back saddle. No, sir. He was the kind of fellow of whom his teachers said, "No nonsense about Drexel."

The alliance of this fine young couple was as logical as a plate of cold mutton and a glass of port. And just as gay. Mr. Flood, the drinkin'est man in town, sent the pair a pup with fleas, so "there'd be something lively around the house."

The night before the marriage, Drexel attended a bachelor party. Real root beer was served.

Hazel selected the hotel for their honeymoon. It went under the joyous name of Chippendale Manor. It specialized in rocking chairs and guests who had sat for family portraits.

Drexel gave Hazel a little lecture when they got on the train after the ceremony.

"It's important," he told her, "for no one to know we were just married. Otherwise we shall be subjected to the giggling of idiots and their vulgar jokes."

"You're so right," agreed Hazel.

When they got to Chippendale Manor, Hazel cleverly carried in one of her bags. The rocking-chair set didn't give them a second glance. The desk clerk didn't even smile behind his hand when our hero signed the register, "Drexel Hughes and wife."

An old bellhop showed them to their room. "I hope you folks enjoy your honeymoon here," he said.

Drexel was furious. "How did you know this was our wedding trip?" he demanded.

"Guessed it from the new luggage," smiled the bellhop.

Drexel was a man of action. He extracted a five-dollar bill from his wallet. "This is a bribe," he said, briskly. "You are not to tell anybody we are newlyweds. If no one finds out, there's another five in it for you."

Next morning and afternoon went off fine. At breakfast in the main dining room, Drexel propped a newspaper up between them, and never talked to Hazel once. At lunch, he made several loud remarks about her mother. At tennis that afternoon, he didn't let his wife score a single point.

But when they came back to dress for dinner, the newlyweds sensed something had gone wrong. As they passed the veranda, rockers stopped rocking and tongues commenced clucking. When they entered the dining room, not a glass clinked, not a fork touched china, not a jaw moved. A smirking waiter took their order.

Drexel flinched when a bald-headed gentleman two tables removed gave them a knowing wink. At the far end of the room, people put their heads together, and laughed fit to bust.

It was worse after dinner. On the veranda, no one even said good-evening. "They think we want to be alone," said Drexel, miserably. "The bellhop has violated our confidence."

The one person who did talk to the couple only embarrassed them more. The eccentric Mrs. Gerhardy, whose dead husband had made a fortune in the valentine-card business, stopped them. "You're the only interesting people in this cemetery," she chirped. "Vive L'Amour!"

That did it. They fled to their room. Drexel telephoned down and demanded the bellhop be sent up immediately. It took a lot of will power to refrain from shouting when the old man shambled into the room.

"You've betrayed us!" Drexel stormed.

The bellhop shook his head. "I followed your orders, sir," he said.

"You must have given them a hint," wailed Hazel.

"Didn't give no hint at all," the old bellhop insisted. "Never told them you were newlyweds. As a matter of fact, I threw everybody off the track. I told them you weren't even married."

Rubble May Be Building Stone In New Germany

By DANIEL de LUCE

BERLIN—Millions of tons of rubble in Germany's bombed-out cities are now regarded by Berlin engineers as a source of new building material for the future.

Just to clear away the ruins, it is estimated, might take as long as 25 years, and mar the countryside with waste heaps.

But experiments are under way to demonstrate that the wreckage of buildings can be processed on the spot for new construction.

Engineering plans submitted to Allied military government experts call for the establishment of large mills in bombed-out areas.

Cement Blocks

Scooped-up debris would be sifted to remove wood and metal. Brick and stone fragments would be put through heavy crushers. The resultant powder, it is said, has exceptional adhesive qualities and can be mixed with cement to form building blocks of high insulation and resistance to pressure.

Only sixty percent of the rubble requires crushing, engineers estimate, because the remainder is already a suitable powder.

Berlin, alone, has 70 million cubic meters of rubble.

Other schemes have also been suggested to speed-up Germany's municipal reconstruction. One would transform the heaviest damaged sections into green parks and decentralize the cities.

Leveling Plan

Another would require merely the leveling-off of skeleton walls and the construction of new dwellings limited to one story atop the unmolested rubble. This would leave the street as a depression six to ten feet below the new house level.

A center of research in prefabricated or factory-made housing is located at Stuttgart in the American Zone, where twelve manufacturers have already produced 36 experimental models.

But few Germans believe that the destruction brought upon their country by Hitler's leadership in six years can be entirely erased in another 60.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Grace Moore

Millions of us were shocked and grieved to read of the tragic death of Grace Moore. Few singers of this generation have been so greatly beloved. She had a rare personality, and every note that she uttered reflected this to a marked degree.

People who listened to Grace Moore's inspired voice immediately loved her. There was sincerity of expression in everything that her remarkable voice gave expression to, and she made people feel that sincerity. Hers was a natural voice that seemed to echo from her heart. And its beauty touched the senses as few voices ever have.

She was the favorite of millions. Her love of life, her joy in it, as expressed every time she appeared before an audience, cemented affection to her. How alive she was! She made us feel that she was born to live forever—and she will, in the hearts of all who ever listened to her bird-like singing.

I was fascinated by her joyousness in the movies, and always upon her appearances personally in public. I was in San Antonio, Texas, once when she was the guest of honor at a public gathering. I met her, and her husband, and sat a few feet from her as she held her listeners spellbound. What an ovation she was given! They gave her the key to the city, and made her an honorary member of the Texas Rangers, I think it was—but in every heart she had already been honored beyond all earthly honors.

Now that vibrant and lovable personality lives only in the memory. The voice is silenced forever. That familiar and almost dancing smile, so famous, will no longer greet the eager worshippers at her shrine. But she will live on just the same! Every songster in Nature will echo her spirit, and remind us of her undying beauty of voice and character.

I recall a phrase that the late John Galsworthy wrote, shortly before his earthly career was over. Said he: "Death is such a waste of me!" This can well be said of Grace Moore. Death was a waste of her, but there was no waste to the life that she lived, nor to the notes of song that she left echoing in the world. They have taken on immortality!

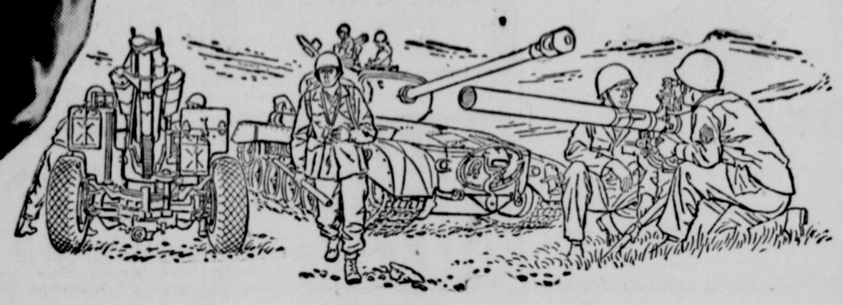
THE ARMY GROUND FORCES—WORLD'S GREATEST SCHOOL FOR LEADERSHIP



"FOLLOW ME!" The ringing battle-cry of the Infantryman is the stirring command of the leader. And nowhere else in the world—in war and in peace—are so many great leaders developed as in the Army Ground Forces. The American ground soldier is known for his ability to carry out any assignment with resourcefulness and initiative—the qualities that make leaders in civilian life as well as the Army.

The Ground Forces can not only teach you leadership—they can equip you with fine job training to go with it. In peacetime, the Army is a gigantic school-going organization—with training available in many valuable skills and trades.

Remember, too, that increased Army pay scales are now in effect, and that you receive 20% additional pay for overseas service.

Thousands of outstanding young men, able to meet the new higher standards required, are enlisting in the Regular Army. And because of the special advantages offered, the majority of them are enlisting for 3 years. If you are looking for the road to a profitable future, your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station can furnish all details.

Highlights of Regular Army Enlistment

1. Choice of any branch of service which still has quotas to be filled, and of certain overseas theaters which still have openings, on 3-year enlistments.
2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.
4. Leave credit accrues at the rate of 30 days per year of service.
5. Mustering-out pay for all men eligible therefor, when discharged to enlist or reenlist.
6. Educational benefits under GI Bill of Rights for men who enlist before official termination of war and remain in service 90 days or more.
7. Family allowances for dependents of men enlisting or reenlisting continue until 6 months after official termination of war.
8. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)
9. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous honorable active federal military service counts toward retirement.

Rubble May Be Building Stone In New Germany

By DANIEL de LUCE

BERLIN—Millions of tons of rubble in Germany's bombed-out cities are now regarded by Berlin engineers as a source of new building material for the future.

Just to clear away the ruins, it is estimated, might take as long as 25 years, and mar the countryside with waste heaps.

But experiments are under way to demonstrate that the wreckage of buildings can be processed on the spot for new construction.

Engineering plans submitted to Allied military government experts call for the establishment of large mills in bombed-out areas.

Cement Blocks

Scooped-up debris would be sifted to remove wood and metal. Brick and stone fragments would be put through heavy crushers. The resultant powder, it is said, has exceptional adhesive qualities and can be mixed with cement to form building blocks of high insulation and resistance to pressure.

Only sixty percent of the rubble requires crushing, engineers estimate, because the remainder is already a suitable powder.

Berlin, alone, has 70 million cubic meters of rubble.

Other schemes have also been suggested to speed-up Germany's municipal reconstruction. One would transform the heaviest damaged sections into green parks and decentralize the cities.

Leveling Plan

Another would require merely the leveling-off of skeleton walls and the construction of new dwellings limited to one story atop the unmolested rubble. This would leave the street as a depression six to ten feet below the new house level.

A center of research in prefabricated or factory-made housing is located at Stuttgart in the American Zone, where twelve manufacturers have already produced 36 experimental models.

But few Germans believe that the destruction brought upon their country by Hitler's leadership in six years can be entirely erased in another 60.

Deer, Deer . . . And Elk

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—About 5,500 hunters killed a record 960 deer and 260 elk in Helena National Forest in the recently concluded season, Forest Supervisor A. D. Moir reported, yet the forest still has an estimated all-time high winter population of 5,700 deer and 1,500 elk.

Today's Talk

Grace Moore

Millions of us were shocked and grieved to read of the tragic death of Grace Moore. Few singers of this generation have been so greatly beloved. She had a rare personality, and every note that she uttered reflected this to a marked degree.

People who listened to Grace Moore's inspired voice immediately loved her. There was sincerity of expression in everything that her remarkable voice gave expression to, and she made people feel that sincerity. Hers was a natural voice that seemed to echo from her heart. And its beauty touched the senses as few voices ever have.

She was the favorite of millions. Her love of life, her joy in it, as expressed every time she appeared before an audience, cemented affection to her. How alive she was! She made us feel that she was born to live forever—and she will, in the hearts of all who ever listened to her bird-like singing.

I was fascinated by her joyousness in the movies, and always upon her appearances personally in public. I was in San Antonio, Texas, once when she was the guest of honor at a public gathering. I met her, and her husband, and sat a few feet from her as she held her listeners spellbound. What an ovation she was given! They gave her the key to the city, and made her an honorary member of the Texas Rangers, I think it was—but in every heart she had already been honored beyond all earthly honors.

Now that vibrant and lovable personality lives only in the memory. The voice is silenced forever. That familiar and almost dancing smile, so famous, will no longer greet the eager worshippers at her shrine. But she will live on just the same! Every songster in Nature will echo her spirit, and remind us of her undying beauty of voice and character.

I recall a phrase that the late John Galsworthy wrote, shortly before his earthly career was over. Said he: "Death is such a waste of me!" This can well be said of Grace Moore. Death was a waste of her, but there was no waste to the life that she lived, nor to the notes of song that she left echoing in the world. They have taken on immortality!

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

Writes Mr. Robert Jordan, Colon, Mich.

Advises every sufferer from Rheumatic—Arthritic—Sciatic—Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip—knee—calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at ALL GOOD DRUG STORES. Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money.

THE ARMY GROUND FORCES—WORLD'S GREATEST SCHOOL FOR LEADERSHIP

"FOLLOW ME!" The ringing battle-cry of the Infantryman is the stirring command of the leader. And nowhere else in the world—in war and in peace—are so many great leaders developed as in the Army Ground Forces. The American ground soldier is known for his ability to carry out any assignment with resourcefulness and initiative—the qualities that make leaders in civilian life as well as the Army.

The Ground Forces can not only teach you leadership—they can equip you with fine job training to go with it. In peacetime, the Army is a gigantic school-going organization—with training available in many valuable skills and trades.

Remember, too, that increased Army pay scales are now in effect, and that you receive 20% additional pay for overseas service.

Thousands of outstanding young men, able to meet the new higher standards required, are enlisting in the Regular Army. And because of the special advantages offered, the majority of them are enlisting for 3 years. If you are looking for the road to a profitable future, your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station can furnish all details.

Highlights of Regular Army Enlistment

1. Choice of any branch of service which still has quotas to be filled, and of certain overseas theaters which still have openings, on 3-year enlistments.
2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.
4. Leave credit accrues at the rate of 30 days per year of service.
5. Mustering-out pay for all men eligible therefor, when discharged to enlist or reenlist.
6. Educational benefits under GI Bill of Rights for men who enlist before official termination of war and remain in service 90 days or more.
7. Family allowances for dependents of men enlisting or reenlisting continue until 6 months after official termination of war.
8. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)
9. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous honorable active federal military service counts toward retirement.

• Listen to: "Sound Off," "Warriors of Peace," "Voice of the Army," and "Proudly We Hail" on your radio.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16—Did I tell you last week there wasn't going to be any competition for Ingrid Bergman as "Joan of Arc"? I take it all back. Greer Garson is the latest in the field, and here's how that came about:

The close friend and business associate of George Bernard Shaw, Gabriel Pascal, that is, telephoned to London to get permission to film "Saint Joan" with Greer as soon as it can be put on the screen. That little telephone call was made at the suggestion of Mike Levy, Pascal's agent, as well as Greer's representative.

Greer and Gabriel are old friends and knew each other in London, and now MGM will be asked to make the picture with Pascal. It will be mighty interesting to see which picture is finished first—Ingrid's "Joan of Arc" for Walter Wanger, or Greer's "Saint Joan" for Pascal.

Joan Fontaine has been shopping like mad to get ready for that Caribbean cruise she is taking with her bridegroom William Dozier. They leave the 22nd. She finished "Ivy" just a few days ago and she'll forget there is such a thing as a picture until she gets back.

I was greatly interested to hear that her next movie "Written On The Wind," Robert Wilder's novel, is now being called "Thunder On The Hill," and is so far removed from the Reynolds family story and Libby Holman, that no one could claim it bears any resemblance to the original. This is in order to forestall any possibility of legal trouble with Libby Holman and the rest of the Reynolds family.

I've just learned that Warners have an option on "Flamingo Road," also by Robert Wilder. If Jerry Wald can lick the censor problem involved, he will make it with Ann Sheridan, Sydney Greenstreet and other Warnerites. He is now working on the script in the hope that he can get the story he believes is there.

Ann, of course, would do "Serenade" first.

One thing I'll say for Jerry, when he sees he is licked on a story, he gives up in good grace rather than offend anyone—which is more than can be said for a lot of other producers.

I have seldom seen a more attractive youngster and a better young actress than Allene Roberts in "The Red House." She's really going places.

One of the first places she's going is back to New York where she started from. Five years ago, Allene was the protegee of the Daily Mirror who selected her as a likely candidate for a Hollywood contract.

But it wasn't all beer and skittles when she landed here. Her mother took a job in a studio wardrobe department to make enough money to stay here until Allene got her break. Then came Sol Lesser's mystery thriller, "The Red House," which will surely put her over.

P. S. When she returns to New York a full-fledged movie star, the Daily Mirror is fete-ing her with a big party.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Tommy Dorsey has been stepping around with Raven McBride, the very pretty model. The other eve, they were glimpsed first at a cafe eating dinner and later at a night-club at a table for two. All of which adds up to one thing—the Dorseys are actually separated.

They've parted and reconciled a dozen times before, but this is the first time Tommy has ever appeared with another girl in public, apparently their break is now out in the open.

While Bennett Cerf is here, he's being a plenty busy hombre. He tells me that Sinclair Lewis' new book "Kingsblood Royal," which is due in June, is a terrific story and one of Lewis' best.

"However, it's a difficult subject to film," says Cerf, "because it's a story of a man who after many years learns that he isn't entirely white and the attendant results of that discovery are tragic."

Bennett's been doing a lot of business with Anatole Litvak, among the stories discussed, of course, is "Snake Pt," which Litvak is to make for 20th.

The very busy Hugh King and his partner Harold Rose have just sold the "Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap," a book by D. D. Beauchamp and William Bowers. Isn't that a title? The buyers of this bright comedy are Lou Costello and Bud Abbott, no less.

I do hope they won't change this title—I think it's wonderful. Bet a cookie Bill Powers, one of the best comedy writers, thought it up.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The love light in Arnold Kunody's eyes is for Pat Clark. He and Jane Greer are as far apart as David Selznick and United Artists.

The Rex Harrisons eating artichokes and having dinner, just the two of them and apparently enjoying it.

Herbert Marshall and Boots Mallory Cagney at the same swank cafe together at the table they always occupy. August is now set for their marriage.

The same evening that Boots and Bart were dining together, Bill Cagney had dinner at Ciro's with a very pretty girl.

The King Brothers can't make "Cinderella" without trouble from the Johnston office. Don't get me wrong, I don't mean censor trouble—but Walt Disney has already registered the title and has asked his attorneys to so inform the King Brothers.

Gail Russell is wearing a locket in the shape of a heart around her neck. You guessed it—it was given her by Guy Madison.

Hedy Lamarr expects her baby March 1.

Carmelle Bergstrom, now Mrs. Bill George, is expecting a baby in May. She was once wed to the son of Fibber McGee and Molly.

June Preisser and Freddie Stewart will do a series of "Teen Age" films which Maurice Duke and Will Jason will make at Monogram.

Jacquelin White, RKO leading lady and cousin of the late secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, is expected to announce her engagement to Carl Ray Jr. He is now here to see her and 'tis said has brought the ring with him.

Harvey Priester, Hollywood insurance man, and Betty Alexander are very hot for any time of the year.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

"Self-starting" airplane tires, called "Rotovanes," that start rotating before the plane touches the ground by action of the airstream of fins built into their sidewalls, and thus greatly decrease the landing shock, are now in regular service on some airlines.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16—Did I tell you last week there wasn't going to be any competition for Ingrid Bergman as "Joan of Arc"? I take it all back. Greer Garson is the latest in the field, and here's how that came about:

The close friend and business associate of George Bernard Shaw, Gabriel Pascal, that is, telephoned to London to get permission to film "Saint Joan" with Greer as soon as it can be put on the screen. That little telephone call was made at the suggestion of Mike Levy, Pascal's agent, as well as Greer's representative.

Greer and Gabriel are old friends and knew each other in London, and now MGM will be asked to make the picture with Pascal. It will be mighty interesting to see which picture is finished first—Ingrid's "Joan of Arc" for Walter Wanger, or Greer's "Saint Joan" for Pascal.

Joan Fontaine has been shopping like mad to get ready for that Caribbean cruise she is taking with her bridegroom William Dozier. They leave the 22nd. She finished "Ivy" just a few days ago and she'll forget there is such a thing as a picture until she gets back.

I was greatly interested to hear that her next movie "Written On The Wind," Robert Wilder's novel, is now being called "Thunder On The Hill," and is so far removed from the Reynolds family story and Libby Holman, that no one could claim it bears any resemblance to the original. This is in order to forestall any possibility of legal trouble with Libby Holman and the rest of the Reynolds family.

I've just learned that Warners have an option on "Flamingo Road," also by Robert Wilder. If Jerry Wald can lick the censor problem involved, he will make it with Ann Sheridan, Sydney Greenstreet and other Warnerites. He is now working on the script in the hope that he can get the story he believes is there.

Ann, of course, would do "Serenade" first.

One thing I'll say for Jerry, when he sees he is licked on a story, he gives up in good grace rather than offend anyone—which is more than can be said for a lot of other producers.

I have seldom seen a more attractive youngster and a better young actress than Allene Roberts in "The Red House." She's really going places.

One of the first places she's going is back to New York where she started from. Five years ago, Allene was the protegee of the Daily Mirror who selected her as a likely candidate for a Hollywood contract.

But it wasn't all beer and skittles when she landed here. Her mother took a job in a studio wardrobe department to make enough money to stay here until Allene got her break. Then came Sol Lesser's mystery thriller, "The Red House," which will surely put her over.

P. S. When she returns to New York a full-fledged movie star, the Daily Mirror is fete-ing her with a big party.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Tommy Dorsey has been stepping around with Raven McBride, the very pretty model. The other eve, they were glimpsed first at a cafe eating dinner and later at a nightclub at a table for two. All of which adds up to one thing—the Dorseys are actually separated.

They've parted and reconciled a dozen times before, but this is the first time Tommy has ever appeared with another girl in public, apparently their break is now out in the open.

While Bennett Cerf is here, he's being a plenty busy hombre. He tells me that Sinclair Lewis' new book "Kingsblood Royal," which is due in June, is a terrific story and one of Lewis' best.

"However, it's a difficult subject to film," says Cerf, "because it's a story of a man who after many years learns that he isn't entirely white and the attendant results of that discovery are tragic."

Bennett's been doing a lot of business with Anatole Litvak, among the stories discussed, of course, is "Snake Pt," which Litvak is to make for 20th.

The very busy Hugh King and his partner Harold Rose have just sold the "Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap," a book by D. D. Beauchamp and William Bowers. Isn't that a title? The buyers of this bright comedy are Lou Costello and Bud Abbott, no less.

I do hope they won't change this title—I think it's wonderful. Bet a cookie Bill Powers, one of the best comedy writers, thought it up.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The love light in Arnold Kunody's eyes is for Pat Clark. He and Jane Greer are as far apart as David Selznick and United Artists.

The Rex Harrisons eating artichokes and having dinner, just the two of them and apparently enjoying it.

Herbert Marshall and Boots Mallory Cagney at the same swank cafe together at the table they always occupy. August is now set for their marriage.

The same evening that Boots and Bart were dining together, Bill Cagney had dinner at Ciro's with a very pretty girl.

The King Brothers can't make "Cinderella" without trouble from the Johnston office. Don't get me wrong, I don't mean censor trouble—but Walt Disney has already registered the title and has asked his attorneys to so inform the King Brothers.

Gail Russell is wearing a locket in the shape of a heart around her neck. You guessed it—it was given her by Guy Madison.

Hedy Lamarr expects her baby March 1.

Carmelle Bergstrom, now Mrs. Bill George, is expecting a baby in May. She was once wed to the son of Fibber McGee and Molly.

June Preisser and Freddie Stewart will do a series of "Teen Age" films which Maurice Duke and Will Jason will make at Monogram.

Jacquelin White, RKO leading lady and cousin of the late secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, is expected to announce her engagement to Carl Ray Jr. He is now here to see her and 'tis said has brought the ring with him.

Harvey Priester, Hollywood insurance man, and Betty Alexander are very hot for any time of the year.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

"Self-starting" airplane tires, called "Rotovanes," that start rotating before the plane touches the ground by action of the airstream of fins built into their sidewalls, and thus greatly decrease the landing shock, are now in regular service on some airlines.

Amvets Make Wheeling 11th Straight Victim

Local Pro Quint Defeats Valans By 78-61 Score

Oberhaus And Bell Top 33-Goal Attack

It rained field goals last night at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium as Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Amvets defeated the highly touted Wheeling (W. Va.) Valans in a hammer and tongs affair by the score of 78 to 61.

In scoring their eleventh straight triumph, and their 12th victory in 20 starts this season, the classy local aggregation meshed a total of 33 field goals and converted 12 of 17 free throws. Wheeling counted 24 times from the field and sent 13 out of 18 shots at the foul line spinning through the cords.

Last night's contest was easily the fastest of the fifteen home games played by the Amvets this season and the action was enjoyed by a good-sized turnout which included 789 cash customers.

Run Up 15 to 1 Lead

Bob Pence scored the first goal of the game and that was enough to clinch the victory as far as the Amvets were concerned as the Valans never caught the locals. Britt's free throw enabled Wheeling to trail at 2-1 and then the Amvets poured in 13 points in consecutive order to run the count to 15-1 before Charley Seabright, regular quarterback of the Pittsburgh Steelers' professional grid team, chalked up Wheeling's first fielder. Paul Oberhaus scored five goals and a free throw and Lou Bell connected for a fielder during the Amvets' sensational opening rally. The home team held a 20-9 lead when the first period ended.

Both teams caught fire in the second period and in ten minutes a total of 52 points were scored — 28 by the Amvets and 24 by the team sponsored by the West Virginia contracting firm. It was a give and take affair in this canto and at the intermission the count was 48-33.

In the third quarter the Amvets' offensive bogged down and eight minutes elapsed before the locals scored their first field goal. It was 51-45 with the Wheelingites right on the locals' heels when Lou Bell crashed through for the initial goal. Jimmie Quinlan, 6-foot-5 forward formerly of the Rochester Royals, 1946 National Professional League champions, registered from the field for Wheeling and Bell meshed a field goal and singleton to put the Amvets on the long end of a 56-47 score as the stanza came to a close.

Wheeling pulled up seven points in the rear at 58-51 early in the fourth quarter but the scoring combination of Paul Oberhaus, Lou Bell, Gus Frizzell, Bob Pence proved too much for the visitors to overcome as the teams battled it out to the wire. In the last ten minutes of play the locals jumped their lead from nine to 17 points.

Five Play Full Game

"Bobby" Cavanaugh failed to make a substitution and his five first stringers played the roles of "ironmen" by going at top speed the full 40 minutes. Oberhaus and Bell played the leading roles in the point-getting department with 26 and 24, Paul getting 11 fielders while Lou garnered 10. Bob Pence and Gus Frizzell pounded the baskets for 13 points each while Walter "Pooch" Orndorff got his two points' worth and played a nice floor game.

Jim Ruch and Quinlan were the "big guns" for the Valans with 19 and 16 points.

Wheeling scored its 17th victory of the season yesterday afternoon, taking the American Legion quint into camp, 100 to 70, at Hagerstown. The Valans suffered their sixth setback of the campaign last night. By winning the Amvets atoned for a 71-70 loss at the hands of the West Virginians earlier in the season.

"Chuck" Biehl was out of the Valans' lineup on account of illness. Earl Klevins was missing due to a leg injury which has caused him to be idle for several games.

Waldorf Named Football Coach At California

Leaves Northwestern After Eleven Years

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Lynn Waldorf, 44, Northwestern University football coach, today was named head football mentor at the University of California, Brutus Hamilton, acting general manager of the Associated Students of California, announced.

Waldorf confirmed his acceptance of the post by telephoning from Evanston, Ill., about 5 p. m. and said he would report to the Berkeley campus March 1.

The salary was not announced, but Hamilton said it was in line with present pay of football coaches in the Big Nine.

Waldorf, who has been gridiron coach at Northwestern for the past 12 years, will sign a three year contract.

Hamilton said Waldorf resigned as head coach of the Wildcats today at a special meeting of the Northwestern Board of Athletic Control, and received the "blessings" of Northwestern President Dr. Franklin Snyder.

Waldorf succeeds Frank Wickhorst whose contract was taken up by the Associated Students of the University of California after California's last football season, in which the Golden Bears won only two games of their schedule.

BRENNAN WILL SPEAK AT K. OF C. DINNER

Terry Brennan, halfback of Notre Dame university's undefeated football team during the 1946 season, will be one of the guest speakers at the annual sportsmanship dinner to be held here next month by Cumberland Council, Knights of Columbus.

Announcement that Brennan would come here was made Saturday by Jim Browning, chairman of the K. of C. committee.

The sportsmanship award is a gold inscribed watch and will go to a basketball player from Allegany, Fort Hill, LaSalle or Ridgeley High School.

The date for the dinner will be announced later.

LaSalle Scores 43 To 38 Victory Over Johnstown

Vanderhout, Snyder Rack Up 34 Points

LaSalle High School's floormen avenged a 39-18 drubbing by defeating Johnstown Catholic High School in the return game yesterday on SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 43 to 38.

It was the thirteenth victory against ten losses for Coach John J. Long's Explorers.

Two baskets by Clem Snyder and one by Bobby Vanderhout started LaSalle on the road to victory as the game got under way and the Blue and Gold never relinquished the lead during the 32-minute contest. The home team held a 13-9 advantage at the quarter and the closest that Coach Joe Majer's boys came to the Explorers was in the second period when a free throw by Leroy Leslie and Ben Frick's fielder put the Pennsylvanians a single point in the rear at 13-12. Four baskets by Vanderhout were responsible for giving the North Centre Street school a three-point edge at the intermission, 21-18.

Win In Third Period

LaSalle flashed its best form in the third quarter when it outscored the Keystone Staters, 16 to 8, to gain an eleven-point lead at 37-26 when the stanza was concluded. Jack "Moon" Stotler started the fireworks that netted nine consecutive points when he opened the period with a field goal, Snyder hooped three fouls and a fielder and Vanderhout connected with a lay-up to run the figures to 30-18. The Explorers held a 12-point lead at 34-22 when Snyder was banished on five personal fouls and Stotler's second goal of the quarter upped the local's advantage to 13 points at 37-24 before Pat Brady's goal concluded the scoring in this quarter.

Two double-deckers by Vanderhout enabled LaSalle to lead by 13 points in the final period at 39-26 and 41-28 and after Frick and Cloonan matched baskets the visitors made it a close finish by heaving in the last four goals—two by Frick and a like number by Bob Micklos, clever little guard of the Cambria county quint.

Johnstown presented a small team compared with LaSalle's lanky outfit but what they lacked in height they made up for in speed and clever passwork. In the final quarter the Johnnies made a last-ditch effort to pull the game out of the fire but in the clutch they seemed unable to connect on the easiest kind of shots. Three of their lay-ups spun around the hoop and then popped out.

Accident Marks Trip

The Johnstown team was late in arriving due to an automobile accident en route here. One of the machines skidded on the icy highway three miles from Johnstown and two boys were slightly injured. Bob Micklos suffered a gash on the top of his head but he was patched up and completed the trip to play here. Student Manager Sharbaugh suffered a cut on the forehead and he too sported a patch above an eye. Coach Majer said the players left Johnstown at 10:30 a. m., but the game didn't get started until 4 o'clock.

High scoring honors went to Bobby Vanderhout, who gathered 20 points on nine field goals and two charity tosses. LaSalle's lanky center got six goals in the first half and three in the second. Ben Frick garnered eight goals and 18 points for the visitors while Clem Snyder of the Explorers ably supported Vanderhout by meshing 14 points on five double-deckers and four singletons.

The defeat was Johnstown's third of the season. The Pennsy team has won fourteen games. Lineups:

The fourth round of games in the second half race of the Central YMCA's Senior Men's Basketball League will get under way tonight when Henry Hart Post No. 1411, V. F. W., plays the Ridgeley American Legion at 9 o'clock on the "Y" court.

Naval Reserve Granted Interstate Franchise

Everett Or Hyndman To Get 8th Berth

The Interstate Baseball League will operate with at least eight teams this season, it was assured yesterday when the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division was granted a franchise and one of two other applicants will be given berths this week.

A vote of the six teams in the circuit favored Everett, Pa., and the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division in that order as the new teams in the circut. The Ridgeley American Legion was the third choice.

Everett's representative promised that it will make a final decision on whether or not it will join the circuit by Tuesday night, G. Ray Lippold, league secretary-treasurer said.

The Naval Reserve team was granted a franchise after its representative posed $84, which includes the franchise fee of $50.

The league decided that if Everett does not join the circuit by Tuesday, the Ridgeley American Legion team will be granted the eighth berth.

Other teams in the loop are Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion; Centerville (Pa.) Reds; Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose; Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles, Moorefield American Legion and Barrelville.

It was decided to play a 28-game schedule with double headers on holidays and the elimination of as many Saturdays as possible. The umpires' fees for all games will be $6 for plate and base officials.

Lippold reported that the league has a balance of $753.65 in the treasury.

Phil Fleming, vice president, presided in the absence of President John J. Long. C. William Spangler, umpire-in-chief, also was in attendance.

Both carded 33s today in winding up the match. Snead's last two rounds of 69-71 gave him a total of 277 for the 72 holes. Locke added a 66 and 70 for 278.

Oklahoma Fades Out As Contender For NCAA Crown

Aggies Eliminated By St. Louis Team

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)—There will be a new NCAA basketball champion this year.

The Oklahoma Aggies, champions for the last two years, were knocked out of the picture on Friday night when they lost to St. Louis, 31 to 29. The defeat cost the Aggies their last chance to retain the Missouri Valley Conference title, the first step in the annual NCAA eliminations.

In some ways it was sad to see the Aggies bow out, especially after their brilliant start this year when they won 11 of 12 games, including an upset victory over Kentucky, generally recognized as the nation's No. 1 quintet. However, it adds more zest to the NCAA and Madison Square Garden invitation tournaments now just around the corner.

Tourney Choices Listed

The NCAA tournament choices currently shape up as follows:

DISTRICT ONE—Holy Cross and Rhode Island State the leading contenders with Vermont, upset last night by Clarkson, and Connecticut, outside possibilities. Harvard represented the district a year ago.

DISTRICT TWO—New York University, last year's choice, a strong contender along with Syracuse, West Virginia, Duquesne, Navy, Seton Hall and Columbia.

DISTRICT THREE—This usually goes to the winner of the Southern Conference championship tourney, now regarded as a tossup between Duke, North Carolina and N. C. State.

DISTRICT FOUR — Wisconsin seems a cinch as the honor usually goes to the Big Nine winner and Wisconsin, winner of eight of nine league games, appears "in" as the conference champion.

DISTRICT FIVE—This is the district in which the Oklahoma Aggies compete. The choice goes to the winner of a playoff between the winners of the Missouri Valley and Big Six conferences. Four teams are still in the running, St. Louis and Drake in the Missouri Valley, and Oklahoma and Missouri in the Big Six.

DISTRICT SIX—Texas appears a sure bet.

DISTRICT SEVEN—Either Wyoming or Utah, whichever wins the Big Seven championship.

DISTRICT EIGHT—This goes to the Pacific Coast Conference kings. UCLA and Oregon State are the current leaders in the Southern and Northern divisions, respectively.

Kentucky Appears Certain

As to the possible choices for the national invitational tourney, Kentucky appears certain of a bid. Coach Adolph Rupp's lads, also eligible for the district three NCAA nomination, in the past have chosen to play in the Garden affair. They won the tourney last year by a narrow one-point margin over Rhode Island State.

The Rhodies also may prefer to play in the Garden tourney. Their season record, along with West Virginia, Syracuse, Muhlenberg and Arizona, all of whom competed in the tourney last year, merits another bid. Duquesne, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, LaSalle, St. John's of Brooklyn and CCNY, along with Canisius, DePaul, Notre Dame, Bradley, Chicago Loyola and Loras doubtless will receive consideration. Duquesne, the only undefeated team left in the country, seems next in line after Kentucky.

Highlights of the week included Southern Methodist's two victories over Arkansas that virtually eliminated the Razorbacks from the Southwest Conference race; UCLA's two triumphs over California that bumped the Bears out of first place in the Southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference; North Carolina State's temporary jump over Duke to first place in the Southern Conference, only to fall back again when upset by Wake Forest; Columbia's victories over Penn and Cornell that kept the Lions undefeated in the Eastern Intercollegiate League; Navy's two-point victory over West Virginia that knocked the Mountaineers out of the unbeaten ranks; and Iowa State's upset victory over Missouri that bounced Missouri out of first place in the Big Six.

Bivins Is Favored

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16—(AP)—Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland is an 8 to 5 favorite over Curtis (The Hatchetman) Sheppard of Philadelphia in their 10-round heavyweight scrap tomorrow night at the Arena.

The two negroes, both willing mixers and knockout hitters, will be meeting for the third time. Bivins won both previous bouts by decisions.

Promoter Herman Taylor is hopeful of matching the winner with Jersey Joe Walcott late in March or April.

Jaycees Ask Maryland To Hold Cage Tourney

UNBEATEN DUQUESNE MEETS VALPARAISO

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16 (AP) — The Golden Dukes of Duquesne looking for a bid to either the NCAA or the National Invitational Basketball Tournaments, risk their unbeaten record against Valparaiso at McKeesport vocational high school gym tomorrow night.

The Dukes, only undefeated team in the country, have won 15 games compared to Valparaiso's record of 11 victories and 13 defeats. The Hoosiers dropped a 81-65 decision to Muhlenberg last Saturday at Allentown.

Legion Will Plan Baseball Tourney

Baltimore Session Set For March 2

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP)— A meeting has been called at the Westport Post headquarters March 2 to discuss the part Maryland will play in the annual national American Junior Baseball Tournament this summer, John McCarthy announced today.

McCarthy, departmental chairman of the Maryland Legion baseball program, said the finals would be staged this year at Hagerstown. A record turnout of 56 or more teams is expected to represent the Free State in the program.

Entries are limited to youths 16 years of age and under, with June 30 as the deadline for submitting a team roster.

At the preliminary session March 2, regulations as prescribed by the national committee will be explained to team representatives.

In the 1946 season, the Westport Pirates gained the sectional playoffs before being eliminated and after copping the Maryland championship.

The make-up of the Mountain District League, comprising Allegany county junior Legion teams, probably will be known at a meeting to be held Sunday, February 23.

It is understood that six posts intend to sponsor teams. They are Fort Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport, Midland and Eckhart. Arthur G. Ramey is president of the Mountain district loop.

Sheppard And Bivins Will Clash Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)—Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion from Washington, Pa., hits the comeback road tomorrow night in a ten-rounder against George Dixon of Indianapolis at Wheeling, W. Va., in one of the top bouts of the week.

Another major fight that same night matches Curtis (Hatchetman) Sheppard of Baltimore against formidable Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland in a ten-rounder at Philadelphia.

On Friday, Beau Jack, the windmill puncher from Augusta, Ga., will make his first appearance in New York's Madison Square Garden since last May when he takes on young Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., in a ten.

The week's fights include:

MONDAY—At Baltimore, Charley Burley, Pittsburgh, vs Bert Lytell, Fresno, Calif., middleweights, 10.

THURSDAY — At Washington, Billy Arnold, Philadelphia, vs Smug[illegible], Washington, welterweights, 10.

State Group Attacks Present HPEA Setup

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16—(AP) —The State Junior Chamber of Commerce, terming Maryland's program for interscholastic competitive sports "inadequate and unsatisfactory," has asked the University of Maryland to sponsor a statewide basketball tournament.

The suggestion was contained in a resolution of the organization's board of directors, which criticized sports programs of the Health and Physical Education Association in the Public Schools.

During the meeting here, the board also reiterated its stand for a $2,000 annual salary for teachers, establishment of a sound procedure for employment of state mental hospital personnel, and reduction of the work hours of hospital workers, the Holy Lands.

Preliminary plans for the state tournament games were discussed by representatives of schools in District No. 1, Saturday in Hagerstown. Arthur G. Ramey presided.

Allegany county's Class A titleholder, either Allegany or Fort Hill, will meet the winner of the Frederick-Hagerstown game of March 6 for the championship of the district.

If Hagerstown tops Frederick, the winner will meet AHS or Fort Hill here Friday, March 14. If Frederick wins the finale will be staged in Frederick.

Oakland High becomes the Class B representative of Garrett county.

Bruce will represent Allegany county in the Class C tourney while Barton will be the Class D representative. Barton will meet either Accident or Grantsville in the Garrett county town March 6.

Amvets Make Wheeling 11th Straight Victim

Local Pro Quint Defeats Valans By 78-61 Score

Oberhaus And Bell Top 33-Goal Attack

It rained field goals last night at SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium as Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Amvets defeated the highly touted Wheeling (W. Va.) Valans in a hammer and tongs affair by the score of 78 to 61.

In scoring their eleventh straight triumph, and their 12th victory in 20 starts this season, the classy local aggregation meshed a total of 33 field goals and converted 12 of 17 free throws. Wheeling counted 24 times from the field and sent 13 out of 18 shots at the foul line spinning through the cords.

Last night's contest was easily the fastest of the fifteen home games played by the Amvets this season and the action was enjoyed by a good-sized turnout which included 789 cash customers.

Run Up 15 to 1 Lead

Bob Pence scored the first goal of the game and that was enough to clinch the victory as far as the Amvets were concerned as the Valans never caught the locals. Britt's free throw enabled Wheeling to trail at 2-1 and then the Amvets poured in 13 points in consecutive order to run the count to 15-1 before Charley Seabright, regular quarterback of the Pittsburgh Steelers' professional grid team, chalked up Wheeling's first fielder. Paul Oberhaus scored five goals and a free throw and Lou Bell connected for a fielder during the Amvets' sensational opening rally. The home team held a 20-9 lead when the first period ended.

Both teams caught fire in the second period and in ten minutes a total of 52 points were scored — 28 by the Amvets and 24 by the team sponsored by the West Virginia contracting firm. It was a give and take affair in this canto and at the intermission the count was 48-33.

In the third quarter the Amvets' offensive bogged down and eight minutes elapsed before the locals scored their first field goal. It was 51-45 with the Wheelingites right on the locals' heels when Lou Bell crashed through for the initial goal. Jimmie Quinlan, 6-foot-5 forward formerly of the Rochester Royals, 1946 National Professional League champions, registered from the field for Wheeling and Bell meshed a field goal and singleton to put the Amvets on the long end of a 56-47 score as the stanza came to a close.

Wheeling pulled up seven points in the rear at 58-51 early in the fourth quarter but the scoring combination of Paul Oberhaus, Lou Bell, Gus Frizzell, Bob Pence proved too much for the visitors to overcome as the teams battled it out to the wire. In the last ten minutes of play the locals jumped their lead from nine to 17 points.

Five Play Full Game

"Bobby" Cavanaugh failed to make a substitution and his five first stringers played the roles of "ironmen" by going at top speed the full 40 minutes. Oberhaus and Bell played the leading roles in the point-getting department with 26 and 24, Paul getting 11 fielders while Lou garnered 10. Bob Pence and Gus Frizzell pounded the baskets for 13 points each while Walter "Pooch" Orndorff got his two points' worth and played a nice floor game.

Jim Ruch and Quinlan were the "big guns" for the Valans with 19 and 16 points.

Wheeling scored its 17th victory of the season yesterday afternoon, taking the American Legion quint into camp, 100 to 70, at Hagerstown. The Valans suffered their sixth setback of the campaign last night. By winning the Amvets atoned for a 71-70 loss at the hands of the West Virginians earlier in the season.

"Chuck" Biehl was out of the Valans' lineup on account of illness. Earl Klevins was missing due to a leg injury which has caused him to be idle for several games.

Waldorf Named Football Coach At California

Leaves Northwestern After Eleven Years

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 16 (AP)—Lynn Waldorf, 44, Northwestern University football coach, today was named head football mentor at the University of California, Brutus Hamilton, acting general manager of the Associated Students of California, announced.

Waldorf confirmed his acceptance of the post by telephoning from Evanston, Ill., about 5 p. m. and said he would report to the Berkeley campus March 1.

The salary was not announced, but Hamilton said it was in line with present pay of football coaches in the Big Nine.

Waldorf, who has been gridiron coach at Northwestern for the past 12 years, will sign a three year contract.

Hamilton said Waldorf resigned as head coach of the Wildcats today at a special meeting of the Northwestern Board of Athletic Control, and received the "blessings" of Northwestern President Dr. Franklin Snyder.

Waldorf succeeds Frank Wickhorst whose contract was taken up by the Associated Students of the University of California after California's last football season, in which the Golden Bears won only two games of their schedule.

Announcement that Brennan would come here was made Saturday by Jim Browning, chairman of the K. of C. committee.

LaSalle Scores 43 To 38 Victory Over Johnstown

Vanderhout, Snyder Rack Up 34 Points

LaSalle High School's floormen avenged a 39-18 drubbing by defeating Johnstown Catholic High School in the return game yesterday on SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 43 to 38.

It was the thirteenth victory against ten losses for Coach John J. Long's Explorers.

Two baskets by Clem Snyder and one by Bobby Vanderhout started LaSalle on the road to victory as the game got under way and the Blue and Gold never relinquished the lead during the 32-minute contest. The home team held a 13-9 advantage at the quarter and the closest that Coach Joe Majer's boys came to the Explorers was in the second period when a free throw by Leroy Leslie and Ben Frick's fielder put the Pennsylvanians a single point in the rear at 13-12. Four baskets by Vanderhout were responsible for giving the North Centre Street school a three-point edge at the intermission, 21-18.

Win In Third Period

LaSalle flashed its best form in the third quarter when it outscored the Keystone Staters, 16 to 8, to gain an eleven-point lead at 37-26 when the stanza was concluded. Jack "Moon" Stotler started the fireworks that netted nine consecutive points when he opened the period with a field goal, Snyder hooped three fouls and a fielder and Vanderhout connected with a layup to run the figures to 30-18. The Explorers held a 12-point lead at 34-22 when Snyder was banished on five personal fouls and Stotler's second goal of the quarter upped the local's advantage to 13 points at 37-24 before Pat Brady's goal concluded the scoring in this quarter.

Two double-deckers by Vanderhout enabled LaSalle to lead by 13 points in the final period at 39-26 and 41-28 and after Frick and Cloonan matched baskets the visitors made it a close finish by heaving in the last four goals—two by Frick and a like number by Bob Micklos, clever little guard of the Cambria county quint.

Johnstown presented a small team compared with LaSalle's lanky outfit but what they lacked in height they made up for in speed and clever passwork. In the final quarter the Johnnies made a last-ditch effort to pull the game out of the fire but in the clutch they seemed unable to connect on the easiest kind of shots. Three of their lay-ups spun around the hoop and then popped out.

Accident Marks Trip

The Johnstown team was late in arriving due to an automobile accident en route here. One of the machines skidded on the icy highway three miles from Johnstown and two boys were slightly injured. Bob Micklos suffered a gash on the top of his head but he was patched up and completed the trip to play here. Student Manager Sharbaugh suffered a cut on the forehead and he too sported a patch above an eye. Coach Majer said the players left Johnstown at 10:30 a. m., but the game didn't get started until 4 o'clock.

High scoring honors went to Bobby Vanderhout, who gathered 20 points on nine field goals and two charity tosses. LaSalle's lanky center got six goals in the first half and three in the second. Ben Frick garnered eight goals and 18 points for the visitors while Clem Snyder of the Explorers ably supported Vanderhout by meshing 14 points on five double-deckers and four singletons.

The defeat was Johnstown's third of the season. The Pennsy team has won fourteen games. Lineups:

Naval Reserve Granted Interstate Franchise

Everett Or Hyndman To Get 8th Berth

The Interstate Baseball League will operate with at least eight teams this season, it was assured yesterday when the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division was granted a franchise and one of two other applicants will be given berths this week.

A vote of the six teams in the circuit favored Everett, Pa., and the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division in that order as the new teams in the circut. The Ridgeley American Legion was the third choice.

Everett's representative promised that it will make a final decision on whether or not it will join the circuit by Tuesday night, G. Ray Lippold, league secretary-treasurer said.

The Naval Reserve team was granted a franchise after its representative posed $84, which includes the franchise fee of $50.

The league decided that if Everett does not join the circuit by Tuesday, the Ridgeley American Legion team will be granted the eighth berth.

Other teams in the loop are Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion; Centerville (Pa.) Reds; Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose; Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles, Moorefield American Legion and Barrelville.

It was decided to play a 28-game schedule with double headers on holidays and the elimination of as many Saturdays as possible. The umpires' fees for all games will be $6 for plate and base officials.

Lippold reported that the league has a balance of $753.65 in the treasury.

Oklahoma Fades Out As Contender For NCAA Crown

Aggies Eliminated By St. Louis Team

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)—There will be a new NCAA basketball champion this year.

The Oklahoma Aggies, champions for the last two years, were knocked out of the picture on Friday night when they lost to St. Louis, 31 to 29. The defeat cost the Aggies their last chance to retain the Missouri Valley Conference title, the first step in the annual NCAA eliminations.

In some ways it was sad to see the Aggies bow out, especially after their brilliant start this year when they won 11 of 12 games, including an upset victory over Kentucky, generally recognized as the nation's No. 1 quintet. However, it adds more zest to the NCAA and Madison Square Garden invitation tournaments now just around the corner.

Tourney Choices Listed

The NCAA tournament choices currently shape up as follows:

DISTRICT ONE—Holy Cross and Rhode Island State the leading contenders with Vermont, upset last night by Clarkson, and Connecticut, outside possibilities. Harvard represented the district a year ago.

DISTRICT TWO—New York University, last year's choice, a strong contender along with Syracuse, West Virginia, Duquesne, Navy, Seton Hall and Columbia.

DISTRICT THREE—This usually goes to the winner of the Southern Conference championship tourney, now regarded as a tossup between Duke, North Carolina and N. C. State.

DISTRICT FOUR — Wisconsin seems a cinch as the honor usually goes to the Big Nine winner and Wisconsin, winner of eight of nine league games, appears "in" as the conference champion.

DISTRICT FIVE—This is the district in which the Oklahoma Aggies compete. The choice goes to the winner of a playoff between the winners of the Missouri Valley and Big Six conferences. Four teams are still in the running, St. Louis and Drake in the Missouri Valley, and Oklahoma and Missouri in the Big Six.

DISTRICT SIX—Texas appears a sure bet.

DISTRICT SEVEN—Either Wyoming or Utah, whichever wins the Big Seven championship.

DISTRICT EIGHT—This goes to the Pacific Coast Conference kings, UCLA and Oregon State are the current leaders in the Southern and Northern divisions, respectively.

Kentucky Appears Certain

As to the possible choices for the national invitational tourney, Kentucky appears certain of a bid. Coach Adolph Rupp's lads, also eligible for the district three NCAA nomination, in the past have chosen to play in the Garden affair. They won the tourney last year by a narrow one-point margin over Rhode Island State.

The Rhodies also may prefer to play in the Garden tourney. Their season record, along with West Virginia, Syracuse, Muhlenberg and Arizona, all of whom competed in the tourney last year, merits another bid. Duquesne, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, LaSalle, St. John's of Brooklyn and CCNY, along with Canisius, DePaul, Notre Dame, Bradley, Chicago Loyola and Loras doubtless will receive consideration. Duquesne, the only undefeated team left in the country, seems next in line after Kentucky.

Highlights of the week included Southern Methodist's two victories over Arkansas that virtually eliminated the Razorbacks from the Southwest Conference race; UCLA's two triumphs over California that bumped the Bears out of first place in the Southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference; North Carolina State's temporary jump over Duke to first place in the Southern Conference, only to fall back again when upset by Wake Forest; Columbia's victories over Penn and Cornell that kept the Lions undefeated in the Eastern Intercollegiate League; Navy's two-point victory over West Virginia that knocked the Mountaineers out of the unbeaten ranks; and Iowa State's upset victory over Missouri that bounced Missouri out of first place in the Big Six.

Promoter Herman Taylor is hopeful of matching the winner with Jersey Joe Walcott late in March or April.

Jaycees Ask Maryland To Hold Cage Tourney

State Group Attacks Present HPEA Setup

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16—(AP)—The State Junior Chamber of Commerce, terming Maryland's program for interscholastic competitive sports "inadequate and unsatisfactory," has asked the University of Maryland to sponsor a statewide basketball tournament.

The suggestion was contained in a resolution of the organization's board of directors, which criticized sports programs of the Health and Physical Education Association in the Public Schools.

During the meeting here, the board also reiterated its stand for a $2,000 annual salary for teachers, establishment of a sound procedure for employment of state mental hospital personnel, and reduction of the work hours of hospital workers, the Holy Lands.

Preliminary plans for the state tournament games were discussed by representatives of schools in District No. 1, Saturday in Hagerstown, Arthur G. Ramey presided.

Allegany county's Class A titleholder, either Allegany or Fort Hill, will meet the winner of the Frederick-Hagerstown game of March 6 for the championship of the district.

If Hagerstown tops Frederick, the winner will meet AHS or Fort Hill here Friday, March 14. If Frederick wins the finale will be staged in Frederick.

Oakland High becomes the Class B representative of Garrett county.

Bruce will represent Allegany county in the Class C tourney while Barton will be the Class D representative. Barton will meet either Accident or Grantsville in the Garrett county town March 6.

UNBEATEN DUQUESNE MEETS VALPARAISO

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 16 (AP) — The Golden Dukes of Duquesne looking for a bid to either the NCAA or the National Invitational Basketball Tournaments, risk their unbeaten record against Valparaiso at McKeesport vocational high school gym tomorrow night.

The Dukes, only undefeated team in the country, have won 15 games compared to Valparaiso's record of 11 victories and 13 defeats. The Hoosiers dropped a 81-65 decision to Muhlenberg last Saturday at Allentown.

Legion Will Plan Baseball Tourney

Baltimore Session Set For March 2

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16 (AP)— A meeting has been called at the Westport Post headquarters March 2 to discuss the part Maryland will play in the annual national American Junior Baseball Tournament this summer, John McCarthy announced today.

McCarthy, departmental chairman of the Maryland Legion baseball program, said the finals would be staged this year at Hagerstown. A record turnout of 56 or more teams is expected to represent the Free State in the program.

Entries are limited to youths 16 years of age and under, with June 30 as the deadline for submitting a team roster.

At the preliminary session March 2, regulations as prescribed by the national committee will be explained to team representatives.

In the 1946 season, the Westport Pirates gained the sectional playoffs before being eliminated and after copping the Maryland championship.

The make-up of the Mountain District League, comprising Allegany county junior Legion teams, probably will be known at a meeting to be held Sunday, February 23.

It is understood that six posts intend to sponsor teams. They are Fort Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Westernport, Midland and Eckhart. Arthur G. Ramey is president of the Mountain district loop.

Sheppard And Bivins Will Clash Tonight

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—(AP)—Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion from Washington, Pa., hits the comeback road tomorrow night in a ten-rounder against George Dixon of Indianapolis at Wheeling, W. Va., in one of the top bouts of the week.

Another major fight that same night matches Curtis (Hatchetman) Sheppard of Baltimore against formidable Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland in a ten-rounder at Philadelphia.

On Friday, Beau Jack, the windmill puncher from Augusta, Ga., will make his first appearance in New York's Madison Square Garden since last May when he takes on young Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., in a ten.

The week's fights include:

MONDAY—At Baltimore, Charley Burley, Pittsburgh, vs Bert Lytell, Fresno, Calif., middleweights, 10.

THURSDAY — At Washington, Billy Arnold, Philadelphia, vs Smug-[illegible], Washington, welterweights, 10.

PARSONS, W. Va., Feb. 16—A funeral service for Rev. Dr. Joseph William Bedford, 96, oldest minister in the West Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church and prohibition nominee for governor in 1904, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in First Methodist Church. Dr. Bedford died yesterday at 1 p. m. at the home of his niece, Mrs. Ethel Bedford, with whom he had resided for the past two years.

Dr. Bedford was in Fulton county, Pa., during the Civil War. He remembered General Milroy's retreat from Winchester and heard the shelling of Gettysburg, Pa., and Hancock, Md.

Taught One Year

Born December 5, 1850, in Whipscove, Fulton County, Dr. Bedford was a son of the late Hamilton Jefferson and Mary Ann Wilson Bedford. He was the last surviving member of a family of seven, two of whom were ordained Methodist ministers. After receiving his early education in the common schools of Pennsylvania, he received his teacher's certificate in 1868 and taught one year.

In 1871 he was married to Miss Mary C. Furlow, Oldtown, Md., who died here in 1932. Receiving his license to preach in January, 1873, at the quarterly conference held at Everett, Pa., Dr. Bedford worked weekdays for the railroad and spent Sundays and evenings preaching and helping with revival meetings. His first charge was as supply pastor for the Schellsburg, Pa., Circuit, to which he was appointed in 1873.

Published Newspapers

Dr. Bedford gained the nickname "Walking Joe" by tramping over 3,000 miles while reorganizing the Logan and Sandy Circuit in 1874. He walked 50 miles over the mountains to the Huntington District to make his conference report.

Combining newspaper work with his church duties, Dr. Bedford published the West Virginia Methodist for several years in Winfield; the Religious Gleaner in Deer Park, Md., and the Mountain State Patriot here after he was assigned to Parsons in 1901 to fill a charge of three churches in this district. In 1900, Taylor University in Indiana gave him an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

His most recent charges were those at Elk Garden, Logan, Parsons, Thomas, Bayard, Hambleton and Hendricks, which he served in a supernumerary capacity after ill health in 1910 forced him to restrict his activities.

Former Speaker Dies In Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 14—(AP)—Ralph M. Hiner, 50, Assistant State Attorney General and former Speaker of the House of Delegates, died today in a Charleston hospital after a long illness of heart disease.

Mrs. Hiner and their only son, Ben H. Hiner, were at the bedside when death occurred at 4:55 a. m.

The tax limitation amendment had just been ratified by the people, making it necessary for the state to provide indirect methods of taxation, such as the consumers' sales taxes.

In 1936, Hiner was defeated by M. M. Neely, of Fairmont, for the Democratic nomination for United States Senate, and he never again sought elective office.

Taught One Year

Born December 5, 1850, in Whipscove, Fulton County, Dr. Bedford was a son of the late Hamilton Jefferson and Mary Ann Wilson Bedford. He was the last surviving member of a family of seven, two of whom were ordained Methodist ministers. After receiving his early education in the common schools of Pennsylvania, he received his teacher's certificate in 1868 and taught one year.

In 1871 he was married to Miss Mary C. Furlow, Oldtown, Md., who died here in 1932. Receiving his license to preach in January, 1873, at the quarterly conference held at Everett, Pa., Dr. Bedford worked weekdays for the railroad and spent Sundays and evenings preaching and helping with revival meetings. His first charge was as supply pastor for the Schellsburg, Pa., Circuit, to which he was appointed in 1873.

Dr. Bedford gained the nickname "Walking Joe" by tramping over 3,000 miles while reorganizing the Logan and Sandy Circuit in 1874. He walked 50 miles over the mountains to the Huntington District to make his conference report.

Combining newspaper work with his church duties, Dr. Bedford published the West Virginia Methodist for several years in Winfield; the Religious Gleaner in Deer Park, Md., and the Mountain State Patriot here after he was assigned to Parsons in 1901 to fill a charge of three churches in this district. In 1900, Taylor University in Indiana gave him an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

His most recent charges were those at Elk Garden, Logan, Parsons, Thomas, Bayard, Hambleton and Hendricks, which he served in a supernumerary capacity after ill health in 1910 forced him to restrict his activities.

Charles A. Steiding, Frank Rice and Henry Dayton were selected as delegates to the convention. In their sight conservation program the club has been furnishing glasses to children whose parents are not able to do so.

Mrs. Henry C. Peters acting as tail twister, was in charge of entertainment. Group singing was directed by Mrs. Frank A. Hott with Mrs. Clyde Hott presiding at the piano. There were special numbers by Miss Jean McNeill and Mrs. A. V. Gallion.

Phil Jordan and others entertained with Irish and negro sketches. The meeting closed with the group singing "Goodnight Sweetheart." Eighty-five members and guests attended.

Muriel Fisher Is Bride

Miss Muriel Elizabeth Fisher and Bernard Boritz were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. G. Fisher, 121 Overton Place, Friday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. John C. B. McLaughlin, pastor First Presbyterian Church officiating at the single ring ceremony. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Leonard Withers.

Mrs. John W. Barger, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; James Moritz of Chicago, was his brother's best man.

Mrs. Moritz is the daughter of Mrs. Fisher and the late Harry G. Fisher, for many years an attorney in Keyser. She is a graduate of Potomac State School and William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va. She received her bachelor of laws degree from Cornell University and until recently was employed with the Depjartment of Justice in Washington.

Mr. Moritz is the son of Mrs. Birdie Moritz, Michigan City, Ind., and the late Moses Moritz. He received his AB and JSD degrees from the University of Chicago. He served three years in the Army and is employed with the Department of Justice in Washington.

A reception was held in the Fisher home. After a wedding tour through North and South Carolina Mr. and Mrs. Moritz will reside in Washington.

Thirteen Arrests Made

Thirteen arrests on charges of drunkenness, disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace were reported by city officers in two days. All violators appeared in Police court and paid fines or were ordered to work them out in the stone quarry.

Brief Mention

The Mineral County Board of Education received a new school bus last week which will be put in service in Piedmont. The bus in use there will be placed on the Short Gap run, to replace the bus wrecked on that run several weeks ago. This is the first piece of new transportation equipment received this year, Superintendent Idleman stated. Other units are on order.

Mrs. Opal Cannon, Mrs. Byron Kesner, Miss Dorothy Miller and Delbert Mills of Keyser, and Mrs. Virginia Shanholtz, Mrs. Mildred Baker and Kemp Bane, of Elk Garden, have been admitted to Potomac Valley hospital.

Mrs. Owen H. Dorsey, who was a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, has returned to her home, 86 South Mineral Street.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors of Mrs. Clara Winn and Miss Jane Conner and family for their kindness and sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Clara Winn. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

MRS. WINN'S CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, who departed from this life two years ago today, February 17, 1945.

And of many sad regrets,
A day I shall always keep in mind
When the rest of the world forgets.

A precious one from me has gone,
The voice I loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in my home,
Which never can be filled.

Sadly missed by his wife,
Mamie Upole.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank the friends and neighbors of Mrs. Clara Winn and Miss Jane Conner and family for their kindness and sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Clara Winn. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

MRS. WINN'S CHILDREN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, who departed from this life two years ago today, February 17, 1945.

Today is a day of remembrance
And of many sad regrets,
A day I shall always keep in mind
When the rest of the world forgets.

A precious one from me has gone,
The voice I loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in my home,
Which never can be filled.

Badly missed by his wife,
Mamie Upole.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Soviet Listener

While in Moscow on his round-the-world air trip, Norman Corwin, whose "One World Flight" series of broadcasts may be heard Tuesday nights (CBS 10 p. m. EST), interviewed among other persons Vasilli Ardamatsky, the Soviet radio committee's chief editor of literature broadcasts.

John Crosby

The interview contained the usual amount of cautious gobbledygook characteristic of all statements from Soviet officialdom, but it also revealed that Russian audiences are not much different from our own.

"The (Russian) listeners," said Mr. Ardamatsky, "like good broadcasts. . . . They want high quality."

"How do they indicate that they want high quality—by letters?" asked Mr. Corwin.

"We have read a great many letters on making bad broadcasts," said Mr. Ardamatsky. "They all send in a great many letters which make sad reading." This is an experience shared by all American broadcasters, who may find comfort in knowing the Russian masses are not so oppressed they can't find time to squawk about radio programs.

"How long does it take them to forgive you?" asked Mr. Corwin.

The Russian's answer is a classic. The Russian listeners, he said, were quick to forgive the broadcasters for an annoying program because five other equally annoying broadcasts soon came along to distract their attention.

In this respect, Mr. Ardamatsky pointed out triumphantly, Russian radio was no different from radio in any other country.

The interview was transcribed on a wire recorder and in conclusion Mr. Corwin asked Mr. Ardamatsky to deliver some message to the American people "about radio, about peace, about the future." The Russian's candor instantly disappeared at the mention of such controversial words as "peace" and "the future." His reply indicated that Mr. Ardamatsky will never get into any trouble with the Kremlin for making loose statements.

"I prefer to talk about the weather," he said. "The weather shouldn't be upset by all sorts of artificially manufactured storms . . I say—weather of the world, clear!"

"For Your Approval" (Mutual 5 p. m. EST Saturdays) is a showcase for new radio programs tried out for listener reaction and presented in the wistful hope that some advertiser may be interested enough to sponsor some of them. The program is less experimental than CBS's "Columbia Workshop" and is conducted on a far lower plane. Nevertheless, it does offer an outlet for new and untested programs.

Most of the recent innovations have been quiz programs, as if there weren't enough of that commodity on the air already. However, one of them, "The Seven Arts Quiz," was a fairly literate program as quiz shows go. Here are a few of the questions:

1. A certain popular movie star is known in Italy as Topolino, in Sweden as Musse Pig, in Japan as Mikikuchi, in Central America as El Raton Miguelito. What do Americans call him?
2. What were the sources of the book titles "The Grapes of Wrath," "The Sound and the Fury," "Of Mice and Men" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls?"
3. Who said, "The art of writing is the art of applying the seat of the pants to the seat of the chair?"
4. What composers wrote into their scores (a) a wind machine (b) a typewriter?
5. In what American play is there a family called the St. Clares?

Rubenstein Is Guest Artist On NBC Tonight At 9

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—Guest soloist for the Don Voorhees concert on NBC at 9 o'clock Monday night is Arthur Rubenstein, Polish pianist. It will be his first appearance in the series. Of three numbers he will include Rachmaninoff's concreto No. 2.

CBS is offering a couple of new programs, one a quiz "Hint Hunt," which previously had a Chicago tryout. It gets its title from the fact the questions deal with household suggestions, and will be on five times a week at 3:45 p. m. each broadcast 15 minutes. The other, actually not a new series, but a change in the 6 o'clock newscast. Hereafter it will be Eric Sevareid instead of Quincy Howe.

The second part of the educational series, "School Teacher — 1947" will go on ABC at 9 in place of the regular program quota. The first half will be "The Profession' and the second at 9:30 "The Prospects."

This being the annual Golden Gloves bout season, MBS will have a half-hour thereof from New York at 11:15 as the light heavyweights go into their finals.

In celebration of the 50th anniversary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, a special program is going on NBC at 1 p. m. In addition to drama, various speakers will be heard, including representative from Canada and Great Britain.

Ida Lupino, together with Vincent Price, and Virginia Bruce is acting in "Devotion" for the Radio Theater of CBS at 9. . . .An hour earlier on NBC at 8 there be Chester Morris to perform in "Man Against the Mountain" as the Cavalcade drama.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Soviet Listener

While in Moscow on his round-the-world air trip, Norman Corwin, whose "One World Flight" series of broadcasts may be heard Tuesday nights (CBS 10 p. m. EST), interviewed among other persons Vasilii Ardamatsky, the Soviet radio committee's chief editor of literature broadcasts.

John Crosby

The interview contained the usual amount of cautious gobbledygook characteristic of all statements from Soviet officialdom, but it also revealed that Russian audiences are not much different from our own.

"The (Russian) listeners," said Mr. Ardamatsky, "like good broadcasts. . . . They want high quality."

"How do they indicate that they want high quality—by letters?" asked Mr. Corwin.

"We have read a great many letters on making bad broadcasts," said Mr. Ardamatsky. "They all send in a great many letters which make sad reading." This is an experience shared by all American broadcasters, who may find comfort in knowing the Russian masses are not so oppressed they can't find time to squawk about radio programs.

"How long does it take them to forgive you?" asked Mr. Corwin. The Russian's answer is a classic. The Russian listeners, he said, were quick to forgive the broadcasters for an annoying program because five other equally annoying broadcasts soon came along to distract their attention.

In this respect, Mr. Ardamatsky pointed out triumphantly, Russian radio was no different from radio in any other country.

The interview was transcribed on a wire recorder and in conclusion Mr. Corwin asked Mr. Ardamatsky to deliver some message to the American people "about radio, about peace, about the future." The Russian's candor instantly disappeared at the mention of such controversial words as "peace" and "the future." His reply indicated that Mr. Ardamatsky will never get into any trouble with the Kremlin for making loose statements.

"I prefer to talk about the weather," he said. "The weather shouldn't be upset by all sorts of artificially manufactured storms . . . I say—weather of the world, clear!"

"For Your Approval" (Mutual 5 p. m. EST Saturdays) is a showcase for new radio programs tried out for listener reaction and presented in the wistful hope that some advertiser may be interested enough to sponsor some of them. The program is less experimental than CBS's "Columbia Workshop" and is conducted on a far lower plane. Nevertheless, it does offer an outlet for new and untested programs.

Most of the recent innovations have been quiz programs, as if there weren't enough of that commodity on the air already. However, one of them, "The Seven Arts Quiz," was a fairly literate program as quiz shows go. Here are a few of the questions:

1. A certain popular movie star is known in Italy as Topolino, in Sweden as Musse Pig, in Japan as Mikikuchi, in Central America as El Raton Miguelito. What do Americans call him?
2. What were the sources of the book titles "The Grapes of Wrath," "The Sound and the Fury," "Of Mice and Men" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls?"
3. Who said, "The art of writing is the art of applying the seat of the pants to the seat of the chair?"
4. What composers wrote into their scores (a) a wind machine (b) a typewriter?
5. In what American play is there a family called the St. Clares?

Rubenstein Is Guest Artist On NBC Tonight At 9

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—Guest soloist for the Don Voorhees concert on NBC at 9 o'clock Monday night is Arthur Rubenstein, Polish pianist. It will be his first appearance in the series. Of three numbers he will include Rachmaninoff's concreto No. 2.

CBS is offering a couple of new programs, one a quiz "Hint Hunt," which previously had a Chicago tryout. It gets its title from the fact the questions deal with household suggestions, and will be on five times a week at 3:45 p. m. each broadcast 15 minutes. The other, actually not a new series, but a change in the 6 o'clock newscast. Hereafter it will be Eric Sevareid instead of Quincy Howe.

The second part of the educational series, "School Teacher — 1947" will go on ABC at 9 in place of the regular program quota. The first half will be "The Profession" and the second at 9:30 "The Prospects."

This being the annual Golden Gloves bout season, MBS will have a half-hour thereof from New York at 11:15 as the light heavyweights go into their finals.

In celebration of the 50th anniversary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, a special program is going on NBC at 1 p. m. In addition to drama, various speakers will be heard, including representative from Canada and Great Britain.

Ida Lupino, together with Vincent Price, and Virginia Bruce is acting in "Devotion" for the Radio Theater of CBS at 9. . . .An hour earlier on NBC at 8 there be Chester Morris to perform in "Man Against the Mountain" as the Cavalcade drama.

Hegar Woman Charged With Murdering Infant

Maysville Resident Held Without Bond

Miss Josephine Hegar, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hegar, Maysville, W. Va., was held without bond on a charge of murder Saturday following an inquest into the death of a new-born infant, found in the pit of an outside toilet at her home February 8.

A six man jury, headed by C. H. Park, Grant County coroner, Saturday returned a verdict that the un-named female infant died from exposure "after being dropped into the pit in the outside toilet," shortly after birth, Park said.

The woman, a graduate of Petersburg, W. Va., High School, was taken into custody February 8 after investigating officers, acting on a tip from nearby neighbors, found the body of the infant in the pit under a toilet seat.

Following the inquest, which began in Maysville February 8, and ended in Petersburg Saturday, Miss Hegar was Arraigned before Park, who also serves as justice of the peace, and ordered held without bond on the murder count, after she waived a preliminary hearing and entered no plea.

The woman, accused of delivering the baby in the toilet and throwing it into the pit, is being held in Grant County Jail for action of the April term of grand jury which will convene April 8.

Park said no mention of the child's father was made during the inquest or the arraignment, and stated that neither of the woman's parents was present at the hearing. He added, however, that her father has visited her in jail, where she has been held since her arrest.

Authorities said the investigation into the case began after neighbors saw the woman enter the toilet in a pregnant condition and became suspicious after she walked back to her home "apparently normal."

No other charges were made in the case, authorities said. They explained that the woman had lived with her parents for several months before the infant was born. The toilet was pushed over and an inspection of the pit revealed the partially submerged body of the infant, authorities said.

Investigating officials said they believe Miss Hegar went to the toilet and delivered the child without aid, then threw it into the pit where it died from exposure.

The infant's body will be buried today in the Maysville cemetery.

The Hegar woman was arrested by Cpl. O. G. Webley and Trooper E. L. Roush, of the West Virginia State Police, but even after the hearing yesterday, authorities refused to confirm a report from a reliable source that she had signed a statement admitting the crime.

Miss Hegar was described as an intelligent woman who has lived in the Maysville section most of her life. Until a year ago she was employed in a Petersburg grocery store.

Attorney D. E. Cuppett, Jr., represented Miss Hegar at the hearing Saturday, but gave no indication of what plea the woman will make when taken into court.

The jury consisted of B. G. Roby, Jr., Lester Riggleman, E. H. Smith, John A. Berg, Frank Day and Ivan Teter.

Children's Heart Clinic Is Planned

A clinic for rheumatic fever and heart ailments among children of school age and under will be opened here in April, sponsored jointly by the Health Department, the Allegany County League for Crippled Children and Mountain District, American Legion, according to Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer.

Examining physician at the clinic, which will be held monthly in the City Hall basement, will be Dr. Margaret Sullivan, Hagerstown, noted pediatrician who studied under Dr. Helen Taussig of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Dr. Taussig worked with Dr. Alfred Blalock, Baltimore, who is famed for his "blue baby" operations.

Appointments will be made for children by their own doctors or through the clinics held at county schools, Dr. Franklin said. The recently purchased X-ray and fluoroscope will be used.

An electrocardiograph purchased by Mountain District, American Legion, will also be used. The League for Crippled Children voted $500 toward setting up the clinic.

Dr. Franklin said the clinic will be of great aid in combatting rheumatic fever, the leading fatal disease among school children. Dates for the clinic will be announced later.

The dog was stunned for several hours and refused to come out of a corner where he ran, but was not otherwise injured, authorities said.

Reception Is Held At Parish Hall

Father Stanley Miltenberger, who was ordained February 11 at the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D. C., celebrated his first solemn high mass yesterday at 9:30 a. m. at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Preceding the mass, Father Stanley and ministers of the mass marched in a processional from Ursuline Academy to the church. Ministers of the mass were Father Stanley, celebrant; Father David Dressman, subdeacon; Father Louis Miltenberger, deacon; Father Irenaeus, pastor, who was arch priest; and Father Peter Homan, master of novices at SS. Club Liquor License Refused

An application for a liquor license, applied for by the Italo-American Political League of Allegany County, Inc., 62 North Centre Street, was refused Saturday following a hearing in Circuit Court.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson refused to grant the license on the grounds that the club, which claims "about 100" members, is not a bona fide organization.

Dora A. Owens, 731 Virginia avenue, operator of a restaurant applied for a Class D beer license.

A hearing was held on a contempt charge against James F. Bonner, a local taxicab driver, whose wife, Mrs. Mabel W. Bonner, filed suit for an absolute divorce last year. Estel C. Kelly, counsel for the wife, brought the contempt charge, alleging that Bonner failed to comply with a court order to pay $40 counsel fees as ordered. The judges ruled that he must pay the fee by April 1.

William L. Wellings filed suit for a divorce from Mrs. Marie P. Wellings.

Liquor Case Decision May Come In March

A decision on the appeal testing the legality of the 1933 liquor control act in Allegany County is not expected until after March 15 since the Court of Appeals has taken a recess until early next month, county officials learned yesterday.

The court heard the appeal two weeks ago after Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, Hagerstown ruled last year that the act is constitutional. The test case was first filed by Eldred A. Cromwell, operator of the Elda Inn, near Cumberland, against Clerk of the Court Robert Jackson, for a declaratory judgment to compel the issuance of a liquor license to him.

It was learned that a state-wide liquor control bill has been prepared for introduction in the State Senate, and that it contains sections relating to Allegany County, but makes no change in the present system.

Man, Wife Accused Of Stealing Windows

Thomas Michael and his wife, Hazel, who lived on the east side of Dan's Mountain until yesterday morning, were being held in Allegany County Jail last night on charges of stealing the windows from the home they were leaving.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who made the arrest, said the couple, who were moving to West Virginia where Michael recently was hired as a miner, had packed their furniture on a moving truck, and decided to take the windows from the two room "shack" with them.

Michael placed the blame on his wife and denied that he knew the windows had been removed from the home they occupied while he was employed as a lumber worker on Dan's Mountain, police said.

The wife made no comment, police asserted and added that two blankets which belonged to the owner of the property were also found in the truck.

Trooper Rotruck said he received a complaint from Russell Guthrie, who is believed to be an employe of a saw mill that operates nearby, but the owner of the house could not be identified.

The couple will be given a hearing before Magistrate Roy Bowman, Cresaptown, on a petty larceny charge, Rotruck said.

Safety Measures Are Suggested For Vindex Mine

Improvements Are Noted By Inspector

Further precauticnary measures to supplement nearly a score of recent safety improvements in the Earl No. 2 mine, Vindex, Garrett County, are proposed in a federal coal mine inspection report released by the Bureau of Mines.

The mine, operated by the Garrett Coal Corporation, was inspected in November by Joe Dobashinski in accordance wth the Krug - Lewis agreement of May 29, 1946. The mine employs 91 men.

For safer blasting and an improved ventilating system, Dobashinski recommended incombustible material for stemming explosives, wooden tamping bars for charging holes, staggering of blasting cables at battery ends until ready to use, added safeguards for the fan, more air coursed through several crosscuts, construction of incombustible stoppings between intake and return airways, and erection of doors in pairs to form air locks.

Maintenance of at least two permissible flame safety lamps and preshift examinations for gas and other hazards, were also recommended. Dobashinski commended the satisfactory storage of individual explosives and detonator containers, and the daily examination for explosive gas by the mine foreman.

Recent beneficial changes noted were roof testing for underground workers, enforcement of the timbering plan, reasonably clean and well drained haulage roads, discontinuance of riding on top of loaded cars, guards for the vertical belts on the shop lathe and drill press, prohibition of underground smoking, and training in first aid for all employes.

Other recommendations called for the removal of some loose roof and over-hanging brows, unobstructed clearance along haulageways, shelter holes at main tract switches, underground telephone service, underground fire fighting equipment, wearing of protective footwear, by all employes' use of safety goggles for eye hazards and a guard for the horizontal belt on the fan.

PROGRAM IS SET FOR OSTA EVENT

Emilio and Teresita Osta will present a combination of Spanish music and dancing in a program to be held next Thursday night at Allegany High School auditorium under the sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce.

The program will begin with piano numbers by three Spanish composers—Granados, Albeniz and Lecuona, concluding with the latter's popular "Malaguena," played by Emilio Osta.

In traditional Spanish cotsume and mantilla, Teresita Osta will dance three numbers, including "Cadiz" in classical Spanish manner. Two Chopin etudes and a Chopin waltz will conclude the first part.

The "Gato Argentico" (Gomez-Carillo) will open the last half of the program with Miss Osta wearing Gaucho costume typical of the pampas. A Guerrero number will follow and then a Peruvian Inca dance.

Mr. Osta's next group includes "Sevilliana" (Manuel Inafent) and "Liebesfreud" (Kreisler-Rachmaninoff).

A brilliant final offering is a series of peasant dances, including some of the liveliest folk tunes of Spain, to be danced by Miss Osta to music of Chueca played by her brother.

Contract For Bridge Work Is Awarded

A contract for improving and strengthening the Wiley Ford bridge has been awarded to Poffenberger and Mause, Inc., Myersville, Md., by the State Roads Commission, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer. The contract price is $17,051.99.

Chaires said the firm probably will be notified to begin work in about ten days. Progress will depend on the availability of materials. The cost will be shared on an equal basis by Maryland and West Virginia.

An entire new floor will be placed on the span and it will be covered with black top material to assure a quiet crossing in contrast to the current clashing of planks. Certain parts of the bridge will be painted and strengthened.

Club President Will Take Grievance Against Police Before City Council

Belfoure Accused In Beer Law Case

Arrested last night on a charge of selling beer on Sunday without a license, when City Police raided the South End Veterans Club, Charles Belfoure, president, declared he will go before the Mayor and Council this morning to "find out why" other clubs do not receive the same treatment.

Belfoure, with Edward L. Belfoure, a member of the club, came to the offices of The Cumberland News last night following the former's arrest, and declared that City Police "are picking on us all the time." They said the club has been raided three times in the past year but that charges have not been placed previously.

Charles Belfoure declared that two members of the club were drinking beer when Officers R. M. Nuse and James Brown made their appearance, but said the beer was given to them and not sold.

Has No License

Belfoure said the club has no alcholic beverage license and that the beer was given to members at the club's monthly social held yesterday. He added that some 60 persons attended the social but that only about 15 were present when the place was raided.

"We feel the police are picking on us all the time," Belfoure said, adding, "We represent 100 per cent of the veterans in South Cumberland and we are a fully chartered club. Other clubs all over Cumberland operate on Sundays, selling beer and alcholic beverages, and are unmolested.

"If the police can't let us alone, we intend to see that other clubs get the same treatment. We'll take the matter up with the Mayor and Council Monday morning."

Belfoure said the club has been open about a year and that police have raided it three times in that period. Prior to last night, Belfoure said, no charges were placed against him or anyone else connected with the club, but he said, "We got a tongue lashing for an hour and a half from Chief (Assistant Chief John J. Treiber) Treiber.

"Chief Treiber told us to close on Sundays. If he gives orders for one club not to operate on Sunday, why doesn't he order other clubs not to operate on Sundays?" Belfoure asked.

Bond Of $300 Set

Following the raid, made, according to Chief Treiber, on a complaint, Belfoure was taken to Police Headquarters and released under bond of $300 for a hearing at 9 o'clock this morning in Police Court.

Three other men, each of whom police alleged had a bottle of beer in front of him at the time of the raid, were booked as witnesses and released under bond of $20 each. They are Harry Rinehart, 124 Humbird street; Carl Rinehart, 214 Oak street, and Wilbert Richards, 109 Humbird street.

Treiber added that it is impossible to see into the club from the street because of a glass block wall, and said this is a violation of the law.

Hearing On Wage Bill Scheduled Tomorrow

A hearing on the proposed Maryland Wage and Hour Act, Senate Bill 181, for opponents of the measure will be held in Annapolis tomorrow at 3 p. m. before the Senate Committee on Labor, which includes State Senator Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County, and State Senator Lawrence M. Fraley of Garrett County.

Copies of a synopsis of the bill, which provides for a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour for all employes, except for domestic services and farm operations, have been sent to the membership of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. H. W. Smith, secretary, urged members to study the synopsis and to express their views to Senator Kimble.

The measure also provides for the creation of wage boards and for wage investigations anywhere in the state when any 50 or more citizens request them.

Young Adult Program Planned At YMCA

Miss E. Jane Gilchrist and Miss Mary Pat Brett are in charge. A "young adult" program is expected to be held monthly, Sisson said, as part of the YMCA's expanded 1947 program.

Police End Marriage Plans Of Young Girl

A 16-year-old Clarksville girl, who "cried bitterly" when a state trooper interferred with her marriage plans was being held in City Jail last night waiting for her mother to take her back home and "away from the man she loves."

The girl, itentified as Betty Jane DuVall, "eloped with Ray Rumor, 18, Oldtown, Friday night" and planned to obtain a marriage license at the Allegany County Court House today, Trooper William Baker said.

Taken into custody last night at the home of Mrs. Luther Wilson, near Oldtown, where she stayed Saturday night, the trooper said she wept and clung to Rumor for a long time before leaving the house. "She said it would do no good to make her return, because 'I'm coming right back and marry him,'" the trooper stated.

Miss DuVall was taken to City Jail where she is being held as a runaway child, and her mother was notified, police said. The mother, who was not identified, is expected to arrive today for her daughter.

Rumor was not held, police said.

Public Schools Need $35,429,090 Lowndes Declares

Sum Would Be Spent In 2 Years, He Says

Maryland has to spend $35,429,090 on its school program in the next two years to remedy a "catastrophic situation," according to Tasker G. Lowndes, Cumberland, president of the State Board of Education.

In outlining the plans Lowndes said the state is from $129,999,000 to $150,000,000 behind in erecting new schools and repairing present structures.

The board said "the plight into which our children's education has been forced needs drastic and immediate attention," adding that there is a critical shortage of teachers, inadequate supervision and clerical assistance, and overcrowded conditions due to the lack of buildings and the instructor shortage.

Board Makes Proposal

The board proposed about $8,540,000 for teachers' pay increase, $3,234,000 for additional instructors, $4,622,000 for basic state financial aid to local school systems, and $2,926,000 for incentive grants to local school systems if the equalization counties increase school levies for building purposes.

In the statement, the board said that about 2,000 of some 9,000 teachers in the state resigned during the past school year because of low salaries. The "absolute minimum which can be considered for beginning is $2,200, with an annual increment of at least $100 yearly over a long period," the board said.

The teachers' salary question is not only a problem in Allegany County but in other Maryland units and in other states, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools declared.

Kopp reviewed the county history since 1939 in explaining what efforts the Board of Education and the teachers themselves have made to raise wage standards.

He said that up to 1939 the elementary scale ranged from $972 to $1,272 and the high school wages were from $1,200 to $1,500. Since the 1938-39 school year both groups of teachers have been on the same scale.

From the year ending in 1939 through 1943 the range for all teachers was from $1,200 to $1,800. It was raised to $1,500 to $2,100 and then in 1945 the scale was set at from $1,500 to $2,400 and this year it became $1,800 to $2,700.

For the year ending in 1939 the county paid $670,893.38 in salaries. The total rose to $911,696.98 for the year ending in 1945. Last year it was over a million and this year will be about $1,180,680.

Kopp pointed out that the scale as well as the total amount expended almost doubled in the period. He also said that the standard for Allegany county was higher than that for the state during the span and was better than for many other places.

On April 7, 1942 Edgar A. Dashiell, president of the Board of Education, requested the Allegany County Commissioners to provide a $150 increase for 493 teachers with the cost set at $73,950.

The letter also asked that wages of janitors be increased five per cent ($3,056.35) and that 10 per cent $9,245) additional be allowed for transportation.

The Board of Education letter said the "recommendations are made as an emergency measure in view of the already increased costs of living." The communication termed the proposal "reasonable." On April 17 there was a follow-up letter sent to the commissioners by Kopp. The requests for janitors and transportation were met, but the commissioners declined to provide funds for teacher increases.

Only Time Refused

Kopp said this was the only time in the period that a salary increase request was refused by the commissioners. Other increases, he said, were the result of cooperation among the Allegany County Teachers Association, the Board of Education and himself and had the concurrance of the commissioners. The salary jumps were authorized by legislative act.

Kopp declared if the proposed state, scale $2,200 to $3,800 is approved, Maryland will rank near the top as a state. The county proposal is from $2,400 to $3,900.

Local Woman Is Hurt In Accident At Mt. Savage

Husband, Children Uninjured In Crash

Mrs. Catherine E. Madden, 37, wife of Robert J. Madden, 707 Shriver avenue, district agent for the Fruit Growers Express Company, was reported resting comfortably last night in Allegany Hospital, where she was admitted shortly before 6 p. m. after suffering a fracture of the right leg and a possible fracture of the collarbone in an automobile accident in Mt. Savage.

Madden said that he was driving back to Cumberland about 4 p. m. with his wife and two children, Catherine, 12, and Anne, 4, after visiting friends in Mt. Savage. While descending steep Church Hill, Madden said, the car's brakes failed. To avoid a possibly fatal crash, he cut toward the left side of the road, went through an iron fence and brought the machine up against the front porch of the home of Mrs. Ida Lewis, approximately 100 yards from the top of the hill.

Mrs. Madden, according to her husband, was riding in the front seat with him, and fell to the road when the door on her side flew open. Madden and the children were uninjured. The car, a 1940 Chevrolet sedan, was badly damaged. Mrs. Madden was taken to the hospital in the ambulance of the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company. State Trooper William Baker is investigating the accident.

Allegany Seniors Will Give Mystery

"Ten Little Indians," a mystery, will be presented in Allegany High School auditorium Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7, by the senior class, under the direction of Harold C. Wickard.

A mystery comedy, "Ten Little Indians" was first produced at the Broadhurst Theater in New York.

The mystery refers to the cluster of statuettes on the mantelpiece of a weird country house on an island off the coast of Devon, and to the nursery rhyme embossed above them, telling how each little Indian meets his death.

Eight assorted guests, unknown to each other or to their host, are invited to the home and each, in turn, eventually is accused of murder. The plot thickens when the first of the Indian statuettes topples from the mantelpiece and one guest promptly chokes to death.

Hegar Woman Charged With Murdering Infant

Maysville Resident Held Without Bond

Miss Josephine Hegar, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hegar, Maysville, W. Va., was held without bond on a charge of murder Saturday following an inquest into the death of a new-born infant, found in the pit of an outside toilet at her home February 8.

A six man jury, headed by C. H. Park, Grant County coroner, Saturday returned a verdict that the un-named female infant died from exposure "after being dropped into the pit in the outside toilet," shortly after birth, Park said.

The woman, a graduate of Petersburg, W. Va., High School, was taken into custody February 8 after investigating officers, acting on a tip from nearby neighbors, found the body of the infant in the pit under a toilet seat.

Following the inquest, which began in Maysville February 8, and ended in Petersburg Saturday, Miss Hegar was arraigned before Park, who also serves as justice of the peace, and ordered held without bond on the murder count, after she waived a preliminary hearing and entered no plea.

The woman, accused of delivering the baby in the toilet and throwing it into the pit, is being held in Grant County Jail for action of the April term of grand jury which will convene April 8.

Park said no mention of the child's father was made during the inquest or the arraignment, and stated that neither of the woman's parents was present at the hearing. He added, however, that her father has visited her in jail, where she has been held since her arrest.

Authorities said the investigation into the case began after neighbors saw the woman enter the toilet in a pregnant condition and became suspicious after she walked back to her home "apparently normal."

No other charges were made in the case, authorities said. They explained that the woman had lived with her parents for several months before the infant was born. The toilet was pushed over and an inspection of the pit revealed the partially submerged body of the infant, authorities said.

Investigating officials said they believe Miss Hegar went to the toilet and delivered the child without aid, then threw it into the pit where it died from exposure.

The infant's body will be buried today in the Maysville cemetery.

The Hegar woman was arrested by Cpl. O. G. Webley and Trooper E. L. Roush, of the West Virginia State Police, but even after the hearing yesterday, authorities refused to confirm a report from a reliable source that she had signed a statement admitting the crime.

Miss Hegar was described as an intelligent woman who has lived in the Maysville section most of her life. Until a year ago she was employed in a Petersburg grocery store.

Attorney D. E. Cuppett, Jr., represented Miss Hegar at the hearing Saturday, but gave no indication of what plea the woman will make when taken into court.

The jury consisted of B. G. Roby, Jr., Lester Riggleman, E. H. Smith, John A. Berg, Frank Day and Ivan Teter.

Appointments will be made for children by their own doctors or through the clinics held at county schools, Dr. Franklin said. The recently purchased X-ray and fluoroscope will be used.

An electrocardiograph purchased by Mountain District, American Legion, will also be used. The League for Crippled Children voted $500 toward setting up the clinic.

Dr. Franklin said the clinic will be of great aid in combatting rheumatic fever, the leading fatal disease among school children. Dates for the clinic will be announced later.

Club Liquor License Refused

An application for a liquor license, applied for by the Italo-American Political League of Allegany County, Inc., 62 North Centre Street, was refused Saturday following a hearing in Circuit Court.

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson refused to grant the license on the grounds that the club, which claims "about 100" members, is not a bona fide organization.

Dora A. Owens, 731 Virginia avenue, operator of a restaurant applied for a Class D beer license.

A hearing was held on a contempt charge against James F. Bonner, a local taxicab driver, whose wife, Mrs. Mabel W. Bonner, filed suit for an absolute divorce last year. Estel C. The judges ruled that he must pay the fee by April 1.

William L. Wellings filed suit for a divorce from Mrs. Marie P. Wellings.

Liquor Case Decision May Come In March

A decision on the appeal testing the legality of the 1933 liquor control act in Allegany County is not expected until after March 15 since the Court of Appeals has taken a recess until early next month, county officials learned yesterday.

The court heard the appeal two weeks ago after Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, Hagerstown ruled last year that the act is constitutional. The test case was first filed by Eldred A. Cromwell, operator of the Elda Inn, near Cumberland, against Clerk of the Court Robert Jackson, for a declaratory judgment to compel the issuance of a liquor license to him.

It was learned that a state-wide liquor control bill has been prepared for introduction in the State Senate, and that it contains sections relating to Allegany County, but makes no change in the present system.

Man, Wife Accused Of Stealing Windows

Thomas Michael and his wife, Hazel, who lived on the east side of Dan's Mountain until yesterday morning, were being held in Allegany County Jail last night on charges of stealing the windows from the home they were leaving.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who made the arrest, said the couple, who were moving to West Virginia where Michael recently was hired as a miner, had packed their furniture on a moving truck, and decided to take the windows from the two room "shack" with them.

Michael placed the blame on his wife and denied that he knew the windows had been removed from the home they occupied while he was employed as a lumber worker on Dan's Mountain, police said.

The wife made no comment, police asserted and added that two blankets which belonged to the owner of the property were also found in the truck.

Trooper Rotruck said he received a complaint from Russell Guthrie, who is believed to be an employe of a saw mill that operates nearby, but the owner of the house could not be identified.

The couple will be given a hearing before Magistrate Roy Bowman, Cresaptown, on a petty larceny charge, Rotruck said.

Safety Measures Are Suggested For Vindex Mine

Improvements Are Noted By Inspector

Further precauticnary measures to supplement nearly a score of recent safety improvements in the Earl No. 2 mine, Vindex, Garrett County, are proposed in a federal coal mine inspection report released by the Bureau of Mines.

The mine, operated by the Garrett Coal Corporation, was inspected in November by Joe Dobashinski in accordance wth the Krug - Lewis agreement of May 29, 1946. The mine employs 91 men.

For safer blasting and an improved ventilating system, Dobashinski recommended incombustible material for stemming explosives, wooden tamping bars for charging holes, staggering of blasting cables at battery ends until ready to use, added safeguards for the fan, more air coursed through several crosscuts, construction of incombustible stoppings between intake and return airways, and erection of doors in pairs to form air locks.

Maintenance of at least two permissible flame safety lamps and preshift examinations for gas and other hazards, were also recommended. Dobashinski commended the satisfactory storage of individual explosives and detonator containers, and the daily examination for explosive gas by the mine foreman.

Recent beneficial changes noted were roof testing for underground workers, enforcement of the timbering plan, reasonably clean and well drained haulage roads, discontinuance of riding on top of loaded cars, guards for the vertical belts on the shop lathe and drill press, prohibition of underground smoking, and training in first aid for all employes.

Other recommendations called for the removal of some loose roof and over-hanging brows, unobstructed clearance along haulageways, shelter holes at main tract switches, underground telephone service, underground fire fighting equipment, wearing of protective footwear, by all employes' use of safety goggles for eye hazards and a guard for the horizontal belt on the fan.

Club President Will Take Grievance Against Police Before City Council

Belfoure Accused In Beer Law Case

Arrested last night on a charge of selling beer on Sunday without a license, when City Police raided the South End Veterans Club, Charles Belfoure, president, declared he will go before the Mayor and Council this morning to "find out why" other clubs do not receive the same treatment.

Belfoure, with Edward L. Belfoure, a member of the club, came to the offices of The Cumberland News last night following the former's arrest, and declared that City Police "are picking on us all the time." They said the club has been raided three times in the past year but that charges have not been placed previously.

Charles Belfoure declared that two members of the club were drinking beer when Officers R. M. Nuse and James Brown made their appearance, but said the beer was given to them and not sold.

Has No License

Belfoure said the club has no alcholic beverage license and that the beer was given to members at the club's monthly social held yesterday. He added that some 60 persons attended the social but that only about 15 were present when the place was raided.

"We feel the police are picking on us all the time," Belfoure said, adding, "We represent 100 per cent of the veterans in South Cumberland and we are a fully chartered club. Other clubs all over Cumberland operate on Sundays, selling beer and alcholic beverages, and are unmolested.

"If the police can't let us alone, we intend to see that other clubs get the same treatment. We'll take the matter up with the Mayor and Council Monday morning."

Belfoure said the club has been open about a year and that police have raided it three times in that period. Prior to last night, Belfoure said, no charges were placed against him or anyone else connected with the club, but he said, "We got a tongue lashing for an hour and a half from Chief (Assistant Chief John J. Treiber) Treiber.

"Chief Treiber told us to close on Sundays. If he gives orders for one club not to operate on Sunday, why doesn't he order other clubs not to operate on Sundays?" Belfoure asked.

Bond Of $300 Set

Following the raid, made, according to Chief Treiber, on a complaint, Belfoure was taken to Police Headquarters and released under bond of $300 for a hearing at 9 o'clock this morning in Police Court.

Three other men, each of whom police alleged had a bottle of beer in front of him at the time of the raid, were booked as witnesses and released under bond of $20 each. They are Harry Rinehart, 124 Humbird street; Carl Rinehart, 214 Oak street, and Wilbert Richards, 109 Humbird street.

Treiber added that it is impossible to see into the club from the street because of a glass block wall, and said this is a violation of the law.

Police End Marriage Plans Of Young Girl

A 16-year-old Clarksville girl, who "cried bitterly" when a state trooper interferred with her marriage plans was being held in City Jail last night waiting for her mother to take her back home and "away from the man she loves."

The girl, itentified as Betty Jane DuVall, "eloped with Ray Rumor, 18, Oldtown, Friday night" and planned to obtain a marriage license at the Allegany County Court House today, Trooper William Baker said.

Taken into custody last night at the home of Mrs. Luther Wilson, near Oldtown, where she stayed Saturday night, the trooper said she wept and clung to Rumor for a long time before leaving the house. Maryland has to spend $35,429,090 on its school program in the next two years to remedy a "catastrophic situation," according to Tasker G. Lowndes, Cumberland, president of the State Board of Education.

In outlining the plans Lowndes said the state is from $129,999,000 to $150,000,000 behind in erecting new schools and repairing present structures.

The board said "the plight into which our children's education has been forced needs drastic and immediate attention," adding that there is a critical shortage of teachers, inadequate supervision and clerical assistance, and overcrowded conditions due to the lack of buildings and the instructor shortage.

Board Makes Proposal

The board proposed about $8,540,000 for teachers' pay increase, $3,234,000 for additional instructors, $4,622,000 for basic state financial aid to local school systems, and $2,926,000 for incentive grants to local school systems if the equalization counties increase school levies for building purposes.

In the statement, the board said that about 2,000 of some 9,000 teachers in the state resigned during the past school year because of low salaries. The "absolute minimum which can be considered for beginning is $2,200, with an annual increment of at least $100 yearly over a long period," the board said.

The teachers' salary question is not only a problem in Allegany County but in other Maryland units and in other states, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools declared.

Kopp reviewed the county history since 1939 in explaining what efforts the Board of Education and the teachers themselves have made to raise wage standards.

He said that up to 1939 the elementary scale ranged from $972 to $1,272 and the high school wages were from $1,200 to $1,500. Since the 1938-39 school year both groups of teachers have been on the same scale.

From the year ending in 1939 through 1943 the range for all teachers was from $1,200 to $1,800. It was raised to $1,500 to $2,100 and then in 1945 the scale was set at from $1,500 to $2,400 and this year it became $1,800 to $2,700.

For the year ending in 1939 the county paid $670,893.38 in salaries. The total rose to $911,696.98 for the year ending in 1945. Last year it was over a million and this year will be about $1,180,680.

Kopp pointed out that the scale as well as the total amount expended almost doubled in the period. He also said that the standard for Allegany county was higher than that for the state during the span and was better than for many other places.

On April 7, 1942 Edgar A. Dashiell, president of the Board of Education, requested the Allegany County Commissioners to provide a $150 increase for 493 teachers with the cost set at $73,950.

The letter also asked that wages of janitors be increased five per cent ($3,056.35) and that 10 per cent $9,245) additional be allowed for transportation.

The Board of Education letter said the "recommendations are made as an emergency measure in view of the already increased costs of living." The communication termed the proposal "reasonable." On April 17 there was a follow-up letter sent to the commissioners by Kopp. The requests for janitors and transportation were met, but the commissioners declined to provide funds for teacher increases.

Only Time Refused

Kopp said this was the only time in the period that a salary increase request was refused by the commissioners. Other increases, he said, were the result of cooperation among the Allegany County Teachers Association, the Board of Education and himself and had the concurrance of the commissioners. The salary jumps were authorized by legislative act.

Kopp declared if the proposed state, scale $2,200 to $3,800 is approved, Maryland will rank near the top as a state. The county proposal is from $2,400 to $3,900.
